Can any man afford to risk the chances of living twenty-six years to make a thousand dollars for his family, when he can secure the same benefit at once by taking a life insurance for this amount?

If he feels that he cannot afford to be without insurance on his house, which may never burn, can he afford to be without insurance on his life, which is sure to end sooner or later?

THE SUN FOR 1881.

Everybody reads THE SUN. In the editions of this newspaper throughout the year to come everybody will find:

I. All the world's news, so presented that the reader will get the greatest amount of information with the least possible expenditure of time and eyesight. THE SUN long ago discovered the golden mean between redundant fulness and unsatisfactory brevity.

II. Much of that sort of news which depends less upon its recognized importance than upon its interest to a numerous class. From morning THE SUN prints a continued story of the lives of real men and women, and of their deeds, plans, loves, hates and ambitions, more full of incident and more interesting than any romance that was ever devised.

III. Good writing in every column, and freshness, originality, accuracy, and decorum in the treatment of every subject.

IV. Honest comment. THE SUN's habit is to speak out fearless about men and things.

V. Equal justice to all parties, to each political party, and equal readiness to commend what is praiseworthy or to rebuke what is blamable in Democrats or Republicans.

VI. Absolute independence of partisan organizations, but unwavering loyalty to true Democratic principles. THE SUN believes that the Government which the Constitution gives us is a good one to keep. Its notion of duty is to resist to its utmost power the efforts of any political party or set up another form of government in place of that which exists. The year 1881 and the year immediately following will probably decide this supremely important contest. The SUN believes that the victory will be with the people as against the Rings for monopoly, the Rings for plunder, and the Rings for imperial power.

Our terms are as follows:

For the Daily SUN, a four-page sheet of twenty-eight columns, the price by mail, post paid, is 55 cents a month, or $6.50 a year; or, including the Sunday paper, an eight-page sheet of fifty-six columns, the price is 65 cents a month, or $7.70 a year, postage paid.

The Sunday edition of The SUN is also furnished separately at $1.20 a year, postage paid.

The price of the Weekly SUN, eight pages, fifty-six columns, is $1 a year, postage paid. For clubs of ten sending $10 we will send an extra copy free. Address I. W. ENGLAND,
Publisher of THE SUN, New York City.

FELLOWS' Compound SYRUP OF HYPO-PHOS-PHITES

WASTING DISEASES

Loss of Nervous Power,

Are positively cured by FELLOWS' COMPOUND SYRUP OF HYPOPHOSPHITES.

As phosphorus enters so largely into the animal economy, it follows per analogie that the beer which with which to associate the other vitalizing ingredients of healthy Blood, Nerve and Muscle. In Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites are combined all the substances found necessary to insure robust health, and whereas it was invented with a view to simply every deficiency, it certainly has performed some wonderful cures.

MANCHESTER, N. H., June 18, 1880.

MR. JAMES I. FELLOWS,

Dear Sir: I wish to acknowledge the great benefit I have received from the use of "Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites." I have been an invalid for nearly two years, with a bronchial affection that had become chronic. In the fall of 1878 I had a physician eighty days in succession, besides the counsel of several others. They gave me but little encouragement. Some of them none. Last July I was advised to give your remedy a trial. I did so, and in less than one week there was a marked improvement for the better. I have continued its use from that time until the present, improving all the time, and I can truthfully say no more than a hundred per cent. better than when I commenced its use. I have increased in weight about fifteen pounds, and my cough, which was fearful, has nearly disappeared. I believe had it not been for your Syrup, I should not this have been beyond the cares of life. Very truly yours,

ALBERT STORY.

Daily Chronicle.

A Story of a Queen.

In Naples, the papers tell a very pretty story of the Queen of Italy. It appears that as she was driving to the royal wood of Licalo; the coachman mistook the road, and one of the gentlemen asked a countryman the way. The man, seeing the fine carriage and horses, and the servants' livery, and all the gay company, thought he was being fooled. "As if you did not know!" he said, with a big grin. The Queen laughed, and assured him they were lost. Then only did the countryman condescend to point out the way, after which he walked off, as if fearing to be laughed at again.

"Give him twenty francs for his trouble," said the queen to one of her escort, who, going after the countryman, said, "Here, my man, is a little present from the Queen of Italy, who thanks you."

"The queen!" cried the countryman, returning to the carriage. "Forgive me that I did not know thee. But I had never seen thee before. Thou art as beautiful as a May rose. God bless thee." And the carriage drove off.

Now the countryman, who had once seen the queen, wanted to see her pretty face again, and the following day presented himself at the palace.

"I know her, you know," he added mysteriously. "I spoke to her yesterday, and I want to speak to her again."

Thinking he had to do with a madman, the porter was about to have the poor fellow arrested, when the very gentleman who had given him the twenty francs appeared, and, recognizing the man, told him to wait, informing the queen of his presence. "Bring him here, by all means," was her answer.

When the man was, for the second time, before the queen, he said: "Yes, 'tis thou! I thought I had seen a fairy. Thou art just an angel. I did not tell thee yesterday that I had two little ones without a mother. Wilt thou be their mother?"

"That I will," said the queen.

"Then there's the twenty francs thou gavest me yesterday. I thank thee, but I want no money." And he went away, crying and smiling like a child.

The queen has adopted the two little ones, and they are in an institution under her special patronage.—Methodist Recorder.

—At least one woman in Boston has solved the problem of taking care of herself by doing domestic labor. She bought a few barrels of flour and some cakes of compressed yeast, put a sign of "Bread and Tea Biscuit" in her front window, baked a few more loaves of bread than her family needed, and waited. The first day brought two customers, the second a few more, and now she has to take an hour or two each evening to mix bread, and another hour in the morning to bake it, and in twenty or thirty families living near her no bread-baking is done. She is thinking of assuming the charge of their cake-baking, also, but is waiting until quite sure that it wise to undertake that task rather than to continue baking bread and reserving plenty of time for the work of her own household.—Boston Transcript.

What Mr. Pitts Might have Saved Himself.

Mr. Henry Pitts, of Kingston, N. Y., suffered from the presence of stone in the bladder for several years. Dr. Kennedy, of Rondout, N. Y., removed the foreign body by knife. Had Mr. Pitts and others similarly afflicted, used Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" in the earlier stages of the disease, the medicine would have prevented the formation of the calculus or stone, rendering a dangerous surgical operation unnecessary. Dr. Kennedy gave "Favorite Remedy" to prevent the return of the disease, and Mr. Pitts remains in perfect health to this day.

J. R. Cairns, Sheriff of Lanawee Co., Mich., says:—I have worn an "Only Lung Pad" for Bronchial difficulties, and have not been troubled with a cough nights since wearing it.—See Adv.

—Irritable men think the buttons on the neck bands of their shirts should be properly called choler buttons.

—The woman who trims her own bonnet can always be picked out of the crowd by other women; now if the men only had this peculiar gift of selection.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 17, 1880.

Congress.

The House on the 15th inst. passed a bill granting to Julia Gardner Tyler, widow of President John Tyler, a pension of $100 a month.

The democratic members of Congress have informally agreed that no action shall be taken on the proposition to place General Grant on the retired list of the army.

The fortications appropriation bill was passed.

News and Notes.

The steamer Italia landed 747 Italian emigrants in New York on the 14th inst. All of them are from Naples.

Early Sunday morning, the 12th inst., four prisoners confined in the jail at Lawrenceville, Va., awaiting trial for incendiarism and other crimes, escaped by setting fire to the building, which was consumed.

Thirteen citizens of Exeter, Mo., and vicinity, have been arrested by a United States marshal for robbing trains on the St. Louis & San Francisco railroad, and taken to Carthage, where they will undergo examination.

John Mitchell, for killing McLean at Bridgeton, Md., has had his sentence commuted to imprisonment for life. Robert Smith, convicted of killing John Huey at Lunenburg, Md., will be hanged on the 20th of January.

The population of Oregon, according to the schedules returned to the census office, is as follows: Males 103,388, females 71,379; total 174,767. There are 144,327 native, and 30,440 foreign born; 163,687 white, and 11,680 colored.

The mines of the United States produced during the year about $80,000,000 of gold and $271,500,000 of silver. Of the total production about ninety-five per cent of gold and sixty per cent of silver found their way to the mints and assay offices.

Fred E. Whipple of Fitchburg, Mass., a young man, attempted suicide by shooting in a store on the evening of the 14th inst. The ball struck a rib near the heart, and glanced, making only a slight wound. Cause, despondency.

At Rawlins, Wyoming territory, Dec. 15th, George Parrott, alias Big Nosed George, was sentenced to be hanged next April. George is the last but one of the worse band of road agents and robbers that [illegible] act of the gang was an attempt to turn a Union Pacific railroad passenger train into a chasm 150 feet deep at Big Springs, in 1878. Two deputy sheriffs pursued the gang, and were killed. George confessed this crime desiring to be hanged in expiation.

Information has been received at the war department that the Southern Pacific railroad, via Eagle Pass, only lacked twenty miles of being completed on the 1st of this month. It is expected that cars will run through from the Pacific ocean to the Gulf of Mexico during the coming Christmas holidays.

The new bridge now being built at Haverhill by the Boston & Maine railroad company, and over which the citizens of that place and Lawrence are greatly troubled because the corporation are unwilling to put in a draw, is the heaviest and strongest iron railroad bridge in New England. The masonry of the new structure will be completed by the 25th inst., and the iron work will be on the ground as soon as the foundations are ready to receive it. The river at this point is practically at the head of navigation for sailing vessels, and the light draft steam craft will have ample room to pass beneath the new bridge, which is considerably higher than the old one, clearing thirty-five feet above the water.

Mrs. Henry Thompson, a middle aged colored woman, living at Providence, R. I., was burned to death on the 15th inst. by falling an a red-hot stove. The flames set the dwelling on fire, and damaged the building slightly.

At Albany, N. Y., Dec. 16th, Charles A. Burt took Sarah Travers, his mistress, to his home, but his wife refused to admit them. Burt broke down the door, and going to the kitchen with the Travers woman made her kneel on the floor, shot her dead, and then killed himself.

Lewis B. Follette, of Boston, Mass., is under arrest on a charge of complicity in causing the death of Miss Rebecca T. Long, who died recently from the effects of a criminal operation.

Fish Commissioner Stillwell of Maine is making arrangements to establish a fish-hatching house in Bangor. Mr. Stillwell will forward 100,000 salmon eggs to Moosehead lake for the waters of the Kennebec; 100,000 to Norway for Sebago lake, and 100,000 to the Rangeley lakes for the Androscoggin river.

Three male negroes were sold at public auction, at Liberty, Bedford county, Va., on the 13th inst., under an old vagrant law, by order of the magistrate, absolute ownership ceasing at the expiration of three months. There was no excitement over the strange sale, and few bidders. They were knocked down for four dollars each, charity for their destitute condition being the principal motive of the bidders.

Sitting Bull and his followers have sent a message to the military offering to surrender their arms if they may be allowed to remain in their hunting grounds. Gen. Read telegraphs: "I believe permission to remain here would insure their speedy surrender, and if not granted that they will remain without surrendering, hunt buffalo and get what they can from the Yanktonnais this winter, and be prepared for anything but surrender in the spring." In spite of the presentation of these facts, the United States officials refuse to allow the Indians to remain, and order them to move on.

New Hampshire Items.

The democratic state committee met at Concord on the 15th inst., and elected Arthur L. Meserve of Bartlett chairman, in place of George F. Putman, resigned.

In the suit of George S. Cram of Boston vs. the Peterboro' railroad company, to recompense him for extra labor and material in constructing the road bed, a compromise was effected at Nashua, on the 15th inst., by which the defendants paid $18,500. The case was heard some time ago by Judge Smith and Ex Gov. Weston, referees, who doomed the road something more than $20,000. The compromise does away with a trial by jury.

"The Homes of the Poets."

Elizabeth Stuart Phelps has a summer home at Gloucester, in a two-story cottage. Nora Perry lives in a modest house in Providence. Mrs. A. D. T. Whitney's home is in Milton, in sight of the Blue hills. J. T. Trowbridge lives in Arlington, near the lake. Harriet Prescott Spofford lives upon an island, where the chain bridge is, near Newburyport. The summer homes of two of our well-known poets are thus described:

MRS. CELIA THAXTER.

The cottage at Appledore island is perfectly plain. No bay-windows, balconies, or other pretty appendages; no fanciful gables, or Gothic points; no newness of paint; no vines or trees. Only a plain, two-storied house, with dormer-windowed attic. A homely house built on the rock, and perched in severe relief against the sky. At the front of the cottage is a small yard, enclosed by a picket fence. It is full of flowers. I do not mean prim and decorous beds, and flowers staying where they are put, within their well-clipped borders. But a yard full of flowers—full to the fence-top and covering every inch of ground with their glad luxuriance. Not a weed anywhere—quite crowded out by these burning, glowing, starry, glabsome creatures. Somehow, by [illegible] soil and sky [illegible] here have a freedom of growth and brilliancy of hue not elsewhere found—an intense loveliness!

THOMAS BAILEY ALDRICH.

Mr. Aldrich lives at Ponkapog, a part of the town of Canton, in Massachusetts. Although a very charming place, Ponkapog was never noted for its enterprise, and the location of a railroad some two or three miles distant has left it very much in the condition of Bailey's Four Corners, described by Mr. Aldrich in his story of "Miss Mehetable's Son." The house is an old-fashioned, two-story house, built at the beginning of the present century, and is partially screened from the road by cherry trees and by a hedge of arbor vitæ, presided over by two ancient and shiftless looking buttonwoods. Back of the house, the grounds fall away gently to a stream and an old mill-pond, on which stands a deserted and decaying mill, which was utilized during the late war for the weaving of soldiers' cardigans. Along the margin of the stream, which after wandering all round the grounds finds its way out on the Neponset meadows, and so to the ocean, great quantities of water-cresses, ferns and curious wild flowers grow, the early cowslip and the pitcher plant among them.

—Bangs are more fashionable; since the cold weather it is fashionable to bang the door.

Dec. 17, 1:30 A. M.

Probabilities for New England:—

Slightly cooler partly cloudy weather, winds generally from north to west, rising barometer, and in northern portion slight snow.

The Thermometer at the CHRONICLE Office, at 4:00 o'clock this morning, registerd 23 degrees above zero.

Sky clear.

The NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE, containing the news of the week and a report of the trial of the libel suit in the U. S. Court against the schooner Mary S. Hontvet, is for sale at Moses Brothers' newspaper store on Congress street, and at the CHRONICLE counting room; price five cents.

AROUND HOME.

Joseph B. Stearns, Esq., of telegraphic celebrity, is expected to return to this city from Europe within a few days.

The American Union Telegraph company has been sued for $500 damages for trespassing on the premises of Mrs. Abigail A. Rand at Greenland, and erecting poles and wires thereon.

David Dudley of Northwood, a veteran of the war of 1812, when he served in a company stationed at Fort Constitution, Newcastle, died on Sunday, the 12th inst., at the age of eighty-eight years. He was a native of Alton.

A highly respectable married couple of this city, not yet arrived at old age, are the proprietors of ten cats, all of which wear nice collars bearing suitable inscriptions. The cats are fed every morning with nice beefsteak, well cooked.

The Strafford County Medical society held its annual meeting at Dover on the 15th inst., and chose John R. Ham of Dover president, Charles A. Fairbanks of Dover secretary, and Charles A. Tufts of Dover treasurer. Dr. E. Q. Adams of Kittery Point read a very able paper on the "Principles of medicine," and Dr. John W. Parsons of this city one on "Puerperal convulsions."

Mr. Albert J. Badger has been engaged in the tin-ware and house-furnishing business on Daniel street in this city for the long term of fifty years, and is still as punctual and capable as ever. Notwithstanding he has had the misfortune to be burned out three times, fire has not driven him from the street where he began a business career which has been eminently successful, and which bids fair to be prosperously continued for many years to come.

The Taunton Gazette of Dec. 6th speaks as follows of the performance of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" by the company which will present it at Music hall on Tuesday evening next: "Uncle Tom's Cabin, as rendered by the Leach & Ellis Ideal company Saturday afternoon and evening to good houses, gave better satisfaction than any company which has visited us for a long time. The characters were excellently represented, notably those of Topsy, little Eva, Uncle Tom, St. Clair, and Miss Ophelia. It was pleasing for once to see actors who not only understand their part, but enter into the spirit of it and play it for all it is worth. This company can be recommended." Tickets twenty-five cents each, to all parts of the house.

Henry B. Lovering, mayor-elect of Lynn, Mass., is a native of this city, but has lived in Lynn for many years. When the war broke out he enlisted in the eighth Massachusetts regiment, and served through the nine months campaign. After remaining at home a short time he re-enlisted in the third Massachusetts cavalry, then in the department of the Gulf. He was in the army of the Shenandoah under General Phil Sheridan; and in the fight at Opequam creek, where every third man in Mr. Lovering's regiment was killed or wounded, he came out of the fight with four bullet wounds in his left leg, which was shattered, and seven bullet-holes through different articles of his clothing. His leg was amputated, and he obtained his discharge from the service. After the war he returned to Lynn.

PRESENTS FOR THE HOLIDAYS.

Whether the custom of giving Christmas gifts and New Year's presents is of Christian origin, or a relic of the Roman Saturnalia, or goes further back to the Hindu festival of the Twelve Days—the Dewafli—may be a matter of dispute, but the thing itself is a good thing. And since the first ripple of the artistic wave in this country the presents have been becoming more and more tasteful, until this year the stores seem for the time being to be devoted to the sale of seasonable gifts or like means of enjoyment of the holidays. Our readers can be informed as to where they can find everything beautiful, economical or substantial by consulting our advertising columns, and the wise buyer makes selections early.

Mr. John H. Hutchinson, at his store on Market square, has an elegant stock of watches, jewelry and articles in his line, from high cost diamonds to the cheapest article of use or ornament; he is always ready to show his goods, and at this season his assortment certainly deserves attention. Near by is the store of A. P Wendell & Co., with bird cages, skates, holly saws and many articles of substantial use, all the more attractive from the improved light and space since the enlargement of the store.

Ayers & Locke have added to their stock a large line of useful and ornamental goods suitable for seasonable presents, —handkerchiefs at every scale of prices, and countless articles kept in a leading dry-goods store. Moses, at his hat and fur store, No. 13 Congress street, shows a good assortment and has a lively trade. Foye, at No. 23 Market street, makes a specialty of hosiery and underwear. He is a polite and gentlemanly dealer, and knows how to buy his goods with a view to his customers' wants, and is never afraid to announce his wares in the newspapers.

W. G. Myers, in Congress block, maintains the reputation of the "Congress Block book-store" as a resort of buyers for holiday presents. His display is attractive and his variety of goods extensive.

To properly enjoy Christmas, the creature comforts must be seasonably secured, Gilson, at No. 27 Market street, has a good stock of fruits, fine groceries, and the rarity at this season of fresh lobsters.

Butler & Laighton, at the old stand No. 1 Market square, make a Christmas announcement of goodies extensive in variety and excellent in quality, with dainties foreign and domestic tempting to lovers of good edibles.

A Christmas dinner can be enjoyed seasonably by calling on Cyrus L. Brown, at No. 41 Market street. He has an experienced meat-cutter who serves customers a properly-cut piece of meat, while his poultry and game, canned goods and general assortment of groceries is supplied at most reasonable rates.

Gerrish, on Market square, can send his customers a good brand of champagne or claret, or supply any article ordinarily found in a leading grocery establishment, from a box of sardines up.

John S. Tilton has a good assortment of travelling bags, and if Vennor's cold term comes one of Tilton's fur robes will be appreciated by any who ride in our winter weather.

Charles E. Laighton & Son are always ready with a splendid assortment of groceries and articles so numerous that they could hardly be enumerated if all our columns were used for the purpose. The new store completed the past season is the most commodious place of the kind in the state. The ladies say that here is found neatness, space and a free showing of goods of the best quality, and with a fine location, good light and abundant room the store is attractive to housekeepers. Since the improvement this has become a favorite place for ladies shopping for housekeeping articles.

One of the veteran dealers in furnishing goods for gentlemen's wear is our old patron and friend, Wm. P. Walker, for so many years at No. 8 Market square. When the city charter was accepted, Mr. Walker hung out a sign "City Clothing Store," and there he has since been, always giving his customers the full value of their money, either in articles sold or made to order.

Ham & Co., at No. 14 Congress street, have a good assortment of cloths and suitings adapted to every customer's taste.

One of our most reliable business firms is that of Charles E. Myers & Co., at No. 3 Bow street. They have a large trade with customers from York county, as well as a constant run of city business. The reputation of this firm for fair dealing is proverbial, and their customers appreciate their garments, in contrast with much that is offered in the market of an unreliable character as to color, make and durability.

D. F. Borthwick, No. 7 Market street, has a line of linen damasks, towels and napkins for the Christmas trade. Some of his goods are marked down in price, and he is astonishing many new customers with the low prices at which some articles are afforded, though regular customers knew of it before.

Possibly there may be some worthy person to whom a gift of a ton of coal at this season would not be amiss. J. Albert Walker never allows a man to sit upon the cart when a load is weighed, and will supply his customers even if it comes out of his "own pocket." C. E. Walker & Co., at Pier wharf, keep the indispensable article of coal in all varieties, and supply wood sawed and split, as does the North end dealer.

Then there is Hussey, in Franklin block, a practical shoe builder, with a store convenient for those coming down town, and a stock fresh and well made. He does repairing under his immediate supervision, and is building up a large trade since his removal to his new quarters.

If a man must smoke after his Christmas dinner, by all means let him light a fragrant weed, and obtain such at Butler & Laighton's. If inclined to present his friend or family with an engraving, and have it suitably and tastefully framed, let him go to Montgomery's, under the CHRONICLE & GAZETTE office, where the assortment of musical instruments and engravings will satisfy his taste in sight and sound.

In short, we have dealers in dry goods, groceries, provisions, books, jewelry, clothing, fancy articles, furnishing goods, etc., who are all ready to sell goods just as cheaply as they can be purchased anywhere.

Christmas is a season which calls for a careful study in this duty of gift making. Every one is now expected either to give or receive a present.

One of the neat little presents which becomes a weekly reminder can be made by calling at the CHRONICLE counting room and paying a year's subscription for the GAZETTE for a friend, near or at a distance, or a person can treat himself to such a present for a mere trifle. We have blank bills ready to be filled out. Patrons are kindly requested not to crowd on the stairs. Each will be served in turn, and no one shall be neglected. The GAZETTE is a most readable paper. We could fill much space in the description of its many good features. It has no stale news, but is fresh, and our subscribers insist it is well worth the money. We publish it only for fun, and thus offer it at $1.50 per year in advance—not quite the cost of paper, etc., but we want to be liberal and make our readers happy. The GAZETTE advertises in the CHRONICLE, and we are bound to say a good word if we can for all of our patrons, and the GAZETTE is among the most reliable of these.

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, regular meeting, Thursday eve'ng, Dec. 16th:

Petition from the Portsmouth Shoe Co. for removal of obstruction from Macdonough street was referred to committee on streets, to report.

An execution against the city for $112 in favor of Patrick Quill was ordered paid.

Affidavits of Miriam Odion and John J. Odion relative to injury sustained by Mrs. Odion by a fall on Market street, were accepted and laid upon the table.

The committee on finance recommended the exemption from taxation of Thomas Kennedy & Son's manufactory for a term of ten years. Accepted and adopted.

The committee having the matter in charge reported recommending that the city purchase 3000 feet of hose. Report accepted, and the same committee authorized to make the purchase of such hose as is deemed the best.

Dr. Isaac I. Hayes, the celebrated Arctic explorer, gives his opinion that the Jeannette is all right, and will be heard from by next October.

There were twenty-one ocean steamers in Boston harbor on the 15th inst., a larger number than were ever there before at one time. Not one of them flew the American flag.

In court at Danville, Va., Dec. 15th, James T. Whitfield (colored,) convicted of burglary, was sentenced to the penitentiary, for eighteen years. After committing the burglary the convict set fire to the house, in which several children were sleeping, and they were in danger of being burned to death.

COUGHS.—"Brown's Bronchial Troches" are used with advantage to alleviate Coughs, Sore Throat, Hoarseness and Bronchial Affections. For thirty years these Troches have been in use, with annually increasing favor. They are not new and untried, but, having been tested by wide and constant use for nearly an entire generation, they have attained well-merited rank among the few staple remedies of the age.

THE THROAT.—"Brown's Bronchial Troches" act directly on the organs of the voice. They have an extraordinary effect in all disorders of the Throat and Larynx, restoring a healthy tone when relaxed, either from cold or over-exertion of the voice, and produce a clear and distinct enunciation. Speakers and Singers find the Troches useful.

A COUGH, COLD, CATARRH OR SORE THROAT requires immediate attention, as neglect often times results in some incurable Lung Disease. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" will almost invariably give relief. Imitations are offered for sale, many of which are injurious. The genuine "Brown's Bronchial Troches" are sold only in boxes. Tu,th&f,&c

Dr. Kennedy

Would make it understood that, while he is engaged in the introduction of his medicine (Favorite Remedy), he still continues the practice of his profession, but confines himself exclusively to the Office practice. He treats all diseases of a chronic character, and performs all the minor and capital operations of surgery.

Parties living at a distance (except in surgical cases), by sending a statement of the case, can be treated at home. Address DR. D. KENNEDY,

Rondout, N. Y.

—Whenever actors or actresses get a holiday, they go to see some other actor at some other theatre. "You remind me," Fawcett, the stage manager of Covent Garden, used to say, "of two prisoners, one in the Fleet, the other in the King's Bench, who always went to see each other when they got a day's liberty."

THOS. JAMES, Darlington, England, says:—The "Only Lung Pad" is being thoroughly tried here. One lady has already received great benefit, who has suffered for years from bronchitis and asthma, and congestion of right lung.—See Adv.

—A wedding is to take place in San Francisco next month, which is already causing a sensation. There are to be ten bridesmaids, each of whom will carry a lamp, (in imitation of an ancient Oriental custom), and go in a body to meet the groom and conduct him to the bride, who, it is arranged, will stand, awaiting his coming, under a canopy of silk borne by four friends. The bride's dress will be decorated with plaques of satin, on which wreaths of orange blossoms will be painted by the fair fingers of the bride herself.

The best blood remedy in the world is D. R. V. G. It will clear Ladies' complexion of pimples, moth patches and sallowness. Try it. Guaranteed by your own druggists.

—A young man fond of a joke recently stopped the stage near Brackett, Texas, at the point of a pistol, and made all hands get out. He then informed them that they could keep their money, but would give them a treat of the best old rye, which was given with a will.

All the nourishment of malt liquors, without their objections, found in Malt Bitters.

Books, Magazines, Etc.

"My Winter on the Nile," by Charles Dudley Warner, author of "In the Levant" and other works. New edition, revised; 496 pp., with a copious index. Boston; Houghton, Mifflin & Co.

This work first appeared in 1876, issued only by subscription, and now for the first time comes to the public by ordinary process of trade. It has been carefully revised, and although the world has moved since the first appearance of this book, certain events are noted in the prefatory note, so that the book may be read, as the lawyers say, nunc pro tunc. Those who have enjoyed the earlier books of Mr. Warner, and all who have read his works have of course abundantly enjoyed them, will not fail to appreciate a description of the journeys herein described in Mr. Warner's genial and happy style. Take for example the camel experience. Mr. Warner tells us that "mounting the camel is not difficult, but it has some sweet surprises for the novice. The camel lies upon the ground with all his legs shut up under him like a jacknife. You seat yourself in the board saddle, and cross your legs in front of the pommel. The camel rises his hind quarters suddenly, and throws you upon his neck; and, before you recover from that, he straightens up his knees and gives you a jerk over his tail; and, while you are not at all certain what has happened, he begins to move off with that dislocated walk which sets you into a see-saw motion, a waving backward and forwards in the capacious saddle. Not having a hinged back fit for this movement, you lash the beast with your koorbash to make him change his gait. He is not loth to do it, and starts into a high trot which sends you a foot into the air at every step, bobs you from side to side, drives your backbone into your brain and makes castinets of your teeth. Capital exercise. When you have enough of it you pull up, and humbly enquire what is the heathen mode of riding a dromedary." This is described, satisfactorily. Mr. Warner's winter is made "glorious summer" as we journey through the regions of the Orient, which so many can enjoy by the means of the descriptive powers and pleasant narrations of the gifted writer from the land of steady habits. Price $2.00. For sale by Myers.

Gen. Blanco telegraphs from Havana to Madrid that he has seized, and sent to Spain in a gunboat, several colored men, ringleaders and promoters of a new attempt to foment agitation and socialist intrigues among the blacks and colored population in districts of Cuba close to the territory which was the scene of the last insurrection.

Commander Henry Glass, commanding the United States ship Jamestown, at Sitka, Alaska, reports, under date of Nov. 15th, that the Indians in every part of the territory are quiet, and have given no trouble of any kind. The prospectors have all returned, having penetrated the country for a distance of 250 miles from Chilcat river, and report a fine open country, with a good climate. No large quantities of gold were discovered.

The boiler in Fabele's Sons' soap and candle factory at Louisville, Ky., exploded Dec. 14th, killing Hempel, a carpenter, fatally injuring Conrad Sparkel and Lizzie Ott, and severely injuring Peter Bolenbecke. The explosion levelled the centre of the building, a two story brick block. The insurance on the stock and building, each of which were nearly destroyed, is $40,000; the machinery, valued at as much more, was uninsured.

Amputation of the Leg.

The Old Family Physician at Fault—Dr. David Kennedy the Successful Surgeon.

Money is the universal necessity, and none but a cynic or a fool will affect to despise it. Mr. Abram Elsworth, of Port Ewen, Ulster county, N. Y., had realized this truth. His disease involved the whole of his thigh-bone, and the suffering man took a forward, not without apparent reason, to death as his only deliverer. His family physician refused to amputate the limb—saying that the operation would kill the patient on the spot. Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y., who was consulted, held a different opinion and amputa ed the limb. The Doctor then administered freely his great Blood-Specific "Favorite Remedy" to fortify tone and a remedy to the system, prevent the return of the disease, and Mr. Elsworth remains to this day in the bloom of health. This gentleman's disease was the offspring of foul blood, and Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" purified the blood and restored to him the power once more to enjoy his life. Are you suffering from any disease traceable to the same cause? Try "Favorite Remedy." Your druggist has it. One dollar a bottle. Bear in mind the proprietor's name and address: Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y.

THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ESTABLISHED 1851.

In the late Presidential contest The Times has fairly vindicated, both in the department of news gathering and the that of journalistic influence, its recognized supremacy among the Republican newspapers of the country. The principles which have guided its political course in the past will continue to direct it in the future.

The splendid success of the Republican Party has been due to faithful adherence to those principles they appealed to the patriotism and enlightened interest of the best portion of the American people; their just and judicious application by the Republican Administration just elected will secure to the party a future as brilliant and useful as its past has been. To this high aim The Times will labor to contribute by conscientious discussion of current events, and by fair and fearless expression of what its conductors believe to be the best judgment of the party, unwarped by personal ambitions or narrow interests.

Among the general features of the policy of The Times will be: The Complete Establishment of a Sound Financial System; The Security of the Equal Rights Accorded by the Constitution; The Improvement of the Public Service; The Emancipation, by Seasonable Fiscal Reform, of Honest Labor; Strict Economy in all Public Expenditure, Opposition to Subsidies and Jobbery in Every Form; Definite Responsibility, Firmly Enforced, in Public Servants.

The Times will, as in the past, be distinguished as an enterprising, accurate, and carefully edited newspaper. The acknowledged excellence and fullness of its correspondence, by mail and telegraph, from all parts of the world, will be adequately maintained, and its facilities for collecting domestic and foreign news will be expanded to meet the increasing demand of our time.

In the sphere of literary and artistic criticism, of scientific, social, and general discussion, The Times will address itself, as heretofore, to the appreciation of the educated and intelligent classes of the American people.

It will be lively without being sensational, aggressive without being coarse; at all times it will strive to be fearless and independent in the championship of the right.

No theories subversive of the principles on which the secredness of family ties and the existence of society alike repose will be promulgated in its columns.

The Times rejects all advertisements of lotteries, of quacks and medical impostors, and of other agencies by which the insidious poison of vice is disseminated throughout society. It will be in the future, as in the past, a newspaper especially adapted for family reading.

The Semi-Weekly Times is specially fitted to meet the requirements of those who desire ample details of current news and fuller installments of current discussion than are furnished in the weekly issue. The Semi-Weekly has large circulation abroad and among the professional and mercantile classes, outside of the large cities, at home. At the reduced club rates now offered for this edition its popularity ought to be greatly increased.

The Weekly Times, containing selected editorials on topics of national and general interest from the columns of the daily issue, as well as a concise summary of political, social, and foreign news, besides other features which recommend it to all classes of readers, is a paper admirably fitted to circulate in every portion of the United States. Its conductors will spare no effort, not only to maintain its well earned supremacy, but to make its popularity still more decided.

ILLUSTRATION.—At age 25 an annual premium of $16.91 will secure a policy for $1000, payable at death. By the same annual outlay and the ordinary methods of investment it would take 26 years, at six per cent compound interest, to save $1000.

Can any man afford to risk the chances of living twenty-six years to make a thousand dollars for his family, when he can secure the same benefit at once by taking a life insurance for this amount?

If he feels that he cannot afford to be without insurance on his house, which may never burn, can he afford to be without insurance on his life, which is sure to end sooner or later?

THE SUN FOR 1881.

Everybody reads THE SUN. In the editions of this newspaper throughout the year to come everybody will find:

I. All the world's news, so presented that the reader will get the greatest amount of information with the least unprofitable expenditure of time and eyesight. THE SUN long ago discovered the golden mean between redundant verbiage and unsatisfactory brevity.

II. Much of that sort of news which depends less upon its recognized importance than upon its interest to mankind. From morning to morning THE SUN prints a continued story of the lives of real men and women, and of their deeds, plans, loves, hates, and troubles. This story is more varied and more interesting than any romance that was ever devised.

III. Good writing in every column, and freshness, originality, accuracy, and decorum in the treatment of every subject.

IV. Honest comment. THE SUN's habit is to speak out fearlessly what it thinks.

V. Equal candor in dealing with each political party, and equal readiness to commend what is praiseworthy and to make what is blamable in Democrat or Republican.

VI. Absolute independence of partisan organizations, but a steady and loyal support of Democratic principles. THE SUN believes that the Government which the Constitution gives us is a good one to live by. Its notion of loyalty is to use its utmost power the efforts of men in the Republican party to put the Government into the hands of men in place of that which exists. The year 1881 and the year immediately following will probably decide this supremely important question. The SUN believes that the victory will be with the people as against the Rings for monopoly, the Rings for plunder, and the Rings for imperial power.

Our terms are as follows:

For the Daily SUN, a four-page sheet of twenty-eight columns, the price by mail, post paid, is 55 cents a month, or $6.50 a year; or, including the Sunday paper, an eight-page sheet of fifty-six columns, the price is 65 cents a month, or $7.70 a year, postage paid.

The Sunday edition of THE SUN is also furnished separately at $1.20 a year, postage paid.

The price of the Weekly SUN, eight pages, fifty-six columns, is $1.a year, postage paid. For clubs of ten sending $10 we will send an extra copy free. Address I. W. ENGLAND, Publisher of THE SUN, New York City.

TRADE MARK DAY'S Kidney PAD

supplying a want which men of eminent ability have devoted years of study and experiment to find—a specific for diseases of the Kidneys, Bladder, Urinary Organs and Nervous System—and from the time of its discovery has rapidly increased in favor, gaining the approval and confidence of medical men and those who have used it; it has become a favorite with all classes and, where ever introduced has superseded all other treatment. In short, such is its intrinsic merits and superiority, that it is now the only recognized reliable remedy.

DISEASES OF THE KIDNEYS

are the most prevalent, dangerous and fatal affections that afflict mankind, and so varied and insidious in their character, that persons often suffer for a long time before knowing what ails them. The most characteristic symptoms are frequent passing away of the whole body; pain in the back, side or joints, a weak, feeble, exhausted feeling, loss of appetite and dread of exercise; scanty and painful discharge of variously colored urine, inability to retain or expel the urine; minute shreds or casts in the urine; and, when the disease is of long duration, there is much emaciation and general nervous prostration.

THE ONLY CURE.

We say positively, and without fear of contradiction, that DAY'S KIDNEY PAD is the first and only infallible cure for every form of Kidney disease. It is the best remedy yet discovered for this complaint, and more effectual in its operation than any other treatment. By using faithfully and persistently no case will be found so inveterate as not to yield to its powerful remedial virtues.

STRONGLY ENDORSED.

We have the most unequivocal testimony to its curative powers from many persons of high character, intelligence and responsibility. Our book, "How a Life was Saved," giving the history of this new discovery, and a large record of most remarkable cures, sent free.

DAY'S KIDNEY PADS are sold by druggists, or will be sent by mail (free of postage) on receipt of their price: Regular, $2.00 Special, for chronic cases of long standing, $3.00; Children's, $1.50.

Address,

DAY KIDNEY PAD CO., TOLEDO, O.

CAUTION. Owing to the many worthless Kidney Pads now seeking a sale on our reputation, we deem it due the afflicted to warn them. Ask for DAY'S KIDNEY PAD, take no other and you will not be deceived.

Amputation of the Leg.

The Old Family Physician at Fault--

Dr. David Kennedy the Successful Surgeon.

Money is the universal necessity, and none but a cynic or a fool will affect to despise it. Mr. Abram Elsworth, of Port Ewen, Ulster county, N. Y., had realized this truth. His disease involved the whole of his thigh-bone, and the suffering man looked forward, not without apparent reason, to death as his only deliverer. His family physician refused to amputate the limb—saying that the operation would kill the patient on the spot. Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y., who was consulted, held a different opinion and amputated the limb. The Doctor then administered freely his great Blood-Specific "Favorite Remedy" to afford tone and strength to the system, prevent the return of the disease, and Mr. Elsworth remains to this day in the bloom of health. This gentleman's disease was the offspring of foul blood, and Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" purified the blood and restored to him the power once more to enjoy his life. Are you suffering from any disease traceable to the same cause? Try "Favorite Remedy." Your druggist has it. One dollar a bottle. Bear in mind the proprietor's name and address: Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y.

Daily Chronicle.

A Direct Answer.

"Did you ever observe," said Col. Gilhooly to Major Spillkins, as they meandered down Galveston avenue, "did you ever observe, major, how difficult it is to get a straightfoward answer, a plain yes or no, from people generally?"

"I don't think I ever did."

"Well, 'Tal,' continued Gilhooly, "I'll bet two schooners of beer that we can go into a dozen stores and ask if they have certain things, and if they have not got them, the storekeeper will not say so, plain out, in one single instance."

Spillkins investigated his clothing and finding two car tickets, said it was a bet.

Then they strolled into a French or Italian fruit store, and Gilhooly asked:

"Have you a green watermelon for sale?"

"Watermelon!" exclaimed the astounded foreigner, "zis is ze wintaire season."

"I didn't ask you for meteorological intelligence. Anybody who pays ten dollars a cord for wood is apt to suspect that summer is fading away; besides, I've got an almanac at home. Have you got a green watermelon?"

"Here is ze orange, ze banana, ze apple."

"Don't want lessons in botany. Have you got a green watermelon?"

"Ze green watermelon is not ripe."

"I didn't ask whether it was ripe or not; I merely asked if you had one; but come, Spillkins, let's go. He will give you a history of the French revolution before he will answer the question. Let's meander."

The next place was a millinery establishment.

"Madame," said Gilhooly, "have you a fried mule for sale?"

The lady got as red in the face as a turkey gobbler, and craning her neck out, said:

"Sah?"

"Have you a fried mule in your elegant establishment?"

"I've got a husband, sir, and brothers, who will protect me from insult."

"I didn't ask for your pedigree, ma'am. I've got one of my own. There's no insult intended. I merely asked you a civil question."

I've got a husband. Oh! John! Oh, John!"

"No need of calling him, ma'm. If you will say that he is a fried mule, you needn't produce him. We will take your word for it."

"John! O, John! come quick, here are two galoots insulting me."

"Let's go, said Spillkins.

"We might as well; she evidently don't catch my meaning," responded Gilhooly.

"Look here, Gilhooly, said "Spillkins, "somebody will exasperate us yet, and get themselves into trouble."

"I am going to win that beer. You won't find anybody on this whole street that will say yes or no. Let us go into this undertaker's shop."

"I weaken," said Spillkins, "I'll pass an appropriation to pay for the beer."

"You might as well," responded Gilhooly, "for you won't get one to answer straight out. If you go into that drug-store and ask for a cranberry pie, or some baled hay, or a copy of 'Pope's Essay on Man,' or an accordeon, they will spring some new liver-encourager on you, or a box of bunion-eradicator."

And they went and got the beer.—Galveston News.

—The "children half-price" rule has been abolished in most of the New York city railroads. Children young enough to sit in their mothers' laps go free; and all others pay full fare.

—Landlords of summer resorts are already preparing for next season. One is having built an old-fashioned set of furniture that Washington once used, another is blasting out a cave that will be occupied by a hermit as soon as warm weather comes, and a third is having a medicinal well dug. Summer resorts are to be both romantic and healthy next year. —All Sorts.

—A woman went into one of the Hartford banks and asked to have a bill changed. Upon examination it proved to be a $50 bill of the late alleged confederacy, payable after the independence of the J. Davis dominion had been declared. She was asked where she got it, and replied that the "ould man" gave it to her. "Where did he get it?" "O, he got it about 'lection time," she said.

Hot drinks should be avoided in day time during cold weather, as they have a tendency to weaken the lungs and affect the throat. Take Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup for all cases of coughs, colds and hoarseness. Price 25 cents a bottle.

Portsmouth Chronicle.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 18, 1880.

Congress.

In the Senate, on the 16th inst., Mr. Hoar of Massachusetts presented a petition for woman's suffrage in the territories, which he said was signed by ladies of the highest attainments and occupying places of the highest respectability in society, and which contained arguments that to his mind had never received any answer worthy the name of a respectable argument.

In the House, on the 16th, Mr. Wood, chairman of the ways and means committee, reported a concurrent resolution providing for a recess of Congress from the 22d of December to the 5th of January, which was agreed to by the House—yeas 125, nays seventy-four.

The House judiciary committe is said to be in favor of the bill pending before it disfranchising Mormons on the ground of polygamy. The bill will soon be reported, and passed after holiday recess.

Chronicle Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 15th.

Against the Fitz John Porter bill which was passed in the Senate yesterday there will be a vigorous fight in the House. Logically, the original bill, which restored him to major general, the active rank in which he was serving when dismissed, and which gave him pay for the time during which he was—it is claimed improperly—kept out of the service, was stronger than this one. That would have been a final verdict of not guilty—a vindication; this is only the Scotch verdict "not proven," if it is that. Still, as I said there are many members of the House who will fight even this.

Senator Morrill is thoroughly in earnest in his resolution instructing the committee on post-offices and post-roads to enquire whether or not the existing telegraph lines largely interfere with the business of the post-office department, and whether telegraphic service should not be placed exclusively in the hands of the general government. In fact, there is more interest felt here now in an inquiry of this kind than ever before.

The board of managers of Homes for Disabled Volunteer Soldiers, now in session here, will adjourn sooner than was expected, and cannot make, therefore, the somewhat rigid investigation which was intended into the affairs of one of the homes. They meet again in March next, and one of them says will probably as soon thereafter as Congress shall be in session, ask for some legislation.

The importance of a decision rendered on Monday by the supreme court in the case of McBride vs. Carl Schurz, secretary of the interior, is fully appreciated by the heads of the departments. Whether for the public good or not, but probably very much for its good, the decision will make these officials more cautious in the discharge of the duties, or supposed duties, of their places. To know that they can be brought before the courts and compelled to make known their reasons for this or that act, or this or that failure to act, and have their decisions judicially reversed, will probably produce in the minds of the secretaries a wholesome respect for those citizens who have heretofore had no protection whatever from arbitrary executive will. Whether or not, and to what extent, a secretary would become responsible pecuniarily for a wrongful act by which another person suffered, are questions which will not probably be brought before the courts.

General Grant lies been cordially received here by all classes, and in fact is much liked by all classes. The public greeting at his arrival, however, and the reception last night at Masonic hall, were wholly in charge of an organization of ex-soldiers who are republicans. The general's brief stay in the city will prevent any but social attentions from other citizens.

The House to-day adopted a resolution to call upon the postmaster general for any information he may have touching the abuse of the franking privilege. The object of the call is to get officially before the House the alleged abuses of the congressional frank in the recent political campaign. KNOX.

News and Notes.

Mrs. Ellen Cullen, twenty-three years old and reported to have a husband in New Hampshire, was found dead in her room at a house where she lived as a domestic servant, in Haverhill, Mass., on the 15th inst. A post mortem examination shew that her death resulted from criminal malpractice.

London advices of the 16th inst. say the Scots Guards, a picked regiment paading 800 bayonets, has been ordered to Dublin, and directed to recruit up to 1000; nearly all of the men in this regiment are Scotch. One hundred and nineteen men of the Coldstream Guards went to Dublin from London on the 16th. The second battalion of the Rifle Brigade, now on the way to England from Malta, has been ordered to proceed to Queenstown without landing in England. A troop ship has been ordered to get ready immediately to go to Gibraltar for the purpose of conveying the Ninety-seventh Regiment thence to Queenstown.

Gambetta is not only in favor of popular education, but he is in favor of sustaining it by taxing the property held by the authorized religious orders in France. This is valued at the snug little sum of $77,700,000.

The question at issue between the city of Chicago and the horse-railroad companies is considered settled, and hereafter Chicago will collect a tax of not less than $140,000 a year from them.

While skating on the river at Lambertville, N. J., Dec. 15th, Theodore Parker, aged thirteen, and John Piermon, aged eighteen, became involved in a quarrel, when the latter stabbed the former in the heart, instantly killing him.

Information has been received of the shooting and killing of W. J. Bradley, near his home at Summit, N. C., on the 14th inst., by a magistrate named J. A. Squires. The murder was the result of an old grudge. The murdered man was sixty years old, and a well-known merchant and cotton grower.

A mean fellow in Taunton, Mass., whose aged mother had made over to him a large and well stocked farm, under a promise that he would care for her as long as she lived, recently asked the city authorities to extend aid to her as a pauper. The discreditable facts were ascertained, and he was given a very forcible reminder of the advisability of filial obedience.

A wedding took place on a recent Monday at Gardiner, Me., the groom being Fred Danforth, son of Judge Danforth of Gardiner, and the bride Miss Nellie Stevens of Pittston. The previous Friday evening had been set for the wedding, but on account of the sickness of the bride, the ceremony was postponed until Monday evening. Then when Monday evening came, the hack containing Mr. Danforth was run away with twice, and the exercises were somewhat delayed, but fortunately no other harm was done. When the sexton rang the bell in honor of the glad occasion, an alarm of fire was raised and the fire department turned out.

Postmaster James of New York states that 159,900 letters were mailed from the post-office there for Europe on the 15th inst., being the largest foreign mail in one day from this country.

Charles Ainsworth, colored, of Troy, has been arrested on a charge of administering Paris green to several persons in beer which he purchased and treated them with. Fortunately no serious consequences followed.

An ex-district attorney of Washington, D. C., while suffering from delirium tremens, attempted to commit suicide by leaping from the dome of the Capitol on the afternoon of the 15th inst., but his effort was frustrated by two of the capitol policemen.

Anthony Tucker and wife, colored, of Prince George county, Va., locked their two children in their cabin on the 15th inst., and went out to pick peas. On their return they found the house destroyed by fire, the two children having perished in the flames.

Henry Williams, a young white man, was found by the roadside near Ludlow, Ky., on the 15th inst., in a dying condition, with his head crushed by blows from an iron bar, and died next day. A negro named Gibson is under arrest for the murder, which was committed for the purpose of robbery.

Mary Forney, nineteen years old, and Rudolph Forney, aged fifteen, of Milwaukee, Wis., have recently died from trichinia. A butcher in New York died a few days ago from the same horrible complaint.

John Brown of Brownsville, Washington county, Maryland, is the oldest postmaster in the country; he is ninety years of age, and was appointed postmaster by President Jackson in 1830, having since then been re-appointed by the successive Presidents.

The year 1880 will close, says the Portage Lake Mining Gazette, showing that the copper mines of Lake Superior since their commencement have produced 300,000 tons of ingot copper, valued at $140,000,000,—and their legitimate net earnings for the current year will exceed the profit of all the western gold and silver mines combined.

Howgate's steamer, the Gulnare, which cost him $16,000, and on which he spent $19,000 in rebuilding, has been sold for $7,750, to be used in the Baltimore fruit trade.

Mayor Doyle, of Providence, R. I., who has been mayor of that city fifteen years, was given a $350 set of jewelry, Monday, the 13th inst., by the police of the city, as an evidence of their regard upon his retirement.

Two maiden ladies in Rhode Island have made, for several years, a doll that is sought for by dealers in all parts of the country, orders coming even from southern states. Various attempts have been made to imitate their doll, but they have been unsuccessful, and the Rhode Island makers control the market for their specialty.

Joseph Tew assaulted Patrick Lane in his own residence in Boston, last Thursday evening, knocking him down, and then throwing him down stairs. Tew then knocked Mrs. Lane down, and then going down stairs struck the prostrate Lane on the head with an iron saucepan. When the police arrived Lane was dead. Tew is under arrest.

On the 15th inst. the Western Union Telegraph Co. reduced its rates to all competing points with the American Union Co., the reduction ranging from two per cent to forty, the average reduction being fifteen per cent.

THE WEATHER.

U. S. SIGNAL OFFICE,
WASHINGTON, D. C.
Dec. 18, 1:30 A. M.

Probabilities for New England:—

Clear or partly cloudy weather during the day, followed by threatening weather and light snow, with north east to north west winds, and a slight rise in temperature.

The Thermometer at the CHRONICLE Office, at 4:00 o'clock this morning, registerd 19 degrees above zero.

Sky clear.

The NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE, containing the news of the week and a report of the trial of the libel suit in the U. S. Court against the schooner Mary S. Hontvet, is for sale at Moses Brothers' newspaper store on Congress street, and at the CHRONICLE counting room; price five cents.

AROUND HOME.

Miss Emma F. Johnson has resigned her position as teacher at the Haven school, to accept a position in one of the schools at Nashua.

Several sturgeon, cod and other hardy fish are yet domiciled at Major Urch's aquarium, some of them having been there eighteen months.

The Dover Republican says "The store on Central street recently vacated by Hoye, the clothier, is now being negotiated for by a Portsmouth jeweller."

Work on the well at the Eastern depot has been suspended for a day or two, the drill having sheared off, necessitating the sending away for reamers to straighten the hole. The well has been sunk about a hundred and seventy feet.

At the recent meeting of the Strafford County Medical society at Dover, Dr. John W. Parsons of this city was chosen to read a paper before the New Hampshire Medical society at its annual meeting in June, 1881. Dr. Willis, of Eliot, Me., was admitted to membership.

The concert by the Salem cadet band to-morrow evening, in connection with the local talent announced, should draw a large audience, as the band is favorably remembered from the fine music they gave here at an open-air concert last year, and the various prices for seats ought to suit everybody's means.

The Journal is informed by Mr. Wm. F. Grant, now in charge of Portsmouth bridge, that the signal lights upon that bridge have been changed from white to red. The Eastern rail.oad company have also made arrangements for lighting the bridges with ordinary lanterns, four on Noble's island bridge and seven on Portsmouth bridge, which will greatly accommodate the evening travel. The signals being red, they will be readily distinguished from the other lights.

The "Mirror of the World" is to be exhibited in the Methodist church this (Saturday) evening, for the benefit of the Sabbath school connected with that church, and promises to be a very good thing. The programme is rich and varied, taking in many of the interesting scenes of this country and Canada, also of England, Ireland, Scotland, France, Italy, Egypt and the Holy Land, together with tableaux, pantomimes, and beautiful effects by the use of the microscope. The Springfield Republican says "it is one of the best shows of the kind we have ever seen."

The owl which two or three weeks ago furnished several items to the newspapers, and amusement to bad boys with snowballs when they could escape the observation of members of the anti-cruelty society, has departed this life. He was able to stand adversity, but prosperity was too much for him. He had probably been shot at and wounded, and must certainly have gone hungry during the week or more that he haunted the city, but neither shot, famine nor snowballs, nor all three together, sufficed to wear him out. Finally he was caught, and came into the hands of a young man who gave him a meal of nice raw beef; that finished him, and he died in a few hours.

GRANGE ELECTION.

Portsmouth Grange, No. 22, Patrons of Husbandry, held an adjourned annual meeting on Thursday evening last, and elected officers as follows:

Master, Charles T. Wiggin;
Lecturer, Mrs. James R. Yeaton;
Overseer, Frank G. Sherburne;
Steward, George A. Murray;
Asst. Steward, James R. Yeaton;
Lady Asst. Steward, Mrs. D. H. Spinney;
Secretary, Mrs. S. E. Pearson;
Chaplain, Mrs. E. P. Seavey;
Treasurer, A. Pearson;
Ceres, Mrs. M. C. Sides;
Pomona, Miss E. Garrett;
Flora, Miss L. Junkins.

Meeting for installation of Master on Monday evening at seven o'clock.

The grange numbers about sixty members, and of these a good proportion was present.

Naval Gazette.

Commodore S. P. Quackenbush is ordered to command the Pensacola navy yard, Jan. 5th, relieving Capt. G. E. Belknap, who will be placed on waiting orders.

Commodore T. S. Phelps is ordered to command the Mare Island navy yard, Jan. 15th, relieving Commodore E. R. Calhoun, who will be placed on waiting orders.

Capt. S. R. Franklin is ordered to special duty connected with the bureau of equipment and recruiting.

The secretary of the navy has decided to issue an order establishing a training fleet headquarters at Coaster's Harbor island, Narragansett bay, near Newport, R. I., as recommended by the commission appointed to select the most appropriate point. The station will be placed in command of an officer of the navy not below the rank of captain, and the order will go into effect immediately.

The democratic convention for the third congressional district was held at West Lebanon on the 16th inst., and G. B. Hosley of West Lebanon was nominated as the democratic candidate to fill the vacancies in the 46th and 47th Congresses occasioned by the death of Major Farr.

Charles Bell Tuttle, a prominent and highly respected citizen of Milford, died at his residence in that town, Dec. 16th, of a disease of the liver. He was sixty-two years old. He has been prominent in public life, serving as deputy sheriff, register of deeds, assistant assessor of the revenue, and in other positions of trust.

The school board of Manchester have elected seventy-eight teachers for the ensuing year. Their united salaries amount to about $38,000. The highest salary is received by the principal of the high school, $1,800; the lowest in the primary school is $300 per year.

C. E. Todd, a barber at Antrim, formerly of Hancock, was accidentally killed by the discharge of a gun, while rabbit-hunting at Hancock with Dow S. Abbott of Hillsboro, Tuesday afternoon, the 14th inst. The two had been sitting down, resting, and as Todd was in the act of rising the trigger of the gun was brought in contact with his clothing, and the fowling-piece being discharged, the contents entered his abdomen, killing him instantly. He was twenty-three years old.

The annual catalogue of Dartmouth college shows the total number of students to be 429, a gain of thirty-three since last year.

A lighted kerosene lamp exploded in Geo. W. Caswell's house, in Nashua, on Sunday evening, the 12th inst., in the absence of the family at church, and caused $30 damage. The fire was discovered by a gentleman passing in the street, who, with a neighbor, broke into the house and extinguished the flames.

The South American War.

Panama advices of Dec. 16th say the Chilian advance on Lima began Nov. 15th, when the fleet appeared off Pisco. The Angamo and two other vessels steamed into the harbor, the former approaching the mole as closely as possible, and sent an officer ashore, who demanded the surrender of the place, which was refused. Fire was at once opened from the ships, and returned by the Peruvians on shore, who numbered only 1200 men, commanded by Capt. Zamudi. The landing at Pisco was resisted so hotly that most of the Chilians landed at Paracas, about ten miles off, and immediately marched on Pisco, almost surrounding Zamudi's small force. That officer, hopeless of further defence without the sacrifice of his entire force, retired, after blowing up the shore section of the wharf and destroying other property, to prevent its falling into Chilian hands. The rolling stock of the Pisco railroad was burned, which is a severe loss to the English bondholders. The Peruvian loss in the fight was 150 men, the Chilian thrice that number. The Chilians landed 7,200 infantry, a naval brigade of 900, and 800 artillery and cavalry, making in all 10,000 men. The transports, having landed the troops, returned to Arica for further reinforcements, which will be landed near Lima and thence move on the capital. Pisco is 126 miles from Lima. The force landed at Pisco will probably destroy all the towns in the Yea valley and then enter Canete valley, which they will probably make their base of operations. The march to Lima will be resisted step by step, and three divisions of Peruvian troops left Lima on the night of Nov. 19th, with eighty-five pieces of artillery.

FELLOWS' Compound SYRUP OF HYPO-PHOS-PHITES

WASTING DISEASES

Loss of Nervous Power,

Are positively cured by FELLOWS' COMPOUND SYRUP OF HYPOPHOSPHITES.

As phosphorus enters so largely into the animal economy, it becomes a necessitate the best vehicle with which to associate the other vitalizing ingredients of healthy Blood, Nerve and Muscle. In Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites are combined all the substances found necessary to insure robust health, and wherever it was invented with a view to supply every deficiency, it certainly has performed some wonderful cures.

MANCHESTER, N. H., June 19, 1880.

Mr. JAMES I. FELLOWS.

Dear Sir: I wish to acknowledge the great benefit I have received from the use of "Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites." I have been an invalid for nearly two years, with a bronchial affection that had become chronic. In the fall of 1878 I had a physician eighty days in succession, besides the counsel of several others. They gave me but little encouragement, some of them none. Last July I was advised to give your remedy a trial. I did so, and in less than one week there was a marked improvement for the better. I have continued its use from that time until the present, improving all the time, and I can truthfully say am more than hundred per cent. better than when I commenced its use. I have increased in weight about fifteen pounds, and my cough, which was fearful, has nearly disappeared. I believe had it not been for your Syrup, I should ere this have been beyond the cares of life. Very truly yours,

ALBERT STORY.

Proclamation by the President.

Fault-finding is so seldom indulged in by those who use the medicines manufactured by the World's Dispensary Medical Association, that the President of that corporation, the Hon. R. V. Pierce, M. D., has issued a special request or proclamation to any and all persons, if there be any such, who may have taken or shall hereafter use any of the family medicines now made and sold by the said Association, in all countries of the world, and who have not derived full benefit from said medicines, that if they will write the said Association a description of their maladies the Faculty of the Dispensary will advise them with respect to the successful treatment of their diseases. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is guaranteed to cure all humors from the common blotch, pimple or eruption, to the worst scrofula or king's evil, and those virulent poisons that lurk in the system as a sequel or secondary affection resulting from badly-treated or neglected primary diseases. It also cures bronchial, throat and lung diseases. Favorite Prescription is guaranteed to cure female weaknesses and kindred affections. Extract of Smart-Weed cures bowel affections, colds, and all painful, rheumatic and neuralgic affections. Dr. Pierce's Pellets (little sugar-coated pills), are the little giant cathartic. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., or Great Russell Street Buildings, London, Eng.

—Fashion says: "Gathered waists are still very much in favor with young ladies." They are with the young gentlemen, also.

There was an eclipse this year that astronomers failed to note. It was the eclipse of Adamson's Botanic Balsam over all competitors. It cures coughs, colds, and all diseases of the throat, chest, and lungs. Price, 10, 35, and 75 cts.

—Just at present there is said to be a rage in London for things and people American. In fact anything to "take" must be transatlantic.

The best blood remedy in the world is D. R. V. G. It will clear Ladies' complexion of pimples, moth patches and sallowness. Try it. Guaranteed by your own druggists.

Books, Magazines, Etc.

"The Trip to England," by William Winter; second edition, revised and enlarged, with illustrations by Joseph Jefferson. Boston; James R. Osgood & Company.

These letters first appeared in the New York Tribune, from which journal they are re-produced, with some changes and additions by Mr. Winter. They were written during a sojourn in England and France in the year 1877. The author tells us of the voyage, the beauty of England, his rambles in London, his visit to Windsor, the palace of Westminster, Warwickcastle and Kenilworth, and Stratford-on-Avon close by. He walks around London, and sees many objects of interest which the casual visitor fails to observe. He gives us a glimpse of France, and adds a reprint from Harper's Magazine of his paper upon the "Home of Shakespeare." There have been written many books of travel descriptive of the places visited by Mr. Winter, but his trip is doubly interesting to all who have visited these scenes or frequently read their description by various authors. There is something fascinating about the present volume, so that if we but step on board the steamer with Mr. Winter at the first page, we do not quit him until we take our leave of him at the portals of the Shakespeare Memorial. There are ten fine heliotype illustrations of noted places, etc., from sketches by Joseph Jefferson, which are an additional attraction to the work.

—The canons of Colorado beat any art-hillery in the world.

—The greatest change ever made in the social and business life of Rio Janeiro has been wrought by the development of the American street railway system. A single company, managed by R. C. Shannon, who was formerly the American Secretary of Legation, controls thirty-seven miles of road within the city limits. Two kinds of cars are run—one for barefooted people, in which the fare is five cents, and for those who wear shoes, who pay ten cents for the advantage of better accommodations and better company. Before the roads were built it was not safe for a lady to go out alone, even in the day-time. Now ladies go out unaccompanied, just as in American cities.

Liebig Co.'s Coca Beef Tonic.—Has received the highest medals at principal exhibitions, and is endorsed and prescribed by the medical faculty here and abroad as the standard tonic.

It embodies the nutritive elements of the muscular fibre, blood, bone and brain of carefully selected healthy bullocks, combined with the powerful tonic virtues of the Coca, or sacred life plant of the Incas, and a choice quality of sherry wine.

William Russell Card was convicted at Portland, Me., on the 16th inst., of passing counterfeit money.

Fellows' Hypophosphites differs from all hitherto produced, in composition, mode of preparation, and in general effects, and is sold in its original form. It was developed from actual personal experient, embracing many months, while the inventer was suffering from pulmonary consumption, and nervous debility. The good results following its first use have since been repeated in numerous other cases.

Gen. Hazen on the 16th inst. assumed his new duties as chief signal officer of the United States army.

THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ESTABLISHED 1851.

In the late Presidential contest The Times has fairly vindicated, both in the department of news gathering and in that of journalistic influence, its recognized supremacy among the Republican newspapers of the country. The principles which have guided its political course in the past will continue to direct it in the future.

The splendid success of the Republican Party has been due to faithful adherence to those principles, they appealed to the patriotism and enlightened interest of the best portion of the American people; their just and judicious application by the Republican Administration has elected a Pacific ore to the party a future as brilliant and useful as its past has been. To this high aim The Times will labor to contribute by conscientious discussion of current events, and by fair and fearless expression of what its conductors believe to be the best judgment of the party, unwarped by personal ambitions or narrow interests.

Among the general features of the policy of The Times will be: The Complete Establishment of a Sound Financial System; The Security of the Equal Rights Accorded by the Constitution; The Improvement of the Public Service; The Emancipation, by Seasonable Fiscal Reform, of American Labor; Strict Economy in Public Expenditure, Opposition to Subsidies and Jobbery in Every Form; Definite Responsibility, Firmly Enforced, in Public Servants.

The Times will, as in the past, be distinguished as an enterprising, accurate, and carefully edited newspaper. The acknowledged excellence and fullness of its correspondence, by mail and telegraph, from all parts of the world, will be adequately maintained, and its facilities for collecting domestic and foreign news will be expanded to meet the increasing demand of our time.

In the sphere of literary and artistic criticism, of scientific, social, and general discussion, The Times will address itself, as heretofore, to the appreciation of the educated and intelligent classes of the American people.

It will be likely without being sensational, aggressive without being coarse; at all times it will strive to be fearless and independent in the championship of the right.

No theories subversive of the principles on which the sacredness of family ties and the existence of society alike repose will be promulgated in its columns.

The Times rejects all advertisements of lotteries, of quacks and medical pretenders, and of all other agencies by which the public may be misled or disseminated throughout society. It will be in the future, as in the past, a newspaper especially adapted for family reading.

The Semi-Weekly Times is specially fitted to meet the requirements of those who seek more ample details of current news and to the discussion of current discussion than are furnished in the week y issue. The Semi-Weekly has a large circulation already among the professional and mercantile classes, outside of the large cities, at home. At the reduced club rates now offered to this edition its popularity ought to be greatly increased.

The Weekly Times, containing selected editorials on topics of national and general interest from the columns of the daily issue, as well as a concise summary of political, social, and foreign news, besides other features which recommend it to all classes of readers, is a paper admirably fitted to circulate in every portion of the United States. Its conductors will spare no effort, not only to maintain its well earned supremacy, but to make its popularity still more decided.

TERMS TO MAIL SUBSCRIBERS.

ILLUSTRATION.—At age 25 an annual premium of $16.91 will secure a policy for $1000, payable at death. By the same annual outlay and the ordinary methods of investment it would take 26 years, at six per cent compound interest, to save $1000.

Can any man afford to risk the chances of living twenty-six years to make a thousand dollars for his family, when he can secure the same benefit at once by taking a life insurance for this amount?

If he feels that he cannot afford to be without insurance on his house, which may never burn, can he afford to be without insurance on his life, which is sure to end sooner or later?

THE SUN FOR 1881.

Everybody reads THE SUN. In the editions of this newspaper issued throughout the year to come everybody will find:

I. All the world's news, so presented that the reader will get the greatest amount of information with the least unprofitable expenditure of time and eyesight. THE SUN long ago discovered the golden mean between prolixity of fulness and unsatisfactory brevity.

II. Much of that sort of news which depends less upon its recognized importance than upon its interest to mankind. From morning to morning THE SUN prints a continued story of the lives of real men and women, and of their deeds, plans, loves, hates, and troubles. This story is more varied and more interesting than any romance that was ever devised.

III. Good writing in every column, and freshness, originality, accuracy, and decorum in the treatment of every subject.

IV. Honest comment. THE SUN's habit is to speak out fearlessly about men and things.

V. Equal candor in dealing with each political party, and equal readiness to commend what is praiseworthy or to rebuke what is blamable in Democrat or Republican.

VI. Absolute independence of partisan organizations, but steady loyalty to the Democratic principles. THE SUN believes that the Government which the Constitution gives us is a good one to keep. Its notion of duty is to contribute utmost power the efforts of men in the Republican party to the administration of government in place of that which exists. The year 1881 and the year immediately following will probably decide this question. The Democratic party, THE SUN believes that the victory will be with the people as against the Rings for monopoly, the Rings for plunder, and the Ring for imperial power.

Our terms are as follows:

For the Daily SUN, a four-page sheet of twenty-eight columns, the price by mail, post paid, is 55 cents a month, or $6.50 a year; or, including the Sunday paper, an eight-page sheet of fifty-six columns, the price is 65 cents a month, or $7.70 a year, postage paid.

The Sunday edition of THE SUN is also furnished separately at $1.20 a year, postage paid.

The price of the Weekly SUN, eight pages, fifty six columns, is $1 a year, postage paid. For a club of ten sending $10 we will send an extra copy free. Address I. W. ENGLAND, Publisher of THE SUN, New York City.

LIEBIG CO'S

COCA BEEF TONIC.

Highest Medals. Indorsed and Prescribed by Medical Men of all Schools.

Professor Duncan Campbell, M.D., LL.D., President Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons, etc., etc., says: "It has more than realized my expectations."

Professor J. M. Carnochan, M.D., Professor of Surgery New York Medical College, says: "My patients derive marked and decided benefit from it."

Professor H. Goullon, M.D., Physician to the Grand Duke of Saxony; Knight of the Holy Cross, etc., says: "It gives more tone than anything I have ever prescribed."

Sir Robert Christison, M.D., LL.D., F.R.S., Physician to her Majesty the Queen; President Royal British Association, etc., etc., says: "The properties of the Coca are the most remarkable of any known to the medical world. From repeated personal trials I am convinced that its use is highly beneficial and tonic."

Valuable in malaria; ague; malarial debility; dumbague; low fever; marasmus; paralytic; spinal and nervous affections; female weaknesses; bilious and liver affections; weak throats; palpitation and other affections of the heart; epilepsy or falling sickness; weakness of the voice of actors, singers, public speakers and clergymen; colic; flatulency; seasickness; falling out of the hair; asthma; shortness of breath; wasting diseases; etc., etc. It is gratefully refreshing and restorative after prolonged mental and physical strain. It is pleasant and agreeable, and is readily retained by the most delicate stomach. Dr. McBean (British Medical Journal) found it of great service in consumption. Baron von Humboldt says he has never known a case of consumption or asthma among those accustomed to its use, and that they live to a great age, retaining their mental and physical faculties to the last (Cosmos).

A STORY OF THE GAMING-TABLE.

"Red wins!"

It was the croupier's hoarse cry, again and again reiterated, only diversified with that of "Red loses!" which broke the stillness in the superbly appointed room at Hamburg, with the gaming-table in its center, round which were gathered its eager votaries, behind whom were the scarcely less interested groups of lookers-on.

"Come away, my dear," said a very lovely woman among the spectators, in a whisper to her husband. "I am sorry that we came. This is no place for Pearl," indicating with a nod of head, as she spoke, an exquisitely beautiful girl, scarcely more than a child, of some twelve or thirteen summers, who stood beside them.

"Come, Pearl," the father said.

But the girl stood entranced, her eyes fixed upon a man's face at the farthest end of the table. It was a strikingly handsome face, even when wearing, as it now did, an expression of calm, born of desperation. No tinge of color was in either cheek or lips. His eyes shone with a strange and hard glitter, and were fixed upon the balls as they swung round, as though on the color uppermost hung his hope of life or death.

And so it was. He had sat down possessed of a fortune: he arose a beggar! Fate had steadily pursued him with mocking hopelessness, until he had placed his last stake, only to see it mercilessly swept from him. He half arose from the table. What more was to be done, save to go out somewhere into the still night air and send a bullet through his heart or brain?

It was at this moment the girl, with flushed cheeks and half-parted lips, darted up to his side.

"Take this," she pleaded, "for my sake," and pressed a gold piece into his hand.

He turned. To his excited imagination she seemed scarcely mortal in her pure, childlike loveliness. His first impulse was to return her offering—he was not yet an alms-taker—but again rang out the croupier's cry of command to place the stakes.

The child stood breathless in her eager expectancy, her eyes burning with feverish interest. A sudden impulse overmastered him. Without speaking a word he placed the gold upon the table.

The next minute a small pile of gold was at his elbow. He staked it all again. Again he won. A bright spot of scarlet replaced the pallor in his cheek, which spread and deepened as Dame Fortune, who had so persistently frowned upon him, now reserved for him only her smiles. Morning was breaking when he rose from the tables, no longer a desperate man, but with his fortune threefold returned to him.

After his first winning, he had turned to return the child her offering, but she had vanished. Should he ever find her, ever repay the debt? He knew not; but, standing at last out under the clear blue sky, with a great weight lifted from his heart and brain, Harold Clayton vowed that it should be his life search, but that the lesson taught him should never be forgotten, and the gaming tables should know him never more.

Six years passed, and Harold Clayton was winning name and fame in his own land in his profession as an artist. Standing one night in a crowded assembly, some one in passing touched him lightly on the arm with her fan, and, glancing around, he met the smiling face of his hostess.

"Come," she said, "I want to present you to my belle. If you can prevail upon her to give you a sitting, and transfer her coloring to canvas, you will render yourself immortal."

"Is she, then, so beautiful?" he questioned.

"Judge for yourself," she lightly rejoined, leading him to a little group doing homage to a fair girl in the centre.

"Miss Reyburn,—Mr. Clayton," were the formal words of introduction, as Harold bowed in acknowledgment before the woman whom his artistic eye confessed the most beautiful that in all his wanderings he had ever seen, and before the evening was ended he might have added, the first woman whom he had ever loved, since she had awakened in him an interest as new as it was strange.

Through the next week her face haunted him. Then they met again, and the charm grew and deepened. He could not define it; he scarcely acknowledged it to himself; only when away from Miss Reyburn he was restless and uneasy, until he again found himself within the scope of her fascinations.

Yet her nature remained an enigma to him. Although so young in years, so beautiful in form and feature, she seemed cold even to haughtiness, reticent almost to scorn. It was as though some exquisite marble statue had risen in his pathway, which might some day warm into life. She welcomed him whenever they met with a manner which while it gave him no cause for complaint, yet chilled the hope springing in his breast.

One day, on going to her home, the servant met him at the door with the announcement that she was very ill. This knowledge brought other knowledge—in fact he could no longer conceal from himself that he loved her, and that on his hope of winning her hung his life's happiness.

He went back to his studio wretched and despairing, and seated himself at his easel. He had not meant to paint her—his brain seemed unconscious of his fingers' toil—yet, when the morning broke, it was her features smiling upon him from the canvas, and he remembered the words his hostess had uttered on the night he first had met her—that thus should he render himself immortal.

He grew pale and wan in the days of anxious suspense, when those who watched over her couch knew not which would conquer, the angel of life or death.

But there come a time never to be forgotten, when he was admitted into her presence.

What Mr. Pitts Might have Saved Himself.

Mr. Henry Pitts, of Kingston, N. Y., suffered from the presence of stone in the bladder for several years. Dr. Kennedy, of Rondout, N. Y., removed the foreign body by knife. Had Mr. Pitts and others similarly afflicted, used Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" in the earlier stages of the disease, the medicine would have prevented the formation of the calculus or stone, rendering a dangerous surgical operation unnecessary. Dr. Kennedy gave "Favorite Remedy" to prevent the return of the disease, and Mr. Pitts remains in perfect health to this day.

—According to the News, the Galveston boy is progressive. He was standing in a crowd of boys on the sidewalk, when his mother called him to go down town and bring her a demijohn of whiskey. The boy was too busy to go, but he called out: "Send the old man; I've got considerable confidence in him."

THOS. JAMES, Darlington, England, says:—The "Only Lung Pad" is being thoroughly tried here. One lady has already received great benefit, who has suffered five years from bronchitis and asthma, and congestion of right lung.—See Adv.

—A horse at Faribault, Minn., turned loose in his master's dooryard saw a basket hanging on a clothes-pole about seven feet from the ground. It contained a pet cat belonging to the place. The horse walked over to the basket, put his nose up to investigate, and the cat put out one of its paws and gave the intruding nose a lively scratch. The horse turned around, looked back over his shoulder as though to take aim and measure the distance, kicked, and cat, basket and all shot into the air like a rocket. The horse watched the success of his shot, then gave a low whinny of delight, and walked away.

Ben. Butler's Generosity.

Gen Butler has restored $122,000 worth of bonds to the soldiers' home at Washington, which were lost to the home through the failure of the bank in which they had been temporarily deposited during Gen. Butler's absence on a yacht cruise. Some years ago Horatio Ward, an American citizen, then living in Europe, willed $115,000 in bonds to the soldiers' home. The will was contested. Gen. Butler was president of the home. He could not go to Europe to defend the case, but won it by proxy. The bonds were sent by a messenger across the ocean, and deposited in a bank as already stated. Gen Butler never even saw the bonds, but they were lost to the home by the bank's failure; and though there was no legal claim upon him to do so, he has made the bonds good by paying the amount.

News and Notes.

Maj. Gen. Getty, commanding at Fortress Monroe, has recived orders from the war department to ship six of the ten-inch smooth-bore guns lying dismantled there, to New York, to be sent forward to the national armory at Springfield, Mass., for the purpose of having them converted into eight-inch rifled breech-loading cannon. These guns are of the Dahlgren pattern, and weigh 15,000 pounds each.

The case of Clodomiro Cota, at San Francisco, the extradited Mexican revolutionist, was taken to the United States circuit court on Friday, a new writ of habeas corpus having been obtained from that court to the state court, holding that it had no jurisdiction in the case. The prisoner was turned over to the United States marshal.

Sherman Nickerson, a young man about seventeen years of age, son of Jacob Nickerson of East Harwich, Mass., left home on Wednesday, the 15th inst., with his gun, to shoot game in the woods near the village. Not returning, search was instituted and his dead body was found in the woods Friday, shot in the side, probably accidentally.

William and Charles Mullins, brothers, owning a farm near Santa Rosa, Cal., were killed last Thursday by Albert and Frederick Quackenbush, also brothers, and claimants of a portion of the farm held by the Mullins brothers. The Quackenbush brothers surrendered themselves to the authorities, claiming to have acted in self-defence.

A gentleman named Meyers, belonging in Washington, was robbed of $10,000 on the Pennsylvania railroad train between New Brunswick and Elizabeth, N. J., on the forenoon of the 17th inst. He had the money in a satchel in a sleeping car.

Chang, the Chinese giant who arrived at New York recently by the steamer Berlin, is described as nine feet in height. He is under engagement to Barnum & Co., for a year, at $300 per week. His age is thirty-three years; he is the son of a Pekin merchant, and speaks five languages. He has been married twice; his present wife, who is of only ordinary size, he left at home. He has in perfection the Chinese physiognomy.

A five-story building in Buffalo, N. Y., occupied by Birge & Sons, manufacturers of wall-papers, took fire in the third story, late Friday evening, and in less than twenty minutes the building, which was eighty feet front and 300 feet deep, was a ruin, the walls crumbling and falling before the intense heat. About 150 men and boys were at work in the building, and those on the 4th and 5th floors had no means of escape except by jumping from the windows, there being no fire-escapes on the building. Three persons were killed outright, and a number fatally hurt; and many were burned in the building. A mass of oil, containing $25,000 worth of gum, was also burned, and a fire-engine house crushed by falling walls. The company loss is estimated at nearly $300,000.

Stearns Kendall Abbott was tried last week for the alleged murder of Mrs. Maria L. Cruse at Boston, Mass., last summer, and the jury rendered a verdict of "guilty of murder in the first degree."

Mrs. Kate Chase Sprague on Saturday filed a libel for divorce from Ex-Gov. Wm. Sprague of Rhode Island.

It is estimated there will be cut this season on Penobscot waters upward of 120,000,000 feet of timber, but all may not be got to market. There are about 40,000,000 feet of last year's cut left over for early sawing in the spring.

Mrs. Jane McDonald, wife of a laborer at Portland, Me., was killed Thursday night by falling down stairs when drunk.

Timothy Mullen, forty years old, had his head blown off by the explosion of a copper cylinder under a strain of pressure at Providence, R. I., Friday.

John Chew and John Mead, two colored men, while crossing the railroad track at Fulton station of the Maryland railroad, in Baltimore, Friday, were struck by a train and both killed.

Patrick McAdams of Washington, Ind., was shot and fatally wounded, Friday night, by his nephew, Archie McLellan, a drunken desperado, who escaped.

The barn of Mr. Ewall on Price's hill, in the west part of Cincinnati, was burned Friday, and Mrs. Ewall perished in the flames.

The fire in the Cage pit at Stellarton, N. S., which has already resulted in several explosions bringing danger to the surface works and the houses of the miners, seems to be beyond the control of those who have been fighting the flames. The pit must be closed and flooded. The work of re-opening the Foord pit must be stopped. Stellarton's future is dark indeed. The people were already suffering from the earlier disasters, and the latest one brings the number of those out of employment up to nearly 2000. The losses of the Halifax company are also liable to render any opening of the mines impossible, in which case the town will be virtually ruined, even if spared from the utter destruction which is threatened by the fires in the pits.

The Atlanta Constitution says the two men of the late war whose memories will be embalmed in the affection and admiration of the people are Abraham Lincoln, the southerner, and Stonewall Jackson, the Puritan. And it declares that among the people of the south there is a keener appreciation of the manifold peculiarities of Lincoln's character and genius than among the north. Mr. R. J. Burdette, the humorist, who has been lecturing in the south, has been amazed at the thunderous applause that greeted his carefully-written eulogy of Lincoln.

Lewiston, Me., has a man who may be considered, in a degree, a rival of Dr. Tanner. He has been trying dietetic experiments on himself for two or three years, and for several months has eaten but one meal a day, and that about ten o'clock in the evening, immediately before going to bed. He works ten hours a day at his machinist's post, without eating or drinking anything. Instead of pining away and dying he has gained thirty-five pounds in flesh. He is not hungry until bed-time. He drinks nothing—neither water, milk, tea nor coffee. All the fluids his stomach receives are from the fruit and vegetables which make up the greater part of his living. He eats no meat, and lives mainly on fruits, and oatmeal and graham without salt.

A very large and brilliant meteor was seen at Atlanta, Ga., on the evening of the 9th inst. It was so bright that the whole heavens seemed one blaze of light. In size it appeared about as large as a cannon ball. When directly overhead an explosion occurred, tearing it into fragments and scattering the pieces in every direction, though a large piece continued in the course taken by the meteor.

Mr. John Carven, who has long been one of the pressmen of the Boston Journal, died after an illness lasting only a few days, on Friday last. Mr. Carven had been in the employ of the Journal some time previous to the war, and left his position to enlist in the Union army. On his return he was again employed. He was active in the politics of his ward during his leisure, and held the office of assistant assessor three years.

AROUND HOME.

Mr. Langdon M. Perkins has built an ice house opposite the Rye almshouse, which he will fill with ice cut near by.

We are requested to state that the installation of the master of the Portsmouth Grange this evening will take place in Grange hall, Congress street.

The Eldredge Brewing Co. last week finished cuting and storing the first crop of ice from their pond. It is about seven inches thick, and unusually clear and heavy.

L. C. Dearborn of Biddeford, who is intending to start a steam laundry in this city in a short time, is having a horizontal engine built at Currier's machine shop in Biddeford for use therein.

In the "Uncle Tom's Cabin" company that is to appear at Music hall to-morrow evening, little Blanche Sherwood takes the part of Topsy, and her sister Romaine, who is still younger than Blanche, the part of Eva. The latter played at the Boston Musum last winter, and was spoken of as the youngest person on the American stage. Blance appeared at Music hall as Topsy some time ago, and took the part as well as we ever saw it taken.

The "Mirror of the World" entertainment at the Methodist church Saturday evening, in aid of the Sunday school, was well attended, and gave marked satisfaction. The views are very fine, including scenes in this country and Canada, Great Britain, France, Italy, Egypt and the Holy Land, with beautiful effects by the microscope; and they are finely exhibited. It is the best entertainment of the kind we have ever seen, and merits liberal encouragement.

On Saturday afternoon Charles Holbrook, a boy fourteen years old, grandson of John R. Holbrook, Esq., was playing on the south pond when the ice broke and let him into the water. As he was unable to extricate himself Mr. Albert H. Sides went to his assistance, though urged by the other spectators not to venture upon the treacherous ice; but instead of being able to help the boy, Mr. Sides also broke in, and neither of them could get out until a dory was procured and launched over the ice to their aid.

The largest specimen of the great horned owl that we have ever seen was on exhibition in a box at Mr. J. W. Bell's saloon in National block, Saturday, having been put there by Mr. Leonard C. Cook of Kittery, who captured the bird in a trap on the previous Wednesday night. His owlship got himself into this trouble by raiding upon Mr. Cook's poultry yard, and killing and carrying off a good-sized goose. Mr. Cook followed the trail left by the plunderer for some distance, found the goose partly eaten, and set a trap for the marauder. The bird measures five feet across the wings from tip to tip.

The New Hampshire State Teachers' Association holds its 27th annual meeting at the hall of the Lincoln street school at Manchester this week, commencing on Wednesday afternoon, and closing on Thursday evening with a lecture by Hon. J. W. Patterson of Hanover, the state superintendent of public instruction. Any male teacher in New Hampshire may become a member of this association by signing the constitution, and paying one dollar; any lady teacher in New Hampshire, by signing the constitution. Old members unable to be present at the meeting may be represented through the annual fee. The officers of the association are as follows: President, E. B. Powers, principal of the Nashua high school; secretaries, S. W. Clarke, principal of the high school, and R. H. Perkins, principal of the Haven school, Portsmouth; treasurer, Elliot Whipple, principal of the McGaw Institute at Reed's Ferry.

Messrs. Butler and Laighton will keep their grocery store open every evening this week, to accommodate the Christmas trade, instead of closing at seven o'clock as usual.

The address of Chas. W. Tuttle, Esq., before the Historical Society, commemorative of the establishment of the separate provincial government for New Hampshire, will be given at the Unitarian chapel on Court street, on Wednesday evening, the 29th inst., at half-past seven o'clock. The public are cordially invited to be present. Mr. Tuttle is a careful student of history, well informed as to New Hampshire's early days, and his address should be appreciated by the presence of a large audience.

KEARSARGE MILLS.

Several members of the committee appointed by the citizens' meeting on Monday evening of last week to confer with the directors of the Kearsarge mills relative to the rebuilding of the mill, met the directors on Saturday at the office of Wm. H. Thompson, Esq., treasurer of the corporation, in Boston. Matters connected with the object of the meeting were informally discussed, but no definite conclusion was arrived at. The losses of the corporation have not yet been adjusted by the insurance companies, and until that is done no decisive action can be taken upon the question of rebuilding.

PATENT SUITS.

In the suit of Sturtevant vs. the Humphrey Machine Co., of Keene, in the circuit court of the United States, testimony had commenced to be taken before United States Commissioner Hackett at Boston last week. The parties before proceeding at much length settled the suit. It was brought to prevent the sale of a machine alleged by Sturtevant to have been constructed in violation of his patent for cutting sheets or strips from the surfaces of cylinders of wood to be cut up into shoe pegs. The patent expires this month. A suit against parties at Rumney for making a similar machine is now pending in the court.

At the clerk's office in this city, last week, testimony was taken before Wallace Hackett, special examiner, in the suit of Hayden vs. Great Falls Manufacturing Co. The plff. once received a sum from this company for the use of his machine, or the right to use machines patented by him, for cleaning cotton. He says the amount paid was based upon a less number of spindles than the mill operated, and seeks to be paid the sum, above what was formerly paid, to which he may be entitled. John L. Roberts of Boston represents the plaintiff, and Wm. J. Copeland of Great Falls the defendant company.

POLICE COURT.

SATURDAY, Dec. 18; Batchelder, J.

There was quite a rush of business at the police court on Saturday.

John H. Webber, for an assault on David G. Hunt, was fined $5, costs $6.90, which he paid.

John Lynch, Ira Swim and Charles White, for malicious mischief, (smashing the glass and sash of a window in a dwelling, while drunk,) were each fined $5, the costs, $11.86 in all, being divided among the three. Lynch paid, and Swim and White must do the same or go to jail.

James Haley, for drunkenness, was fined $3, costs $6.90.

James Haley, for malicious mischief, was fined $5, costs $5.76. This latter offence of Haley's consisted in his breaking of window glass in the police station, after he was lodged there for being drunk.

THE CHILDREN'S HOLIDAY SEASON.

Without the calendar, one cannot fail to know that the happy holiday season is at hand, from the gathering groups which are to be seen in and around the shops and windows where tokens of love and good will to children are displayed. The signs of advancing civilization are not more plainly marked, even in the mitigation of the doctrine which two generations ago was preached from thousands of pulpits regarding the terrible destiny of innocent little children, than they are to-day in the amount of wealth and ingenuity of invention devoted solely to the pleasures of the young.

Santa Claus is not only a great pleasure-giver to children, but an educator of the best type. To know things is often far more important than to know letters.

As the joyous festival of Christmas approaches, the express messengers have their hands full of business. They seem to imbibe an extra quantity of jollity, if that were possible, from the nature of the packages which they bear to the expectant children. They share the joy which they know will fill the young hearts of the receivers. It is a pleasure to enter an express car where jolly messengers are surrounded on every side with these joy-bearing packages. Here and there the character of the contents is revealed by the shape of the package. The runner of a new sled peeps out as it is gliding along to its future owner. A rocking-horse gentle rocks with the motion of the cars, as if impatient to reach its young rider; nodding its head its seems to say,

"I'm coming too
My little boy blue;
Take up your horn and mount your feather,
We'll fly away with joy together."

Pop guns, skates, velocipedes, and kindred toys are all there, bound on the same errand of joy to the rising generation.

Who would not be a child in these days of childhood's luxuries. Who, rocked and tumbled about by the rough waves that assail maturer life, would not for a time at least exchange wisdom and cares for the happy freedom of childhood? B.

DIPHTHERIA.

For several weeks past reports have gone out from this city that the community was severely suffering from that dreadful scourge, diphtheria, High street being cited as having a dozen cases of the malady. These reports have been copied by the press far and near, much to the prejudice of our fair and healthy city. During the past week no less than a dozen invitations to friends out of the city to spend Christmas here, have been declined because of this epidemic supposed to exist in our midst.

We have taken some pains to investigate these stories, and gather from our most skillful physicians that there have not been a half-dozen cases of diphtheria in our city for six months, and no fatal cases in that time. The High street story is the merest bosh; but one case on that street could possibly be tortured into calling it diphtheria—and that one was not. There is but one case of diphtheria known in our city at the present writing, and that is a young man of eighteen who is doing well, with no immediate prospect of passing in his checks.

We urge our friends out of the city to have no fear to come among us. No city in New England is more free from infectious diseases than this, and none more healthy. B.

THE CHANCES OF REBUILDING.

The committee of gentlemen who conferred with the directors of the Kearsarge mills in Boston on Saturday, found that the directors were impressed with the idea that Portsmouth could not get on unless the mill was rebuilt. The directors wanted to know if the property would be exempted from taxation, and how much stock in a new company would be taken at Portsmouth. The committee hinted to the other party that one mechanical enterprise which had recently come into existence at Portsmouth was circulating a thousand dollars each month more than the Kearsarge mills paid for their labor, and that the property was paying a reasonable dividend to shareholders. The fact that a meeting was held so soon after the fire in Portsmouth seemed to have impressed the mill people with an idea that the rebuilding of the mill was a question of life or death with the place. There could have been no such purpose in the mind of any reflecting person. The meeting was intended simply as a means of expressing the readiness of our people to lend a helping hand to restore that which was lost. It had this extent, no more. It was regarded by many sound thinking men as entirely premature in its effect, and by shrewd business men as an ill-advised step for the citizens to make the first move. And we infer that the chances for rebuilding the mill, or selling the real estate and debris, will be governed now solely by the interests of the stockholders of the company.

YORK COUNTY AFFAIRS.

The Biddeford Journal says that "Society is agitated at the prospective marriage of Hon. N. G. Marshall and Miss Mary A. Talpey of Cape Neddick."

The Free Baptists of New England some time ago appointed a committee of fifteen to select a site for a summer resort for the denomination. This committee, or at least a number of its members, visited several localities in New England, and finally went to Old Orchard. After the visit they held a meeting at the Boston & Maine station in Portland, and there voted to purchase the farm adjoining the Googins farm at Old Orchard. The selection is considered an admirable one. The site is convenient to railroad facilities, with a fine prospect of the ocean, and all the advantages resulting from a seaside resort. It is expected that a large pavilion will be erected, and a village of at least 400 cottages. It is thought that $40,000 will be expended in improving the property.

A Caution to Horsemen.

A surgeon in the German army calls the attention of all who have to do with horses to the danger of using the pocket handkerchief to wipe away any foam from the mouth or nose of a horse which may have been thrown upon their clothes. Some months ago, the writer states, an officer came to him, suffering from an obstinate cold and cough. The usual remedies were prescribed, but in vain; a visit to the hands of Reichenhall also did the patient no good. Returning to duty, the officer became worse; fever, attended with great pain and swelling of the head, set in, and ultimately, after much suffering, he died with every symptom of glanders. Inquiries were set on foot, and it was found that some time before he was taken ill he ordered a horse which he believed was suffering from glanders, to be shot. Neither the groom nor any of the other soldiers who had been near the horse have been attacked by glanders, consequently it is suspected that the officer who died may have conveyed the disease into his system by perhaps using his handkerchief to wipe some of the foam from the mouth or nose of the horse from his uniform.—Indiana Farmer.

Horse Meat in Berlin.

In Berlin the average number of horses killed for food this year has been 450 per month, while last year it was 350. All the horses eaten are killed in a central slaughter house, and each horse before it is killed is carefully examined by two veterinary surgeons. At the present time the butcher pays about forty-two marks, or $10.50, for a piece of horseflesh weighing from 250 to 300 pounds, but hearts at forty pfennige (or about ten cents) a pound for the filet, twenty-five pfennige per pound for other pieces, and twenty pfennige for parts only fit to be made into sausages, and as horseflesh is naturally very dry, a good deal of it can only be utilized by being mixed with lard and converted into sausages, which are, it is suspected, largely consumed by persons who are little aware of what they are eating. In one or two other German towns the consumption of horseflesh is, in proportion to their population, even larger than in Berlin.

—This is getting to be a well-padded world. There are horse-pads, foot-pads, hip-pads, liver-pads, back-pads, kidney-pads, lung pads and stomach-pads, and it is expected that somebody will get up a pad for bald heads. As the Dutchman might say: "Dis is too pad."

—St. Louis hotel landlords now leave in each room a rope with a slip-noose all tied to it, and have rings fixed in the ceiling. They are sick of having the bedclothes torn up to make ropes for people to hang themselves, nor do they like the strain to come on the bedposts.

—Isaac W. Sprague, "the living skeleton," is now thirty-nine years old. He was until twelve years, a healthy boy. The disease of muscular wasting then came on gradually, and after a few years he was compelled to leave the shoemaker's bench, where he was working with his father, and seek some other mode of earning his living. He engaged himself with showmen. When twenty-six years old he married, and has now three fine, healthy boys. His height is five feet nine inches, and his weight forty-six pounds.

Old and young, rich and poor, all unite in testimony to the true merit of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. For over a quarter of a century it has proven itself a true, tried and trusted friend. Price 25 cents.

—A New York girl, while in a machine shop recently, had her scarf and clothing caught by an upright water wheel shaft, making eighty revolutions a minute, and was whirled about for three minutes before the machinery could be stopped. On being released she said that it was just like the racquet, only there are not more than six fellows in society who go so slow. —Boston Post.

How to Save Money.

In diseases of the kidneys, bladder, urinary organs, and lame back, avoid all internal medicines, and plasters, which at best give but temporary relief, and use Day's Kidney Pad, which will save you annually many times its cost in doctor's bills, plasters and medicines.

Amputation of the Leg.

The Old Family Physician at Fault—Dr. David Kennedy the Successful Surgeon.

Money is the universal necessity, and none but a cynic or a fool will affect to despise it. Mr. Abram Elsworth, of Port Ewen, Ulster county, N. Y., has realized this truth. His disease involved the whole of his thigh-bone, and the suffering was great and hard, not without apparent reason, to death as his only deliverer. His family physician refused to amputate the limb—saying that the operation would kill the patient on the spot. Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y., who was consulted, held a different opinion and amputated the limb. The Doctor then administered freely his great Blood-Specific "Favorite Remedy" to fortify his said patient against the system, prevent the return of the disease, and Mr. Elsworth remains to this day in the bloom of health. This gentleman's disease was the offspring of foul blood, and Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" purified the blood and restored to him the power once more to enjoy his life. Are you suffering from any disease incident to the same cause? The "Favorite Remedy" Your druggist has it. One dollar a bottle. Bear in mind the proprietor's name and address: Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y.

THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ESTABLISHED 1851.

In the late Presidential contest The Times has fairly vindicated both in the department of news gathering and in that of journalistic influence, its recognized supremacy among the Republican newspapers of the country. The principles which have guided its political course in the past will continue to direct it in the future.

The splendid success of the Republican Party has been due to faithful adherence to those principles by a united and enlightened interest of the best portion of the American people; their just and judicious application by the Republican Administration just elected will secure to the party a future as brilliant and useful as its past has been. To this high aim The Times will labor to contribute by conscientious discussion of current events, and by fair and clear exposition of what its conductors believe to be the best judgment of the party, unwarped by personal ambitions or narrow interests.

Among the general features of the policy of The Times will be: The Complete Establishment of a Sound Financial System; The Security of the Equal Rights Accorded by the Constitution; The Improvement of the Public Service; The Reconciliation, by Reasonable Fiscal Reform, of American Labor; Strict Economy in all Public Expenditure, Opposition to Subsidies at the Expense of Every Form; Definite Responsibility, Firmly Enforced, in Public Servants.

The Times will be, as in the past, be distinguished as an enterprising, accurate, and carefully edited newspaper. The acknowledged excellence and fullness of its correspondence, by mail and telegraph, from all parts of the world, will be adequately maintained, and its facilities for collecting domestic and foreign news will be expanded to meet the increasing demand of our time.

In the sphere of literary and artistic criticism, of scientific, social, and general discussion, The Times will address itself, as heretofore, to the appreciation of the refined and intelligent classes of the American people.

It will be lively without being sensational, aggressive without being coarse; at all times it will strive to be fearless and independent in the championship of the right.

The Semi-Weekly Times is specially fitted to meet the requirements of those who seek more ample details of current news and fuller instalments of the discussions of the topics of the day than the weekly issue. The Semi-Weekly has a large circulation abroad, and among the professional and mercantile classes, as one of the best organs at home. At the reduced club rates now offered to this edition its popularity ought to be greatly increased.

The Weekly Times, containing selected editorials on topics of national and general interest from the columns of the daily issue, with a concise summary of political, social, and foreign news, besides other features which recommend it to all classes of readers, is a paper admirably fitted to circulate in every portion of the United States. Its conductors will spare no effort, nor can they doubt, to maintain its well earned supremacy, but to make its popularity still more decided.

ILLUSTRATION.—At age 25 an annual premium of $16.91 will secure a policy for $1000, payable at death. By the same annual outlay and the ordinary methods of investment it would take 26 years, at six per cent compound interest, to save $1000.

Can any man afford to risk the chances of living twenty-six years to make a thousand dollars for his family, when he can secure the same benefit at once by taking a life insurance for this amount?

If he feels that he cannot afford to be without insurance on his house, which may never burn, can he afford to be without insurance on his life, which is sure to end sooner or later?

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office." EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

BOSTON, October 19, 1870.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1840, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you. Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

THE SUN FOR 1881.
Everybody reads THE SUN. In the editions of this newspaper throughout the year to come everybody will find:
I. All the world's news, so presented that the reader will get the greatest amount of information with the least expenditure of time and eyesight. THE SUN long ago discovered the golden mean between redundant fulness and unsatisfactory brevity.
II. Much of that sort of news which depends less upon its recognized importance than upon its interest to mankind. Foreign news is a specialty in THE SUN. It prints a continued story of the lives of real men and women, and of their loves, plans, loves, hates, and troubles. This story is more varied and more interesting than any romance that was ever devised.
III. Good writing in every column, and freshness, originality, accuracy, and decorum in the discussion of every subject.
IV. Honest comment. THE SUN's habit is to speak out fearless about men and things.
V. In politics THE SUN is with the party, political party, and equal readiness to commend what is praiseworthy and to rebuke what is blamable in Democrats or Republicans.
VI. Absolute independence of partisan organizations, but unwavering loyalty to the Democratic principles. THE SUN believes that the Government which the Constitution gives us is a good one to use. Its motto is "Use the Constitution to its utmost power the efforts of men in the Republican party to set up another form of government in place of that which it gives. The year before us, the year immediately following will probably decide this supremely important contest. THE SUN believes that the party to which it belongs will be with its people against the Rings for monopoly, the Rings for plunder, and the Ring for imperial power.
Our terms are as follows:
For the Daily SUN, a four-page sheet of twenty-eight columns, the price by mail, paid, is 55 cents a month, or $6.50 a year. Including the Sunday paper, an eight-page sheet of fifty-six columns, the price is 65 cents a month, or $7.70 a year, postage paid.
The Sunday edition of THE SUN is also furnished separately at $1.20 a year, postage paid.
The price of the Weekly SUN, eight pages, fifty-six columns, is $1.20 a year, postage paid. For clubs of ten sending $10 we will send an extra copy free. Address I. W. ENGLAND,
Publisher of THE SUN, New York City.

The Great Blood Purifier, Kidney Remedy and Mild Laxative.

WE, the undersigned, having used DR. CORBETT'S SHAKER SARSAPARILLA SYRUP in our families, and having examined the formula by which it is prepared, would cheerfully recommend it to the community as the cheapest, safest, and most efficacious of all the preparations of Sarsaparilla in the market. Its highly concentrated state, (there being in a given amount of Syrup twice the virtues of Vegetation Extract that any other contains, the care, skill, and attentiveness of its manufacture, are our guarantees of its purity and effect. MALT AND HOPS BITTERS

supplying a want which men of eminent ability have devoted years of study and experiment to find—a specific for Diseases of the Kidneys, Bladder, Urinary Organs and Nervous System—and from the time of its discovery has rapidly increased in favor, gaining the approval and confidence of medical men and those who have used it; it has become a favorite with all classes and wherever introduced has superseded all other treatments; in short, such is its surprising merits and superiority, that it is now the only recognized reliable remedy.

DISEASES OF THE KIDNEYS

are the most prevalent, dangerous and painful affections that afflict mankind, and as varied and insidious in their character, that persons often suffer for a long time before knowing what ails them; for the most characteristic symptoms are gradual wasting away of the whole body, pain in the back, side or loins, a weak, feeble, exhausted feeling; loss of appetite and dread of exercise; scanty and painful discharge of variously colored urine; inability to retain or expel the urine; minute shreds or casts in the urine; and, when the disease is of long duration, there is much emaciation and general nervous prostration

THE ONLY CURE.

We say positively, and without fear of contradiction, that DAY'S KIDNEY PAD is the best and only infallible cure for every form of Kidney disease. It is the best remedy for the relief of this complaint, and more effectual in its operation than any other treatment. By using faithfully and persistently no case will be found so inveterate as not to yield to its powerful remedial virtues.

STRONGLY ENDORSED.

We have the most unequivocal testimony to its curative powers from many persons of high character, intelligence and responsibility. Our book, "How a Life was Saved," giving the history of this new discovery, and a large record of most remarkable cures, sent free. Write for it.

DAY'S KIDNEY PADS are sold by druggists, or will be sent by mail (free of postage) on receipt of their price: Regular, $1.00; Special, for complicate cases of long standing, $3.00; Children's, $1.50. Address

DAY KIDNEY PAD CO., TOLEDO, O.

CAUTION. Owing to the many worthless Kidney Pads now making a sale on our reputation, we deem it due the afflicted to warn them. Ask for DAY'S KIDNEY PAD, take no other and you will not be deceived.

Daily Chronicle.

A STORY OF THE GAMING-TABLE.

(Concluded from last issue.)

She was very white, very fragile, but more beautiful than in the coloring of perfect health. A new expression, too, was in the violet eyes raised to welcome him.

"I am very glad to meet you again; she said gently, "I hear you have been very anxious about me. You were very kind."

Then words he had not meant to speak burst from his lips.

"Anxious?" he said. "Can a man, Miss Reyburn, perishing of hunger, hear of the famine without a shudder! I am presumptuous, you will say. It is true. What is my life, with its many settled pages in which your eyes could never look, that I should dare offer it to you? And yet, purified by your love, I would try to make it more worthy. Tell me—answer me. If I serve as Jacob served for Rachel, is there hope that I may win you? My darling! my darling! I love you! I cannot live my life without you! Will you not share it?"

Lower and lower dropped the lids, until the long dark lashes swept the marble cheek, while the sweet mouth trembled; but the momentary weakness passed as she spoke: "Forget all that you have said, Mr. Clayton. It can never be."

"You do not love me?" he questioned sadly.

Again that swift expression of pain swept across the lovely face.

"I shall never marry," she answered; "but," and in her low voice crept an almost pleading tone, "I need my friend very much, Mr. Clayton. Do not desert me."

"I cannot," he replied. "To desert you would be to desert the hope of one day forcing you to unsay those cruel words—the hope which will go with me to my grave!"

What was the barring between them? This was the question ever ringing in Harold Clayton's ear. As she looked when she pronounced his doom, so he had fancied she might have looked when the statue warmed into life. Since then she had been colder, more distant than before; but he had caught the momentary expression and transferred it to the picture on which his every leisure moment was spent.

He was thus engrossed one morning, ever striving to add new beauty to his almost perfect work, when a low knock at the door aroused him.

"Come in," he called, then bent anew to his task, without so much as raising his head until a low, laughing voice sounded close beside him.

"We were caught in the shower, Mr. Clayton, and I persuaded Margaret to seek shelter with me here. I did not dream she would find herself forestalled."

It was Mrs. Somers who spoke—the lady who had first presented him to Miss Reyburn—whose instructions he had unknown to her carried out.

"Margaret," she added, turning to the friend, "you have been sitting for your portrait and I not let me know. Why have you kept it such a secret?"

He had sprung to his feet in time to see the rosy tide spread over Margaret Reyburn's face.

"It was a liberty I took without Miss Reyburn's knowledge, Mrs. Somers," he explained. "I assure you I have never been so fortunate as to secure a sitting."

"Well, you shall have one now, and you must thank me for it," she replied, while Margaret turned away to examine the sketches and studies lying about in profuse confusion.

"Here are some sketches taken while I was studying abroad, Miss Reyburn," said Harold. "Will you amuse yourself by looking at them?"

"I will return in a few moments," interrupted Mrs. Somers. "Wait for me, my dear."

A word of expostulation rose to Margaret's lips, but too late. The door had closed behind the speaker. Silence fell between the two thus left behind, when a low cry arrested Harold's attention. He sprang to Miss Reyburn's side. Her eyes were fixed upon a little sketch she held in her hand. It represented a gaming-table, at one end of which sat a man, haggard, despairing, and by him a child, holding out to him a single gold piece, with a smile in her eyes, and seemingly a prayer on her lips.

"You would know the history of that picture," he said. "Let me tell you. Years ago I was in Hamburg. The gaming tables attracted me, and every night found me beside them, losing and winning according to the fortune of the hour. One evening the demon ill-luck pursued me. I lost and lost until I found I was beggared. Maddened, desperate, I resolved to put an end to my life, when some one touched my shoulder; a child angel stood before me and slipped into my hand a piece of gold. 'For my sake!' she whispered. The croupier's hoarse call warned me no time was to be lost. I staked the gold and won, but, turning to give her back her own, she had fled. When I arose from the table I had recovered all and more, but I vowed a vow to my unknown deliverer that I would never again hazard a dollar of the fortune I considered hers. I have never found her, Margaret. The child will never know her work, but I am not afraid to meet her, for I have kept my pledge."

"Harold"—it was almost a whisper, but something in the tone made his heart give a wild, joyous leap—"have I known you all this time and have you just found me out? It was this, Harold, which separated us. I dared not give my life to a man whom I first knew as a gambler. I supposed you still played, and I thought that to see again the expression on your face I had seen that night would kill me. Tell me, is it true? Have you never touched a card since?"

"Never!" he answered, solemnly. "And it is to you I owe it—and my life, Pearl—little Pearl, can you not trust the man who has been faithful to the child, to be still faithful to the woman? My own, you will not doom the life that you have saved?"

But at this juncture Mrs. Somers, opening the door, beats a precipitate retreat. Harold's statue has warmed into life, and, pressing the lovely lips to his, he thanks God that it is his breath which has awakened it.

Portsmouth Chronicle.

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 21, 1880.

Have We a Seaport?

It is said that Portsmouth is nearer the great west by direct line, than is any other seaport on the coast. Our harbor is accessible at all seasons of the year, and in every stage of the tide, for the deepest vessels.

Seaports seem to be going out of fashion. The astute person who once drew attention to the wisdom of Providence in making the deep rivers run by the large towns! would probably to-day have less scope for his admiration. Inland commerce is by rail, and the question of our coal receipts is one not free from doubts as we anticipate the probable future process of the carriage of coal.

Grain shipped from the west, as it finds its way through New York state, is received at the stations of railways reaching far west and north for this carrying business of foreign-bound freight. One prevailing idea governs the administration of the affairs of these great competing routes, and that is the economy of placing freight at tide-water. But, suppose we were to have grain brought to this port to be shipped; it would at all points meet inducements to be carried to New York.

Indeed, New England is far behind New York in this matter of railway cooperation. Take for instance the road north from Boston, which we join at Manchester. Until a week or two since, the traveller who took the train at the station of the Boston & Lowell railway at Boston rode but twenty-six miles before a new conductor appeared, and another engine drew him fourteen miles over the Nashua & Lowell railroad. This absurd arrangement, happily, has been obviated by a re-uniting of the fortunes of these forty miles of road under a lease. Then at Nashua, the train is taken over another road thirty-five miles to Concord, drawn by a third locomotive, and a new conductor appearing. So that in seventy-five miles, three sets of machines and men in charge were used. At Concord comes another set for sixty-nine miles more of rail to White River junction, one one hundred and forty-four miles requiring five hours and a half time, with consequential delays by changes. Now the Eastern road runs one engine and one set of men from Boston to Portland on its freight and passenger trains, 108 miles. The Boston & Maine road is eight miles longer, and changes engines oftener than the Eastern from a habit of belief that it is better not to run engines too long distances at a time; but what we desire to maintain is, that until there is some union of interests, one management stretching far out for the business of carrying grain and other western products to tide water, it will be useless to attempt to compete with the long-reaching iron arm of New York city, although Portsmouth is so much nearer Europe than is New York or Boston.

The Boston people seem to be engaged in developing regions remote from their homes, or speculating in the roads far off from the Hub. A sensible action looking towards placing the lines of railway between Boston, Manchester and the west, under a competent single system of management, would be of some importance to the trade of Boston and the New England seaports; and we all over this section of the country, depending upon the west for most of our supplies, could rejoice in the benefits of such economy, a result which perhaps long ere this would have been accomplished had proper means been taken to satisfy the people of the necessity of the measure.

News and Notes.

Fifteen lives were lost by the wreck of the British barque Nonantum at St. George's bay, Newfoundland. Six men were drowned by the capsizing of a boat; eleven others got safely on shore, but nine of them died from hunger and cold before help was found. The two survivors are so badly frost-bitten that they cannot recover.

Catharine Driscoll was put on trial at Cambridge, Mass., Monday, for the murder of Mary Credan, five years old, at Edgeworth last April.

The loss of life by the burning of Birge's wall-paper manufactory at Buffalo, N. Y., Friday evening, was not so large as was at first feared; fifteen persons perished, most of them being boys between fourteen and twenty years of age.

Charles Libby, aged nineteen years, was arrested in Charlestown, Mass., on Sunday, on a charge of stealing a watch valued at $70, and other property, from an old farmer near Bath, Me., some time ago.

At Lowell, Mass., Saturday afternoon, Joseph Bascom, boss shifter on the Boston & Lowell railroad, fell while shifting cars, and had his right leg broken. In the evening, at the same place, John Burnette, a freight clerk who was acting as shifter, fell and was also run over, his right arm and leg being so badly crushed as to render amputation necessary.

A committee of gentlemen who last week visited the Connemara settlement on the Minnesota prairie twenty-five miles from Morris, on their return reported the most terrible destitution and suffering among them. The colonists are represented as much more intelligent than has been made to appear, and their condition is not from any fault of their own, but solely owing to the blunder of placing them where they are at a time when they could not raise a crop before winter set in.

The Vermont Farmer says that a curious affair took place at Worcester in that state recently which was not to the credit of the parties engaged, or to the community. Two persons attended a prayer meeting a few nights ago and got into a dispute, when one stumped the other out doors, and a knock-down fight was the result. The victorious person returned to the meeting and spoke as if nothing had happened.

In regard to the present Massachusetts law for the punishment of drunkenness the Boston Journal says: "Two facts stand out prominently, namely, that the law has apparently fostered drunkenness instead of checking it, and that its execution has imposed a heavy tax upon the community generally. The law is one of several examples of loose legislation which our state legislators indulge in occasionally, and is an exemplification of the fact that too careful consideration cannot be given to the making of laws. The law originated in sentimentalism, and passed to a place among the laws of the commonwealth unhindered by that weighing of its merits which ought to test even the simplest measures before they are enacted. There will undoubtedly be a demand for the immediate repeal of the law on the assembling of the legislature." These remarks are based on statistics showing an increase of drunkenness, and a loss of revenue to the state of about $250,000.

The concert at Music hall on Sunday evening was a good one, and fairly patronized.

Large schools of smelts were seen about the wharves on Monday—rather an unusual sight at this season of the year.

On Monday the Rockingham and New Hampshire national banks each declared a semi-annual dividend of three and one-half per cent, payable Jan. 1st. 1881.

The county commissioners met at Newmarket on Monday, and went over the route of the proposed road in that town concerning which hearings have before been held.

"All the Rage" and "Joshua Whitcomb" will be presented in this city some time during the present season. These plays are among the best of their respective kinds.

The interior of the town hall in Newmarket has been put in attractive shape. A tower has been built, which is as uncomfortable in its appearance as the inside is improved and beautified.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin" at Music hall this evening, with Blanche Sherwood as Topsy, Romaine Sherwood as Eva, and J. F. Fanning as Uncle Tom. Tickets to all parts of the house, twenty-five cents each.

The rock-borers at the Eastern depot on Monday reamed out the hole they are putting down, at the lower end where it had taken a sheer to one side, and got the drill to work again in its perpendicular course.

Stock of the Eastern railroad in New Hampshire sold at 90.25 in Boston last week. New Hampshire bonds of 1894 sold at 120 1-4, and bonds of 1892 at 120. The prices of the latter securities would not indicate that the people "demand a change" in our state.

Schooner Unison, of this port, Matthews master, which arrived at Boston on Sunday from York, Me., reports that on Friday night, six miles east of Eastern point, Cape Ann, she passed a lumber loaded schooner full of water and in tow of two fishing schooners, apparently bound for Gloucester, Mass.

Hon. Lafayette Hall, state senator-elect from the Newmarket district, is at work at his bolt mill in Newmarket with orders enough to last till March. The senator has not yet donned the senatorial toga, but clad in overalls and jumper he works in his shop in the endeavor to recover a portion of the fortune lost by fires, and the reverses of 1873.

The schooner Union Flag, bound from St. John, N. B., for Philadelphia, was abandoned at sea Dec. 18th, the crew arriving at New York on the 20th per steamer Bristol City, from Bristol, England. The Union Flag registered 179 tons, and was formerly owned at this port, but was sold to purchasers at Portland, Me., some time ago.

A course of five popular lectures has been arranged, to be given in the Universalist church on Monday evenings, commencing Jan. 3d, and including "Glimpses of Europe," by Wm. H. Hackett, Esq.; "The lands of the Spaniard and the Moor," by Rev. Dr. G. T. Flanders of Lowell, Mass.; "The Yankee," by Rev. Chas. F. Lee of Charlestown, Mass.; "Life and scenes beyond the Rocky mountains," by J. H. Chapin, Ph. D., professor of geology and mineralogy at St. Lawrence university; and a lecture by E. C. Bolles, Ph. D., of Salem, Mass., date and subject yet to be announced. Tickets for the course, $1.00; evening tickets, thirty-five cents each; no reserved seats. Tickets will be on sale at Preston's store, on and after Monday next.

Smelts have appeared in Great bay in good numbers.

Several extra freight trains, with cars loaded with coal from the steamer Panther, went to Manchester on Monday.

The ship Granite State, of this port, Ross master, arrived at Melbourne, Australia, on the 4th inst., from Calcutta.

Housekeepers will find in our advertising columns to-day a very interesting message from Henry M. Clark, grocer and provision dealer.

TEMPLARS' ELECTION.

At the annual conclave of De Witt Clinton Commandry, Knights Templar, held at Masonic hall on Monday evening, the following were elected officers for the ensuing year:

Sir Charles W. Gardner, E. C.;
Sir Charles W. Norton, Gen.;
Sir Calvin Page, C. G.;
Sir John Christie, Prelate;
Sir Benjamin F. Webster; S. W.;
Sir T. E. O. Marvin, J. W.;
Sir W. N. Isley, Treasurer;
Sir James L. Parker, Recorder.

BOW MISSION SERVICES.

On account of an accident, the Saturday evening meeting was omitted.

The regular service Sunday afternoon was engaged in by a good audience, several seamen being of the number. The exercises consisted of a service of praise, scripture reading, and testimonies.

The reform club held a very interesting social service Sunday evening, Mr. James Marden, acting president, in the chair. At the close of the meeting five names were enrolled on the pledge. L.

RECEPTION.

Mrs. Dr. Ryder's class in the Sabbath school of the North Parish held a reception at Faith Home last Saturday, afternoon and evening. Over sixty packages were received, also a tub of butter, barrel of apples and two barrels of flour, the gifts of members of the church, and friends. In the evening the class gave a very interesting entertainment, consisting of readings, solos, and class-singing of hymns. Mrs. Ryder's class has remembered the home each year since it was founded in 1876; and it is perhaps needless to say that these gatherings are not only very pleasant, but of material service as well. On the late occasion groceries and cash to the amount of eighty dollars were received, for which we return our sincere thanks. W. A. L.

POLICE COURT.

MONDAY, Dec. 20; Batchelder, J.

Timothy Falvey and James White, for drunkenness, were each fined $3, costs $6.80. They went to the county farm.

YORK COUNTY AFFAIRS.

Chandler Lane, who last summer was proprietor of a hotel at Old Orchard, died very suddenly in Biddeford on Friday last.

Charles Sleeper of Kennebunk was fined $200 and costs by the municipal court in Biddeford last week, for selling liquor; he appealed.

James Veazie, of Buxton, was arrested last Thursday, charged with being engaged in counterfeiting. Metal and tools were found in his house. On Friday he was committed for trial.

It is reported that the Eastern railroad will build a station next season near the Ross road in Saco, about one mile and a half from Old Orchard beach. A line of coaches will be put on between this station and the beach. This will be a big thing for the railroad.—Biddeford Times.

On and after—for how long after cannot at present be told—Dec. 23d, the city of Biddeford will be well supplied with papers—one daily, three weeklies and two monthlies. The latest candidate for public favor is the Observer, a weekly to be published by Frank W. Roberts, Esq.

—A quiet man travelling a short time ago by rail in England was annoyed by the noise which two or three men in the same carriage were making. One of them had been telling tremendous stories about himself in a loud voice, and had tried once or twice to draw out the quiet man, but in vain. At last he turned to him and said, rather offensively, "I fear, sir, that our noise has rather inconvenienced you?" "Not in the least," he replied. "I thought," returned the noisy man, "that you did not seem interested by my stories." "Quite the reverse, my dear sir," said the quiet one; "I was very much so—in fact, I am a bit of a liar myself."

DIED.

COUGHS.—"Brown's Bronchial Troches" are used with advantage to alleviate Coughs, Sore Throat, Hoarseness and Bronchial Affections. For thirty years these Troches have been in use, with annually increasing favor. They are not new and untried, but, having been tested by wide and constant use for nearly an entire generation, they have attained well-merited rank among the few staple remedies of the age.

THE THROAT.—"Brown's Bronchial Troches" act directly on the organs of the voice. They have an extraordinary effect in all disorders of the Throat and Larynx, restoring a healthy tone when relaxed, either from cold or over-exertion of the voice, and produce a clear and distinct enunciation. Speakers and Singers find the Troches useful.

A COUGH, COLD, CATARRH OR SORE THROAT requires immediate attention, as neglect often times results in some incurable Lung Disease. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" will almost invariably give relief. Imitations are offered for sale, many of which are injurious. The genuine "Brown's Bronchial Troches" are sold only in boxes. Tu,Th&F,&G

Proclamation by the President.

Fault-finding is so seldom indulged in by those who use the medicines manufactured by the World's Dispensary Medical Association, that the President of that corporation, the Hon. R. V. Pierce, M. D., has issued a special request or proclamation to any and all persons, if there be any such, who may have taken or shall hereafter use any of the family medicines now made and sold by the said Association, in all countries of the world, and who have not derived full benefit from said medicines, that if they will write the said Association a description of their maladies the Faculty of the Dispensary will advise them with respect to the successful treatment of their diseases. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is guaranteed to cure all humors from the common blotch, pimple or eruption, to the worst scrofula or king's evil, and those virulent poisons that lurk in the system as a sequel or secondary affection resulting from badly-treated or neglected primary diseases. It also cures bronchial, throat and lung diseases. Favorite Prescription is guaranteed to cure female weaknesses and kindred affections. Extract of Smart-Weed cures bowel affections, colds, and all painful, rheumatic and neuralgic affections. Dr. Pierce's Pellets (little sugar-coated pills), are the little giant cathartic. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., or Great Russell Street Buildings, London, Eng.

Advices from Ireland say the state of anarchy and fear which now exists in that country is startingly illustrated by a declaration to the bench by the jury impanelled in one of several murder cases shortly to be tried, that they do not and shall not consider as binding their oaths to give a verdict according to their consciences, because a verdict of guilty would inevitably cost them their lives.

Liebig Co.'s Coca Beef Tonic.

Has received the highest medals at principal exhibitions, and is endorsed and prescribed by the medical faculty here and abroad as the standard tonic.

It embodies the nutritive elements of the muscular fibre, blood, bone and brain of carefully selected healthy bullocks, combined with the powerful tonic virtues of the Coca, or sacred life plant of the Incas, and a choice quality of sherry wine.

A New Yorker named Murphy has just been sent to state prison for four years for killing a comrade last fall by stabbing him seven times. The jury found him guilty of manslaughter, and the judge could inflict no severer sentence. Had he only stabbed the victim once, and not fatally, the law would have allowed a much severer penalty! By killing his man he actually reduced his own punishment.

The best blood remedy in the world is D. R. V. G. It will clear Ladies' complexion of pimples, moth patches and sallowness. Try it. Guaranteed by your own druggists.

George Edward, now in jail at Houlton, Me., charged with horse stealing, is trying the Tanner policy. He was committed in October, and during the last fifteen days has not partaken of food, and has drank nothing but water, of which he requires one quart a day. He threatens to starve himself to death.

Thousands of women have been entirely cured of the most stubborn cases of female weakness by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Send to Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, 233 Western Avenue, Lynn, Mass., for pamphlets.

In opposition to goose-bone, tree-moss and Vennor's predictions, a wiseacre at Harrisburg, Pa., promises a very short and pleasant winter. He had in his yard during the past summer and fall a number of land tortoises. These, he says, when the winter is to be severe and protonged bury themselves deeply under the ground. This year, he states, he notices that his pets have only gone down under the earth a short distance, and in several instances are barely covered; and he predicts that the winter will be a short one.

Naval Gazette.

Passed Asst. Engr. George B. Hunt is nominated to be a chief engineer from July 4th, 1880.

Capt. Francis A. Roe has been nominated to be a commodore from Nov. 26th, 1880.

Naval Constructor Samuel H. Pook is to be detached from the Boston navy yard, and Constructor Wm. L. Mintoyne transferred from the Washington yard to Boston.

The general court-martial to investigate charges preferred by Capt. R. L. Meade against Colonel Thomas Y. Field, both of the marine corps, assembled on Wednesday of last week at the Brooklyn navy yard. The charges are first for "conduct to the prejudice of good order and discipline," under which there are seven specifications, and second for "conduct unbecoming an officer and gentleman," under which there are five specifications. Colonel Field pleaded guilty to the specifications, but not guilty to the two charges, entering a demurrer on the ground that the charges were accumulative. The court ruled the charges valid, and in view of the pleas entered by the accused officer, refused to admit testimony except in palliation of the offense. The prosecution then closed, and the court granted Colonel Field until Monday, Dec. 20th., to procure a written statement in his defence.

BRIGHTON CATTLE MARKET.

For week ending Boston Journal.]

[Reported for the Boston Journal.]

Amount of stock at market—Cattle 2397; sheep and lambs 12-0; swine 15,380; Veals 75; number western cattle 1 24; eastern cattle 248; milch cows and northern cattle 325.

Prices of beef cattle per 100 lbs., live weight—Extra quality $5 87 @ 6 25; first quality $5 00 @ 5 75; second quality $4 75 @ 4 87½; third quality $4 @ 4 25, poorest grades of oxen, bulls, etc., $3 50 @ 3 75.

Brighton hides 8c per lb.

Brighton tallow 7c per lb.

Country hides 7½ c per lb.

Country tallow 4½ @ 5c per lb.

Calf skins 10 @ 12c per lb.

Sheep and lambs skins $1 00 @ 1 75 each.

There has be n a fair demand for beef cattle this week, and prices upon all grades have not materially changed from those of our last quotations. The quality of those from the west was a better grade than those brought in one week ago. Cattle cost higher at Lo ston, but the beef markets for the past few days at Boston would not warrant an advance to be paid by butchers for cattle which is for their trade. Quite a fair number of the best lots of cattle were bought up for shipment to Europe. The cattle from Maine consisted largely of milch cows and working oxen.

Working Oxen—The trade for working oxen was quiet and there were not so many offered in the market for sale as there was one week ago. We quote sales of 1 pr girth 6 ft 9 in, live weight 2600 lbs, at $155; 1 pr girth 7 ft 1 in, live weight 3100 lbs, at $153 50; 1 pr girth 6 ft 3 in, live weight 2100 lbs, at $70; 1 pr girth 6 ft 7 in, live weight 2500 lbs, $95; 1 pr girth 7 ft, live weight 3-00 lbs, at $110; 1 pr girth 6 ft 6 in, liv weight 2600 lbs, 1 pr girth 6 ft 10 in, live weight 2700 lbs, for $185 the 2 pr; 1 pr girth 6 ft 6 in, live weight 2300 lbs, at $90.

Milch Cows—Extra $45 @ 65; ordinary $20 @ 45; springers $18 @50 per head. We quote sales of 2 springers at $40 each; 1 do $37; 1 do $36; 3 do $50; 3 do $33 each; 2 milch cows $35 each; 1 do $70; 1 cow and calf $50; 5 springer $20 @ 4 each; 2 do $70; 1 do $38.

Store Cattle—Not much call for them and few in market. Nearly all the small cattle that were in a fair condition were sold for beef.

Sheep and Lambs—There has been a light supply brought in from the west, all owned by G W Hollis, and cost landed at the Abattoir, from 5 @ 9c per lb.

Swine—Prices same as one week ago—4 @ 5¾ per lb. L. W.

FELLOWS' Compound SYRUP OF HYPO-PHOS-PHITES

WASTING DISEASES

Loss of Nervous Power,

Are positively cured by FELLOWS' COMPOUND SYRUP OF HYPOPHOSPHITES.

As phosphorus enters so largely into the animal economy, it becomes par excellence the best vehicle with which to associate the other vitalizing ingredients of healthy Blood, Nerve and Muscle. In Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites are combined all the substances found necessary to insure robust health, and whereas it was invented with a view to supply every deficiency, it certainly has performed some wonderful cures.

MANCHESTER, N. H., June 12, 1880.

MR. JAMES I. FELLOWS,

Dear Sir: I wish to acknowledge the great benefit I have received from the use of "Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites." I have been an invalid for nearly two years, with a bronchial affection that had become chronic. In the fall of 1878 I had a physician eighty days in succession, besides the counsel of seven physicians. They gave me but little encour gement, some of them none. Last July I was advised to give your remedy a trial. I did so, and in less than one week there was a marked improvement for the better. I have continued its use from that time until the present, improving all the time, and I can truthfully say am more than a hundred per cent. better than when I commenced its use. I have increased in weight about fifteen pounds, and my cough, which was fearful, has nearly disappeared. I believe that if not, been for your Syrup, I should ere this have been beyond the cares of life. Very truly yours,

ALBERT STORY.

ILLUSTRATION.—At age 25 an annual premium of $16.91 will secure a policy for $1000, payable at death. By the same annual outlay and the ordinary methods of investment it would take 26 years, at six per cent compound interest, to save $1000.

Can any man afford to risk the chances of living twenty-six years to make a thousand dollars for his family, when he can secure the same benefit at once by taking a life insurance for this amount?

If he feels that he cannot afford to be without insurance on his house, which may never burn, can he afford to be without insurance on his life, which is sure to end sooner or later?

THE SUN FOR 1881.

Everybody reads THE SUN. In the editions of this newspaper throughout the year to come every body will find:

I. All the world's news, so presented that the reader will get the greatest amount of information with the least unprofitable expenditure of time and strength. THE SUN long ago discovered the golden mean between redundant fulness and unsatisfactory brevity.

II. Much of that sort of news which depends less upon its recognized importance than upon its interest in mankind. From morning to morning THE SUN prints a continued story of the lives of real men and women, and of their deeds, plans, loves, hatreds, and troubles. The story is more varied and more interesting than any romance that was ever devised.

III. Good writing in every column, and freshness, originality, accuracy, and decorum in the treatment of every subject.

IV. Honest commerce. THE SUN'S habit is to speak out fearless about men and things.

V. Equal candor in dealing with each political party, and with the men and measures that it is praiseworthy to rebuke what is blamable in Democratic or Republican.

VI. Absolute independence of partisan organizations, but unwavering loyalty to true Democratic principles. THE SUN believes that the government which the Constitution gives us is a good one to keep. Its notion of duty is to resist to its utmost power the efforts of the Republican party to seize upon another form of government in place of that which exists. The year 1881 and the year immediately following will be occupied with this supremely important contest. The SUN believes that the victory will be with the people as against the Kings for no monopoly, the Kings for plunder, and the Kings for imperial power.

Our terms are as follows:

For the Daily SUN, a four-page sheet of twenty-eight columns, the price by mail, post paid, is 55 cents a month, or $6.50 a year; or, including the Sunday paper, an eight-page sheet of fifty-six columns, the price is 65 cents a month, or $7.70 a year, postage paid.

The Sunday edition of The SUN is also furnished separately at $1.20 a year, postage paid.

The price of the Weekly SUN, eight pages, fifty-six columns, is $1 a year, postage paid. For clubs of ten sending $10 we will send an extra copy free. Address, I. W. ENGLAND, Publisher of THE SUN, New York City.

Daily Chronicle.

Chronicle Correspondence.

NEW YORK, Dec. 18th.

The condition of the stock market is peculiar. There is no doubt that the election of Garfield and Arthur gave a wonderful impulse to the business interests of the country, and enhanced values generally. Yet Wall street had discounted the result of the Presidential canvass, and after so great a rise in stocks, a corresponding depression was expected. Here again the public was at fault. Gold was pouring into the country, government bonds were going higher, and three per cent came to be the established guarantee of interest rates on undobted security. Millions upon millions came to this country from Europe for investment, and prices, instead of falling off, went higher. The increase in values is enormous. The overflow will find vent in new enterprises. Controllers of railroads are already planning gigantic schemes of consolidation, rivalling each other in the grand contest for power.

The absurd side of Wall street speculation is the fictitious values placed on non-dividend paying stocks and those of companies in the hands of a receiver. While there is cause for the rise in the granger stocks particularly, and in the stocks of the great carrying lines, there is no reason in the continued upward movement of the non-dividend payers. The market in these securities is in the hands of manipulators such as those who ruined the California mining market by the same processes. There are periodical breaks year by year, and with the supporters of these stocks no longer under the load, the "tumble" when it comes is to bottom prices. When will it come? Just as soon as these operators have disposed of their present holdings. The "lambs," or outside public come in, and little by little absorb them at large prices, and the manipulators are only waiting to unload.

Said a shrewd broker: "The time to buy stocks is when they are low, the time to sell, when they are up. When most people are buying, sell, if you want to make money. When they sell, you buy. Outsiders always come in when the market is at its highest, and stay out when it has struck bottom. Then they go away denouncing the tricks of Wall street. A man wants to use a little common sense on the 'street,' as in any other business. All new operators, small ones especially, are 'bulls'—but it is the 'bears' who make money. A 'bear' need not buy in his stock so long as he can pay the dividends declared on it, but a 'bull,' dealing on 'margins,' must pay six per cent interest, so long as he carries the stock, and then is wiped out completely by the 'drop' that is sure to come even to the best of the stocks on the list."

The stringency of the money market is artificial. With the January dividends, money will be easy. It must be invested somewhere, and then arises the harvest of the manipulators. Easy money naturally means a larger advance in stocks, but when the harvest is ready and the "lambs" are ripe, these upholders of non-dividend stocks will be "out from under," their pockets bulging with "realizations," and their hopes all turned toward "shorting the market" on the very stocks they have for weeks been sustaining. Then there will be "cold days" for the shorn "lambs."

Yours, G.

AS OUR REPORTER came along Water street last night, shivering with the chill night air, and drawing his overcoat tightly about him, he thought, "now is the time for colds and coughs," but if poor mortals only knew what a certain cure Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is, how few would long suffer, and then it only costs twenty-five cents.—Sandusky (Ohio) Register.

It is reported that Rev. E. D. Winslow, the Boston forger and swindler, has married a second wife in Buenos Ayres, and that South America is getting rather warm for him. It is further said that he has offered his first wife $15,000 if she will procure a divorce.

W. E. MILLER, of Bellvue, Ohio, says: I have been troubled with asthma, and received no relief until I procured your "Only Lung Pad." I can recommend it to any one having the asthma.—See Adv.

At Scranton, Penn., Dec. 18th, Charles Sickler accidentally poisoned his wife by giving her carbolic acid instead of chloral. She died in a few hours. Sickler has gone crazy over the fatal mistake.

"HOME, SWEET HOME" has been sung in every land, but no home is complete without a good supply of Adamson's Botanic Balsam, for the cure of coughs, colds and lung trouble. Price, 35 and 75 cents. New size, 10 cts.

Harvey Nichols of Charlton, Mass., seventy years of age, hung himself on Monday.

A food and a medicine are combined in the most perfect manner in Malt Bitters.

The Pension List.

The report of the commissioner of pensions shows that on the last of June there were 250,802 persons receiving pensions from the government. During the last year the list was increased 8,047 names, 19,545 new pensions having been allowed, 1,877 pensioners previously dropped restored, and 12,875 dropped. The average pension paid is $ 10.334, making an aggregate of $25,917,000. The payment of arrears, under the Rice act, began in May, 1879, and during the fourteen months next following there was paid under this act nearly $25,000,000. The total amount paid out last year was $57,-026,994.12, and nearly as much will be required the coming year. The number of cases in which arrears of pensions have been allowed up to Nov. 1st is 43,917, the average allowance being $360.15. During the last twenty years the government has paid in pensions, mostly to Union veterans, the enormous sum of $455,718,503.70. During the nineteen years ending July, 1880, 412,459 claims for invalid pensions, and 278,478 claims in behalf of army and navy widows, minor children and dependent relatives, were filed.

New Hampshire Items.

Hon. Ossian Ray has resigned the office of United States district attorney for the district of New Hampshire. Hon. Charles H. Burns of Milton is the probable successor.

The accident on the Nashua & Rochester railroad, Saturday, was more serious than was first reported. Mr. J. N. Flagg, the Cheney express messenger, who was in the car that was thrown from the track, had his shoulder blade fractured and his arm so hurt that it will be several weeks before he can resume his duty. Charles B. Tilden, Esq., who was injured in the same accident, will recover. He had a very narrow escape, and was supposed to be dead when taken from the car.

George Wilson died at Strafford lately, it is alleged from the effects of swallowing a live frog last July. He seems to have had a fondness for reptiles, as he is said to have once swallowed a green snake more than a foot long, and to have performed other like gastronomical feats.

Barron O. Dearborn of Woodstock was badly hurt Monday, his sled breaking under him while sliding down a steep hill, and throwing him upon his face.

Charles F. Tilton of Tilton, as a return to the citizens for naming their town after him, has erected a very handsome building, with room for a town hall, library, post-office and town offices, which he is going to present to the town. A special town meeting has been called for the 30th inst., to take measures for its acceptance.

A man named McGill, who was at work for Mr. Wheelock in Francestown, fell upon a hay-knife a few days ago and cut himself so severely that he bled to death within forty-eight hours.

Arthur H. Collins has been arrested at Fall River, Mass., on a charge of bigamy. He was married to Margaret Bresnahan in Manchester, in 1878, and on the 18th of last March was married to Mary Cronin at Fall River, where he has been at work for a year. A short time ago his first wife arrived at Fall River from Manchester, and made the charge which led to his arrest.

Political Notes.

There is a postscript to the Bayard-Conkling controversy. The Wilmington News gives interviews with a number of prominent citizens of Dover, Del., who say that they heard Bayard's speech and that the newspaper report which he denies as incorrect gave his words just as he spoke them. The name of the stenographer who reported the speech is withheld for the present, but he is described as a democrat and an enthusiastic friend of Mr. Bayard. It is said that the charges made by the Delaware senator in his Dover speech were repeated by him at Georgetown and Harrington.

The Kentucky democrats not only went across the river and voted in Indiana in November, but they actually elected one of their number, a citizen of Louisville, a member of the legislature from Clark county; whereupon the Courier-Journal remarks: "Our Louisville boys are carrying it too far. When they have voted early and often across the river they will have done all that is expected of them. They ought not to permit themselves to be elected to the legislature."

The Crescent, the organ of the Beaufort county, South Carolina, democrats, replies to some one who taunts it with living in a community ruled by republicans, as follows: "There is one thing to be said of the democracy of Beaufort county that unfortunately cannot be said of some others, and that is that they have not as yet learned to make one democratic vote count as five, and five republican votes as none. Nor have we yet adopted the system by which ballots are substituted in the boxes for those which were originally placed there. Upon these matters we are sadly deficient, which will account for the small showing we are able to make with 300 votes. For ourselves, we had rather be afflicted with years of republican misrule, trusting to the justice of our cause finally asserting itself, than to steal an election."

News and Notes.

An attempt was made Sunday morning, Dec. 19th, to wreck an express train with the pay car attached, on the Wisconsin Central railway about fifty miles from Milwaukee. A freight train passed first, and the engine was derailed. A brakeman was sent back to flag the express, and was captured and robbed of $40 by the scoundrels who placed the obstructions on the track.

President Hayes has appointed a commission, consisting of Gens. Crook and Miles, Wm. Stickney of Washington and Walter Allen of Newton, Mass., to proceed to the Indian territory, investigate the condition of the Ponca Indians, and report as to what ought to be done in the interests of humanity and justice.

Instructions have been sent to postmasters in Canada not to allow the Illustrated Times or Wild Oats, published in New York, to pass through the Canadian mails, it being held that they are immoral productions.

Dr. Levey of Westfield, Mass., who was horse-whipped by Mrs. Kate Davis on the street last summer for speaking in an uncomplimentary way of her, has, at the solicitation of the woman's friends, dropped the prosecution. They fear to have her return from New York for trial because, it is alleged, it is discovered that she committed bigamy at Hartford last July, when she married one Marks, a picture vender. She is now living with Davis, her first husband.

The U. S. S. Galena left Portsmouth, Va., on the 19th inst., for the Mediterranean.

The Cape Ann Advertiser reports the narrow escape of the crew of schooner David A. Story on St. Peter's bank, in the gale of November 22d and 23d. The schooner's anchor broke ground at four o'clock on the afternoon of the 22d, and such was the force of the wind and tide that she continued to drift, floating the anchor and 415 fathoms of nine-inch cable above the bottom of the sea. At half-past two o'clock on the morning of the 23d she was struck by a sea and capsized, lying with her masts in the water. There was only one man on deck at the time, who had his leg broken and was rendered insensible. Thirteen men were imprisoned in the cabin and forecastle, which were rapidly filling with water, until the vessel fortunately wore around and righted in from a minute and a half to two minutes after the accident.

PRESENTATION.

At the Haven school on Tuesday a pleasant little episode occurred among the teachers, which is worthy of mention. Miss Emma F. Johnson, employed in the primary department, was made the recipient of a gift from her fellow-teachers, in the shape of a beautiful volume, entitled "Indian Summer, Autumn Poems and Sketches." The book is filled with unique engravings, chromos of forest foliage, and elegant letter-press printing, that give it a most tempting appearance to the lover of art; and as it is a testimonial of the esteem in which Miss Johnson is held by her associates, it will doubtless be greatly prized by her. In this connection we may state that in Miss Johnson's departure for her new field of labor in Nashua, Portsmouth loses one of her most vigorous, faithful and painstaking teachers, and out sister city can safely congratulate herself upon the valuable acquisition thus gained. We are loth to part with such a well-tried servant, but must content ourselves with the reflection that the young lady enters a more profitable as well as a more responsible position, at her new post of duty.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT.

TUESDAY, Dec. 21st; Clark, J.

Murphy and others, libellants, vs. schooner Mary S. Hontvet.

In the above case a decree was ordered for libellants, with costs. The opinion of the Court was as follows:

The schooner Mary S. Hontvet, of about 72 tons burden, early in the morning of Aug. 21st, 1880, starting on a fishing voyage from Portsmouth harbor to the Western banks, got upon the rocks at "pull and be damned point" in the river.

Her owners, upon being informed of her position, went, some of them, to her assistance. While they were attempting to relieve her with the steam tug Batemen, she slid off the rocks into deep water, and began to sink. She had on board 100 hogshead of salt. The owners then went for another tug and attempted to tow the vessel to Newcastle, but could not do so, and she sank in the river with only her mast heads out of water.

In the afternoon of the same day she began to float; and to drift with the tide towards the ocean. The owners were aware of this, but made no effort with the Batemen or otherwise, to hold her, or to bring her to shore.

Late in the afternoon of the same day, Murphy, one of the libellants, having in charge a small schooner, called the Little Kate, which Mr. Tredick, one of the claimants, owned, proposed to Mr. Tredick to go with him in quest of the Hontvet. This Mr. Tredick declined to do. Murphy, however, taking with him Mr. White, another libellant, went to search after the abandoned vessel, with the "Little Kate." They found her about half way between "Whale's-back" and the Shoals, some three and half miles at sea.

She was on her side, rolling in the seaway, with her masts rising and falling, and the sea making a breach over her. There was a thick fog, with the wind to the S. E., some "chop," but not a heavy sea. After sailing round the Hontvet two or three times to find a place to "make fast" to her, Murphy and White succeeded in attaching a line to her mast head, and then anchored the "Little Kate" to hold her. They placed a light on the rigging of the "Little Kate" and commenced to halloo for assistance. Somewhere about midnight, the four other libellants, Gillis, Jameson, Byrns and Russell, came to the wreck in two dories, directed by persons on board a vessel in the vicinity, who had heard the outcries of Murphy and White on board the "Little Kate."

Gillis was the commander of the schooner Nichols, then in Portsmouth, and it was agreed between Murphy and White and these four men that they should go in and "come out" with the Nichols and help save the Hontvet, and share alike in the salvage. After they had gone sometime, Gilson and Campbell came to the wreck, and Murphy, anxious for the appearance of the Nichols, procured them to go into the harbor, and, to use his expression, "hurry her up." They did so, and came back, and reported that the Nichols was aground, but would come out as soon as she floated with the tide. The Nichols afterward came out as agreed, and they commenced to save the Hontvet. Upon consultation it was thought best to strip her, and that was done.

About daylight James Davidson went to the wreck, and he assisted in stripping the wreck and in towing in the rigging and masts into the harbor. Early in the morning of the 22d of August the steam tugs Ann and Batemen came to the wreck, but no assistance was asked of them and none was offered, or declined,—the Nichols not having then arrived out. She came out later. On the afternoon of Sunday, the 22d of August, one of the owners of the Hontvet having previously passed by her, on his way to the Shoals, without offering any assistance, or giving any directions or advice,—the steam tug Sampson came to the wreck, and Murphy hired her commander to take the masts of the Hontvet out of her, that she might "right" herself, and be towed more easily and safely. Not being able to pull them out, the Sampson broke them off,—and afterwards, at the request of Murphy, assisted in towing the Hontvet to Newcastle and putting her in safety on the shore, —the Nichols and Little Kate, and Davidson, assisting to tow in the masts and rigging, but being unable of themselves to tow the vessel without the aid of the Sampson. Murphy engaged the Sampson at a stipulated price.

So far as the libellants Murphy, White, Gillis, Jameson, Byrns and Russell are concerned, this is very clearly a case of salvage service, and is so admitted by the counsel for the claimants.

The main question is, what shall be allowed for the service? and this depends largely upon the value of the property saved. Upon this point the testimony in the case leads to no precise or very satisfactory result.

Mr. Littlefield, who was called to look at the vessel soon after she was brought in, says in his opinion she was worth, as she then was, $1500. He is a ship builder, and competent to testify; but his judgment is not conclusive, and tested by other methods of ascertaining her value cannot be received as precisely accurate.

Mr. Stimpson, another ship builder, and who worked on the vessel when she was built, says she was an "A 1" vessel; 72 tons burthen; that she cost when new $6500, and that in four years she would deteriorate thirty per cent, making her value at the time she went ashore some $4610.

But there was evidence that the cost of building vessels had diminished since this vessel was built, and that there should be a deduction on that account. Precisely how much the cost of building vessels has lessened does not appear, but Mr. Littlefield says he thinks this vessel could not be built for $4000 or $5000. This would show a shrinkage of from twenty-five to thirty per cent. Deducting twenty-five per cent on this account, from $4600, would leave the value of the vessel when she went on to the rocks $3450. Add to this sum the value of the masts, sails and rigging, and the value would approximate the value put upon the vessel by the owners, when insured, to wit, $5000.

Taking the value of the vessel when she started on her voyage as $3450, by this method of estimating, and deducting $344.29, cost of repairing vessel's hull after she had been on rocks, and been brought into Newcastle, and we have the value of the vessel $3105.71. From this sum is still another deduction which should be made, for the shrinkage of the value of any vessel of much size which has been ashore on the rocks. How much this should be in this case does not appear; not very large, however, as the repairs needed were not large, and the apparent damages small—say $300. This leaves the value of the vessel when rescued and bought on shore, $2805.71.

Between this valuation and the estimate of Mr. Littlefield ($1500), there is a difference of $1305.71. One is nearly twice as large as the other, and they can hardly be reconciled. If the one is too large, it is equally certain the other is too small.

There is still another method of approximating the value of hull when saved: The owners insured the vessel for $5000, and that was the value they placed upon her for insurance when wrecked. Mr. Tredick says "she was in good condition." He was willing to pay the premium for that amount of insurance. But it is now said, that valuation was too high. Admit that it was so, and deduct ten per cent for such over valuation, ($500); that leaves her value, with rigging, at $4500 —deduct $1500, for the rigging, which is its cost when new, as appears from the testimony of Mr. Tredick, and you have the hull $3000, when the vessel sailed. She was injured on the rocks to the amount of $344.29, as shown by bill of repairs. This leaves her value at $2655.-71. Deduct again $300 for injury to her reputation and market value, and you have $2355.71, the value of the hull as saved. This sum is not very far from midway of the others. If we add the three results, viz.,

Divide by three and we have an average of $2220.44. This is probably not very far from correct; and I have concluded to call the value of the vessel when saved $2200. The value of the other articles saved I find to be $550.00, making a total of $2750.

I find that the vessel had been abandoned by the owners, and was at the mercy and control of the wind and waves when found by Murphy and White; but I do not find that the salvage services was very dangerous to the salvors. I allow out of the sum of $2750, one-quarter part —$687.50—as salvage. Out of this sum I allow James Davidson $25.00 as salvor, and Frank Gilson $15.00, leaving a balance of $647.50 for the libellants.

I have allowed the salvors a little more in this case than, perhaps, I should have done, had the owners made more effort, or shown more anxiety to have saved their vessel than they did.

Tredick was the agent of the owners, and manager of the Hontvet; yet he allowed her to drift to sea without attempting to stop her, he refused to go with Murphy to find and rescue her, and did not see her again till she was landed on the shore at Newcastle.

Anderson, another owner, made his dory fast to her mast-head as she floated, and allowed her to tow him to the vicinity of Kitt's rock, and then he declined her further company, and returned.

Rider, another owner, on his way to the Shoals next day, saw the vessel, and the men on board or about her, trying to save her, but lent no assistance.

I do not find that Murphy or his assistants were guilty of any malfeasance, or of doing any damage, for which their salvage service should be forfeited or diminished. It might have been possible that the Batemen could have towed the Hontvet into harbor with her masts in her; but it must have been an undertaking of considerable risk and much difficulty. It would in my judgment have been more prudent to have taken the masts out, even with the Batemen to tow her in. If the Batemen had offered, or had told Murphy that he could tow the vessel in as she was, instead of a quasi threat that he would dispossess him of the vessel which the owners had abandoned and which he had found at sea, there might have been some ground for the suggestion that he unnecessarily damaged the vessel; but I think there is very little now.

Hatch for Murphy and other libellants;
Batchelder for Gilson and Campbell;
Page, and Frank Goodwin (of Boston,) for claimants.

Mr. Thomas J. Pettigrew, assistant draughtsman in the bureau of construction and repair of the United States navy, is ordered from Chester, Pa., to this navy yard. Mr. Pettigrew belongs in Kittery.

John Calvin.

At the Unitarian vesper service on Sunday last Rev. Mr. DeNormandie gave his third discourse upon the different religious sects, the subject of last Sunday evening being "Presbyterians and their representative, John Calvin." It was a scholarly review of the denomination which, the speaker asserted, numbered about thirty millions of members, and a just review of the stern and unlovable Calvin. Mr. DeNormandie's remarks concerning Calvin, and his able historical sermon, suggested to our memory the following tribute (?) to John Calvin, by the eccentric but eminently gifted genius—Wm. H. H. Murray:

"A hard, bloodless man was Calvin,—cool, clear and cruel; embodying the resources of mathematical calculation, and typing the least degree of generous human sympathy, which being posessed by one would still by the width of a narrow martlesve dim a man. His portrait, still preserved for the curious to see, is simple condemnation of his theology. A man of exactest instincts as to justice, but incapable of that mercy without which justic loses its divinity and becomes simply human, with a strong inclination to be devilish. A man of ambitious logic; egotistic enough to attempt to square the circle of Deity, and vain enough to live and die with the complacent assurance that he had done it. A man so puffed in his self-conceit, that he could conceive for years that his mind, and his alone, saw the perfect truth so that he was one with it, and might make law even unto death, as if he were indeed its sole vicegerent on the earth. A man who, therefore, could condemn his best friend—and the whitest-hearted saint of the time, Servetus the mild, the gentle, the good, the Saint John of his age—who could send such a man to the dungeon because he would not accept one logical conclusion which he, Calvin, deemed essential to his system, and then pass his head up to the block, which when fell—if cruelty gets award in heaven—brought down with it the wrath of all the upper world on the perpetrator of the dastardly and unrighteous deed."

Books, Magazines, Etc.

"On the Threshold," by Theodore T. Munger. Boston; Houghton, Mifflin & Co. The author, in a series of essays upon Purpose, Friends and Companions, Manners, Thrift, Self-reliance and Courage, Health, Reading, Amusements, and Faith, seeks to put into an attractive and practical form some suggestions regarding the main principles which enter into life as it opens before the young men of the present day in this country. This is not a mere book of advice or a general discussion of these subjects in the abstract, but the attempt is by a series of hints suitable for our day and generation to point out a course for adoption by young men who are to grow in the world. The suggestions are valuable and made in a good spirit, with some regard for the condition of affairs in which the young men of our day are placed. It is readable, and will be read, and let us hope productive of much good.

"The Lord's Prayer; seven homilies, by Washington Gladden." Boston; Houghton, Mifflin & Co. The homilies, we are told by the author, who is a prominent clergyman of the Congregationalist denomination in Massachusetts, but of a decided by liberal and broad type of character, were delivered after Mr. Joseph Ruskin's letters to an English clergyman (subsequently published in the "Contemporary Review") appeared, wherein the English writer asks, "Can this gospel of Christ be put into such plain words and short terms that a plain man can understand it?" and the more potent question, "How this gospel is to be preached everywhere to all nations, if first, its preachers have not determined quite clearly what it is?" The Englishman being assured that the Lord's prayer might be made the foundation of gospel-teaching, the question occurs, what does it teach? The Springfield preacher in his seven homilies upon the eternal Father, the sacred name, the eternal kingdom, the blessed will, the convenient food, the forgiving grace, and the great salvation, demonstrates the attributes of these divisions. Many sermons have been written upon the Lord's prayer, but these are fresh with liberal thoughts, generous and unsectarian, and will be found helpful in the better understanding and appreciation of the most beautiful prayer ever offered to the Giver of all good. For sale by W. G. Myers.

SAMUEL H. IRWIN, of Ute Creek, Colfax Co., New Mexico, says:—The "Only Lung Pad" has done more for my wife than all the gallons of cod liver oil French or American, she has taken, or all the doctor's medicine she has used.—See Adv.

Wesley Welch, of Fort Scott, Kansas, on Monday shot Charles Whitney dead in a liquor saloon. The dead man had induced Welch's wife to leave her husband and go with him.

Amputation of the Leg.

The Old Family Physician at Fault—Dr. David Kennedy the Successful Surgeon.

Money is the universal necessity, and none but a cripple or a fool will affect to despise it. Mr. Abram Elsworth, of Port Ewen, Ulster county, N. Y., has realized this truth. His disease involved the whole of his thigh-bone, and the suffering was a look of forward, not without apparent reason, to deathless his only deliverer. His family physician refused to amputate the limb—saying that the operation would kill the patient on the spot. Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y., who was consulted, held a different opinion and amputated the limb. The Doctor then administered freely his great Blood-Specific "Favorite Remedy" to afford tone and a length to the system, prevent the return of the disease, and Mr. Elsworth remains to this day in the bloom of health. This gentleman's disease was the offspring of foul blood, and Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" purified the blood and restored to him the power once more to enjoy his life. Are you suffering from any disease traceable to the same cause? Try "Favorite Remedy." Your druggist has it. One dollar a bottle. Bear in mind the proprietor's name and address: Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y.

THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ESTABLISHED 1851.

In the late Presidential contest The Times has fairly vindicated both in the department of news gathering and in that of journalistic influence, its recognized supremacy among the Republican newspapers of the country. The principles which it advocated in political course in the past will continue to direct it in the future.

The splendid success of the Republican Party has been due to faithful adherence to those principles, they appealed to the patriotism and enlightened interest of the best portion of the American people; their just and judicious application by the Republican Administration just elected will secure to the party a future as brilliant and useful as its past has been. To this high aim The Times will labor to contribute by conscientious discussion of current events, and by fair and fearless exposition of what its contributors believe to be the best judgment of the party, unwarped by personal ambitions or narrow interests.

Among the general features of the policy of The Times will be: The Complete Establishment of a Sound Financial system; The Security of the Equal Rights Accorded by the Constitution; The Improvement of the Public Service; The Emancipation, by reasonable Fiscal Reform, of American Labor; Strict Economy in all Public Expenditure, Opposition to Subsidies and Jobbery in Every Form; Definite Responsibility, Firmly Enforced, in Public Servants.

The Times will, as in the past, be distinguished as an enterprising, accurate, and severely edited newspaper. The acknowledged excellence and fullness of its correspondence, by mail and telegraph, from all parts of the world, will be adequate quarterly maintained, and its facilities for collecting domestic and foreign news will be expanded to meet the increasing demand of our time.

In the sphere of literary and artistic criticism, of scientific, social, and general discussion, The Times will address itself, as heretofore, to the appreciation of the educated and intelligent classes of the American people.

It will be likely without being sensational, aggressive without being coarse; at all times it will strive to be fearless and independent in the championship of the right.

No theories subversive of the principles on which the security of property rests and the existence of society alike repose will be promulgated in its columns.

The Times rejects all advertisements of lotteries, of quacks and pretenders, and of all other agencies by which the insidious poison of vice is disseminated throughout society. It will be in the future, as in the past, a newspaper especially adapted for family reading.

The Semi-Weekly Times is specially fitted to meet the requirements of those who seek more ample details of current news and fuller installments of current discussion than are furnished in the weekly issues. The Semi-Weekly has a large circulation abroad and among the professional and mercantile classes, outside of the large cities, at home, and its Weekly Sub-edition is sought for; this edition its popularity ought to be greatly increased.

The Weekly Times, containing selected editorials on topics of national and general interest from the columns of the daily issue, as well as a concise summary of the social, and political news, besides other features which recommend it to all classes of readers, is a paper admirably fitted to circulate in every portion of the United States. Its conductors will spare no effort, not only to maintain its well earned supremacy, but to make its popularity still more.

ILLUSTRATION.—At age 25 an annual premium of $16.91 will secure a policy for $1000, payable at death. By the same annual outlay and the ordinary methods of investment it would take 26 years, at six per cent compound interest, to save $1000.

Can any man afford to risk the chances of living twenty-six years to make a thousand dollars for his family, when he can secure the same benefit at once by taking a life insurance for this amount?

If he feels that he cannot afford to be without insurance on his house, which may never burn, can he afford to be without insurance on his life, which is sure to end sooner or later?

THE SUN FOR 1881.

Everybody reads THE SUN. In the editions of this newspaper throughout the year to come everybody will find:

I. All the world's news, so presented that the reader will get the greatest amount of information with the least unproductive expenditure of time and eyesight. THE SUN long ago discovered the golden mean between redundant fulness and unsatisfactory brevity.

II. Much of that sort of news which depends less upon its recognized importance than upon its interest to mankind. From morning to morning THE SUN prints a continued story of the lives of real men and women, and of their deeds, plans, loves, hates, and sorrows, with the more interesting and dramatic incidents, and any romance that was ever written.

III. Good writing in every column, and freshness, originality, accuracy, and decorum in the treatment of every subject.

IV. Honest comment. THE SUN's habit is to speak out fearless about men and things.

V. Upon questions relating to the public, party, and equal rights, THE SUN's habit is to praiseworthy or to rebuke what is blamable in Democratic or Republican.

VI. Absolute independence of partisan organizations, but unwavering loyalty to true Democratic principles. The Democratic party of our Government which the Constitution gives us is a good one to keep. Its notion of duty is to resist to its utmost power the efforts of those who in the Republican party to set up another form of government in place of that which exists. The year 1881 and the year immediately following will be years of battle for this supremely important contest. The SUN believes that the victory will be with the people as against the Rings (or monopoly) and the Rings for plunder, and the Ring for imperial power.

Our terms are as follows:

For the Daily SUN, a four-page sheet of twenty-eight columns, the price by mail, post paid, is 55 cents a month, or $6.50 a year; or, including the Sunday paper, an eight-page sheet of thirty-six columns, the price is 65 cents a month, or $7.70 a year, postage paid.

The Sunday edition of The SUN is also furnished separately at $1.20 a year, postage paid.

The price of the Weekly SUN, eight pages, fifty-six columns, is $1.a year, postage paid. For a club of ten sending $10 we will send an extra copy free. Address I. W. ENGLAND, Publisher of THE SUN, New York City.

DAY'S Kidney PAD

supplying a want which men of eminent ability have devoted years of study and experiment to find a specific for diseases of the Kidneys, Bladder, Urinary Organs and Nervous System—and from the time of its discovery has rapidly increased in favor, gaining the approval and confidence of medical men and those who have used it; it has become a favorite with all classes and where ever introduced has superseded all other treatments. In short, such is its intrinsic merits and superiority, that it is now the only recommended kidney remedy.

DISEASES OF THE KIDNEYS

are the most prevalent, dangerous and fatal affections that afflict mankind, and so varied and insidious in their character, that persons often suffer for a long time before knowing what ails them. The most characteristic symptoms are gradual setting away of the whole body; pain in the back, side or loins, a weak, feeble, exhausted feeling; loss of appetite and dread of exercise; scanty and painful discharge of variously colored urine; inability to retain or expel the urine; minute shreds or casts in the urine and, when the disease is of long duration, there is much emaciation and general nervous prostration.

THE ONLY CURE.

We say positively, and without fear of contradiction, that DAY'S KIDNEY PAD is the first and only infallible cure for any form of Kidney disease. It is the best remedy yet discovered for this complaint, and more efficient in its operation than any other treatment. By using faithfully and persistently no case will be found so irreparable as not to yield to its powerful remedial agency.

STRONGLY ENDORSED.

We have the most unequivocal testimony to its curative powers from many persons of high character, intelligence and responsibility. Our book, "How Life was Saved," giving the history of this new discovery, and a large record of most remarkable cures, sent free. Write for it.

DAY'S KIDNEY PADS are sold by druggists, or will be sent by mail (free of postage) on receipt of their price: Regular, $2.00; Special, for obstinate cases of long standing, $3.00; Children's, $1.50.

Address

DAY KIDNEY PAD CO., TOLEDO, O.

CAUTION. Owing to the many worthless Kidney Pads now offered for sale on our reputation, we deem it due the afflicted to warn them. Ask for DAY'S KIDNEY PAD, take no other and you will not be deceived.

Daily Chronicle.

An Appeal to Honor.

Several weeks since a prisoner was received at the Detroit house of correction who seemed determined to have his own way at every cost. In twenty-four hours he was in disgrace for obstreperous conduct, and he was no sooner out of one scrape than he got himself into another. He was locked up, tied up and punished in different ways, and the other day when he committed some new breach of discipline the deputy called him into the office in despair and began:

"John, how long have you been here?"

"Two months."

"How many times have you been punished?"

"About a dozen times, I guess."

"And still you are lazy and impudent and quarrelsome?"

"It isn't for me to dispute you, sir."

"I've been thinking over your case," continued the deputy, "and I have concluded to put you in charge of the smallpox hospital. You are too lazy to catch the disease, and too mean to let anybody else have what you can't. Get your traps together."

"Say, deputy," replied the man, as his eyes began to bulge, "this is the first time since I've been here that you have appealed directly to my honor. When I was ordered and commanded and compelled, I felt aggravated and obstinate. Now that you appeal directly to my sense of honor and duty, I shall cheerfully obey. I think I can paint more chairs than any three men in the shop."

"You do?"

"I do, sir, and I'll prove it."

He was given a chance, and he hasn't given occasion for reprimands since.—Free Press.

WORKINGMEN! Look to your interests and save doctor bills by using Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

—New York city has a dozen Jewish millionaires. There are a large number whose wealth ranges from $500,000 to $800,000, while at least 100 are worth from $200,000 to $400,000 each, and 10,000 are worth from $20,000 to $50,000 each. They own an immense amount of real estate.

The Toledo Blade

Say they are personally acquainted with the managers of the Day Kidney Pad Co., whom they know to be responsible and reliable men.

—Some fellow has discovered that there are 22,525 ways of spelling scissors. If he had been correcting manuscript for a newspaper he would have discovered that there are 900,000 ways of spelling the word in the English language.—Steubenville Herald.

Alexander the Great

wept because there were no more worlds to conquer, but the proprietors of Dr. Pierce's Family Medicines who have found it necessary to establish a branch of the World's Dispensary in London, England, in order to supply from that great commercial emporium these remedial blessings to foreign countries, where they are largely in demand, do not share the great conqueror's sentiments, as their conquests are of disease and have made happy not only the conqueror but the people who employ them. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all blood and skin diseases, scrofulous affections, swellings and internal soreness. Dr. Pierce's Pellets are the little giant cathartic; Dr. Pierces Favorite Prescription—woman's tonic and nervine—Dr. Pierce's Extract of Smart Weed, the great remedy for colds and all bowel affections as diarrhœa, dysentery and flux. World's Dispensary Medical Association, proprietors, Buffalo and London.

—A gentlemanly-looking fellow knocked at the door of a house in Providence, the other day, and asked permission to be allowed to shave himself, which was granted. He then asked for some hot tea and bread, for which he politely thanked the lady of the house, and then, after taking a careful survey of the street, walked rapidly away. He is supposed to have been an escaped prison convict.

What Mr. Pitts Might have Saved Himself.

Mr. Henry Pitts, of Kingston, N. Y., suffered from the presence of stone in the bladder for several years. Dr. Kennedy, of Rondout, N. Y., removed the foreign body by knife. Had Mr. Pitts and others similarly afflicted, used Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" in the earlier stages of the disease, the medicine would have prevented the formation of the calculus or stone, rendering a dangerous surgical operation unnecessary. Dr. Kennedy gave "Favorite Remedy" to prevent the return of the disease, and Mr. Pitts remains in perfect health to this day.

—You can excuse a man for taking a gloomy view of life when he names his child for a rich uncle, and the uncle allows it, and the day after the baptism goes into bankruptcy.

—The Middletown Press says: "The other morning a young lady of this village baked a cake, and after icing it set it in the cellar-way to cool. A few minutes afterwards she went to get it, when, lo and behold! it had caught a mouse by the tail. The rodent had evidently been enjoying a bit of breakfast, and while he nibbled the cake the icing had hardened over his tail, and he was a prisoner of war. This story is vouched for by the members of the family, who are among the most respected residents of the village."

Prevent weakness and degeneration of the kidneys and urinary organs.—Malt Bitters.

Portsmouth Chronicle.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 23, 1880.

A Change of Base.

John Kelly, the Tammany "boss," has published a long letter to the unterrified in which he denounces Tilden and his followers for treachery to the democratic party, and proves to his own satisfaction, by the figures of the returns from the counties where the election machinery was controlled by Tilden, that the great cipherer was the cause of Hancock's defeat. Yet just after the election this same Boss Kelly was as loudly declaring that Hancock's defeat was due to a gigantic scheme of republican colonization and fraudulent voting in New York city.

The Grange.

The seventh annual meeting of the New Hampshire State Grange was opened in Mirror hall, Manchester, Dec. 21st, and continued through the next day, with George A. Wasson of New Boston as master. Col Waterman Smith of Manchester delivered the address of welcome, which was responded to by Past Master Dudley T. Chase of Claremont. The master then delivered his annual address, which was followed by the reports of the overseers and lecturer. In the afternoon the treasurer, secretary and other subordinate officers made reports, after which the standing committees were appointed. The treasurer's report shows $1,115 on hand, and $1,000 deposited in the savings bank. Of ninety-three subordinate granges organized in the state during the past seven years there are now eighty-four working lodges, with a membership of nearly 15,000.

Congress.

In the Senate, on the 21st inst., the nomination of William B. Woods of Georgia to be associate justice of the supreme court of the United States was confirmed, with only eight dissenting votes.

There was a disgraceful scene in the House on the 21st inst. The House was in committee of the whole on the finance bill, when Weaver of Iowa, the late greenback candidate for president, and Sparks of Illinois, got into a wrangle, Weaver calling Sparks a liar, and Sparks retorting that Weaver was a scoundrel and a villain. Then the two men wanted to have a little fight, but were prevented by their friends.

On the 22d inst. Messrs. Weaver and Sparks apologized to the House for their [illegible] on the previous day. Both houses of Congress adjourned to Jan. 5th.

Mr. McPherson has made his count of the next House as it will stand at the organization, as follows: Whole number, 293; republicans 148, democrats 135, readjusters two; greenbackers eight. In this estimate New Hampshire is credited with three republican congressmen. Three of the greenbackers are democratic, and five republican.

Political Notes.

Gov. Foster has withdrawn as a candidate for United States senator from Ohio. This is supposed to render John Sherman's election a certainty.

The Solid South, a paper newly established at Memphis, Tenn., with the noted blatherskite, Will H. Kernan, as editor-in-chief, calls John Wilkes Booth "the grandest martyr of modern times."

Naval Gazette.

Commodore Wm. E. Hopkins is ordered to command the naval station at New London.

The sentence of dismissal against Major L. L. Dawson of the marine corps has been approved by President Hayes.

The Senate on the 21st inst. confirmed the nomination of Ensign William Winder to be a master in the navy.

New Hampshire Items.

A despatch from Washington says the New Hampshire delegation in Congress are urging the appointment of Chief Justice Doe to be a justice of the supreme court of the United States when Justice Clifford shall retire.

The Concord Blade, which was recently discontinued as a daily, has reappeared as a weekly, with assured financial backing for a year.

John Mason's barn in Atkinson was destroyed by fire on the 19th inst., with most of its contents. Loss between $3000 and $4000.

News and Notes.

Heavy snow storms on Monday night and Tuesday of this week are reported along the coast beyond Boston. In Washington there was eight inches of snow, and in parts of New Jersey, Virginia and North Carolina there was a heavy fall of snow.

Two men giving their names as Miller were given lodgings by Mr. Brown Riding, who lived in Monroe county, Miss., Saturday night, the 18th inst. During the night they chloroformed Mr. Riding and his wife and little daughter, robbed the house, and then set it on fire, burning it and its occupants. One of the demons was caught by a mob, confessed the crime, and was burned to death; the other was being hotly pursued, and if caught would meet the same fate.

While four men were crossing the track of the Pennsylvania railroad at Bristol, Pa., Dec. 21st, to get on a train of cars standing at the depot, they were struck by the fast line. One died shortly afterwards; the other three are very badly injured. One it is thought cannot live.

The British barque Nile, from Quebec for Cardiff, capsized at sea Nov. 22d, and eight men were drowned, including the captain and second mate. Two other men died after being taken off the wreck.

A dispatch from St. Johns, Newfoundland, states that further advices from St. George's bay give accounts that along the whole coast from Cape Ray to the entrance of St. George's bay the wreckage of large vessels had been discovered—large sections of the hulls countless spars of varying sizes, cordage, canvas and blocks indicating vessels of large capacity. Tens of thousands of deals are floating about in every direction. Some bodies have been seen from the cliffs above washing about in the surf. At another part of the coast a large quantity of wheat stowed in bags has been found in the land wash, but no tidings of a definite character have yet been secured. A search and relief party, consisting of seventy men, has been organized, well equipped with every means and apparatus required to succor any unfortunate seamen who may still be alive.

Granville Harroll, a negro who on the 18th inst. murdered David Simmons, a quiet, respectable old man, was on the 19th taken out of jail at Raymond, Miss., eighteen miles from Jackson, and lynched.

It is reported that R. G. Walden, chief engineer of the fire department of North Adams, Mass., has confessed that he recently set fire to a block of buildings.

Francis Trevelyan Buckland, better known as Frank Buckland, the popular writer and recognized authority on the habits and cultivation of food fishes, died in London a few days ago.

A Methodist minister of Virden, Ill., won a bet of $5, and preached a sermon defending it.

Out of a total of 130,000 railway employees in Great Britain and Ireland, 4,000 are either killed or injured every year.

Burnett's Cocoaine.

The Best Hair Dressing in the World.

BURNETT'S COCOAINE all its irritation, removes all tendency to dandruff, invigorates the [illegible] and has earned a deserved reputation for promoting the growth and preserving the beauty of the human hair. Ladies dressing their hair elaborately for the evening will find that it imparts a healthy natural gloss to the hair, and will cause it to retain its shape for hours.

COUGHS.—"Brown's Bronchial Troches" are used with advantage to alleviate Coughs, Sore Throat, Hoarseness and Bronchial Affections. For thirty years these Troches have been in use, with annually increasing favor. They are not new and untried, but, having been tested by wide and constant use for nearly an entire generation, they have attained well-merited rank among the few staple remedies of the age.

THE THROAT.—"Brown's Bronchial Troches" act directly on the organs of the voice. They have an extraordinary effect in all disorders of the Throat and Larynx, restoring a healthy tone when relaxed, either from cold or over-exertion of the voice, and produce a clear and distinct enunciation. Speakers and Singers find the Troches useful.

A COUGH, COLD, CATARRH OR SORE THROAT requires immediate attention, as neglect often times results in some incurable Lung Disease. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" will almost invariably give relief. Imitations are offered for sale, many of which are injurious. The genuine "Brown's Bronchial Troches" are sold only in boxes. To,th&f,&G

A Late Thanksgiving Memory.

Down in the old conservative city of Boston Mr. George E. Chipman, one of the well and favorably known firm of Chipman Brothers (dealers in gentlemen's furnishing goods), corner of Washington and Court Sts., made his devout thanksgiving with cause, as he had jokingly spent one dollar and bought one-half of ticket No. 83,194 in the November Drawing of the Louisiana State Lottery Company, for which he received from M. A. Dauphin, New Orleans, La., fifteen thousand dollars in gold.

AROUND HOME.

A western man enquires of us concerning Sylvester Buck, who did business in Portsmouth many years ago, and died a quarter of a century since. What says that knowing personage, "the oldest inhabitant?"

George W. Bell, of Dover, went to Boston on a visit to his nephew, William H. Bell, and the dutiful nephew showed him around, and it is alleged finally stole $31 from him in a saloon, for which he was arrested on the 21st inst.

C. L. Brown has over five tons of turkeys, geese and ducks to dispose of before Friday night, and intending buyers will do well to look at his stock and prices. A finer lot of poultry could not easily be got together, and the prices are very reasonable for Christmas time.

At Sweetser's store, No. 46 Market street, can be found many articles suitable for holiday presents and for use all the year round,—library and study lamps, and lamps of all other kinds, brackets, fancy fire-sets, bird cages, table and pocket cutlery, mats, sleds, and scores of other things both pretty and serviceable. It may be worth your while to call at Sweetser's before completing the list of presents you mean to buy.

The schooner Union Flag, whose abandonment at sea on the 18th inst. has been already reported, was built at Waldoboro', Me., in 1861. Before loading at St. John with the last cargo she was thoroughly repaired at Quaco, N. B., at an expense of $4000, and soon after leaving St. John she was ashore, but was gotten off and taken into Harrington, Me., where her further repairs cost about $600. There was no insurance on the vessel.

Buzzell & Son, in their store on Market square, display a very large stock of goods suited for the holiday trade, including almost everything to be thought of as likely to be kept in a first-class toy and fancy goods store—autograph and photograph albums, all sorts of books for the young people, fine stationery in fancy boxes, writing-desks, work-boxes, pocket-books, vases, toilet sets, dolls, games, toys in great variety, Christmas cards, and innumerable other articles. They invite an examination of their stock and prices.

The Newburyport Herald says: "No wild geese, it is said, have been shot at Grape island this year, an unusual fact. But very few have been shot in this neighborhood anyway." But very few were shot anywhere along this part of the coast, and very few were seen along the shores during their flight south, though fishermen informed us that they saw immense flocks of them flying over the sea, well off shore. A possible explanation of this may be that as the weather was warmer and less boisterous at sea than it was on the land at the time the geese were migrating, they took the passage by water as being the more comfortable of the two.

On Tuesday evening of next week the second entertainment in the Star lyceum course will be given, consisting of a lecture on India by Harry W. French, illustrated by the stereopticon, and by native Hindoo jugglers and snake-charmers. A Boston paper says these Hindoos are bright-faced, good-natured, wide-awake specimens, and are almost jovial in their constant, happy temperament. They are enthusiastic in all their employments, if only they can be kept warm and not crossed in their religious observances, and do not readily take offence or "miffs." They have recently passed through a "Feast of Sorrows," if that is the proper term for the Mahometan observance, which, beginning in November, lasts until the 12th of December, culminating on the 11th in a grand bewailment, so that throughout that day they would only roll about in anguish, tear their hair, and mourn sorrowfully, for some reason which no doubt appeared sufficient to them.

If you want a nice turkey or goose, a mess of sweet potatoes or a bunch of celery, you can get them at N. F. Gilson's, No. 27 Market street.

Mr. Charles E. Walker, (C. E. Walker & Co.,) proprietor of the coal and wood wharf at No. 4 Water street, intends shortly to put up a coal-pocket there especially adapted to his business, and differing somewhat from the one at Concord railroad wharf.

Yesterday afternoon a sad sight was witnessed on Third street. It was nothing less than two young ladies very richly and tastily dressed, staggering along in a drunken condition. It was a sight which any sober and decent person would not like to see. When they got to the Boston & Maine depot somebody recognized them, and they were conveyed home in a wagon.—Dover Democrat.

At the recent town meeting in Newmarket Messrs. Lafayette Hall and Samuel A. Haley, competing candidates for the New Hampshire Senate, were both in the selectmen's desk, Hall as moderator, and Haley as chairman of the board of selectmen; and although it is said that one man voted twice, it is to be presumed there was "a full vote and an honest count."

The new head of the signal service seems to have not yet got his weather eye open. He has given deep snows in Washington and all along from Virginia to New York; in Portsmouth sunny skies and pleasant days are enjoyed, while we wonder at the announcement of severe weather in more southern latitudes. But the fact that there are more pleasant days seen in Portsmouth than in any other seaport place on the Atlantic has long been patent.

POLICE COURT.

WEDNESDAY, Dec. 22; Batchelder, J.

Charles Medwood and Robert Olcsop, for drunkenness, were each fined $3, costs $6.90. For impecuniosity they were sent to jail. Another point of similarity between the two gentlemen named was that each sported a black eye, the left eye in each case being the sufferer; and that each one got his eye bunged by falling on the ice—so they said.

DIVIDENDS.

The Newmarket Manufacturing Co. pays a dividend of $15 per share, on the 1st of January.

The Concord & Portsmouth railroad dividend of three and a half per cent will be paid Jan. 1st.

CIRCUIT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES.

[District of New Hampshire.]

In the suit of C. Warren Brown, appellee, vs Alfred F. Howard, assignee of Hill & Carr, bankrupts, which is an appeal from the district court, Judge Lowell has handed down the following opinion:

This is an action of assumpsit to ascertain whether the separate estate of James M. Carr, a bankrupt, is indebted to C. W. Brown in the sum of $5544.26, or any part of it. It has been submitted to this court without a jury.

The case appears to be a very different one from that which was presented to the district court, judging by the opinion of that court, which I have seen. These cases are called "appeals," but they are considered like original actions, and all the proof is, or may be, gone into de novo.

The plaintiff, Brown, bought a piece of land in Chelsea, Massachusetts, at auction, at the request of Jeremiah C. Carr, who made the cash payment, and the plaintiff gave his notes and a mortgage of the land for the remainder of the purchase money, amounting to something over $5000. Prices have since fallen so much that the land has been taken by the present holder of the mortgage, at an agreed valuation of $1200. No writing was passed between J. C. Carr and the plaintiff.

Soon after the sale, though whether some few weeks or a month or more it is not certain, four other persons, to wit, James M. Carr and his partner Hill, and one Cheever, and one Dearborn, orally agreed with J. C. Carr to take four-fifths of the purchase, and thereafter the interest and taxes were paid in these proportions; but whether the bankrupts Hill & Carr were to take as partners or not is one of the disputed questions.

After a time, the mortgage and notes secured by it were transferred to the First National bank of Newburyport, the present holders, and Hill & Carr as partners guaranteed their payment. Still later, Hill & Carr and all the other parties failed, and one of them has died. The bank proved upon their guaranty against the joint estate of Hill & Carr for the amounts of the notes, after deducting the agreed value of the land, and offered proof for a like amount against the separate estate of Carr, but after argument they withdrew this claim, and made a settlement with Brown, the plaintiff, taking his note for the amount of $5544.26, and giving him an agreement that he should not be called upon to pay the note, but only what he might obtain in dividends from this or other bankrupts' estates. Thereupon Brown offered to prove this sum of $5544.26 against the bankrupts' estate, and the point to be decided is, whether he can do so. Brown was a trustee for J. C. Carr, (not the bankrupt,) and might, I suppose, have maintained a bill in equity against him for repayment. He could have no action at law, because there was no contract binding at law, but only an implied trust.

When J. C. Carr orally agreed to sell four-fifths of the land to this bankrupt and others, if the agreement was binding in equity, without writing, which is very doubtful, under the law of Massachusetts he could in equity require them to bear four-fifths of the loss or of the expense. It by no means follows that Brown could have maintained any suit against them. It appears affirmatively here, though not in the district court, that Brown had no contract or promise, of any sort, or any conversation look towards a promise with the bankrupt, and there is no evidence that he had with any of the four who were to buy of J. C. Carr. I am at loss, therefore, to see how an action of assumpsit or a bill could have been maintained by him against this bankrupt before his bankruptcy.

The payment which Brown made to the bank by giving them his note, was made long after the bankruptcy, and for the purpose of enabling him to make the proof. It is an indirect mode of drawing a dividend for the bank, when they have withdrawn their own offer of proof. There is no objection to this if there was a liability by the bankrupt to indemnify Brown, which has become absolute and been liquidated since the bankruptcy began. But I cannot discover that liability.

Besides, this debt has once been proved against the joint estate of Hill & Carr, and it can now be proved again against their separate estate only upon evidence that their copartnership guaranty was given as security for their separate liability. But the evidence before me, though not entirely satisfactory, is all one way—that Hill & Carr were to own this land as partners, and not as mere tenants in common. In the unsatisfactory state of the oral evidence the very fact that they gave their copartnership guaranty is almost decisive of this question.

H. S. Clark for Brown;
Frink for Howard, appellant.

YORK COUNTY AFFAIRS.

The schooner John N. Gamewell, of 535 tons register, has been totally destroyed by fire at Port Elizabeth, Cape of Good Hope. She was built at Kennebunk in 1873, and hailed from New York.

A correspondent of a Biddeford paper, writing from North Berwick, says the ice there is very fine; and from fifteen to twenty inches thick. We have not heard of ice of more than half that thickness anywhere else in this vicinity this season.

Speaking of the late purchase by the Free Baptists at Old Orchard, the Boston Journal says the farm includes fifty-four acres, cost $5000, and $5000 more will will be spent in improvements next season, and fifty of the proposed four hundred cottages erected. There are five hundred Free Baptist churches interested, with a membership of 34,000.

Frank Lowe, a commercial traveller, has been fined $20 and costs at Port Hope, Ont., for assaulting A. M. Wilson, editor of the Guide. Lowe had been accused in the Guide of running away with a girl of the town and passing her off as his wife, and on his returning to Port Hope he horsewhipped the editor, with the above result.

CHANEY. In this city Dec. 21st, Mr. Isaac Chaney, aged 71 years.

PERKINS. In Chelsea, Mass., at the residence of her son, George H. Perkins, Dec. 21st, after a week's illness, Mrs. Mary Perkins, aged 93 years and 1 month, widow of George Perkins, formerly of this city.

By the death of this venerable lady, earth loses one of its saints. Years ago, before old age had enfeebled her frame, her cheery presence and faithful ministrations were in constant request for the sick room, or in the care of the extremely aged or very young; and there are among our citizens of to-day not a few whose heads have grown grey in the years that have since elapsed, who still tenderly cherish the memory of the little lady who was ever so ready to add to their happiness or sympathize with their childish sorrows. Her heart overflowed with love and charity for all mankind; bad indeed a man had to be, for her to be unable to detect some good in him; and she was always ready to find excuses for the faults of others, though needing no such excuses for herself. Throughout a long and eminently useful life she was a gleam of sunshine wherever she appeared—an exemplar of Christian cheerfulness and trust; and the world is the better for her having lived. I. F. M.

☞ The remains will be brought to this city by the first train this (Thursday) morning, for interment in the South cemetery. Services at the grave.

HOSTETTER'S

BITTERS
There is no civilized nation in the Western Hemisphere in which the utility of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters as a tonic, corrective, and antibilious medicine, is not known and appreciated. While it is a medicine for all seasons and all climates, it is especially suited to the complaints generated by the weather, being the purest and best vegetable stimulant in the world.
For sale by all Druggists and Dealers, to whom apply for Hostetter's Almanac for 1884.

FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

Dr. Kennedy

Would make it understood that, while he is engaged in the introduction of his medicine (Favorite Remedy), he still continues the practice of his profession, but confines himself exclusively to the Office practice. He treats all diseases of a chronic character, and performs all the minor and capital operations of surgery. Parties living at a distance (except in surgical cases), by sending a statement of the case, can be treated at home. Address DR. D. KENNEDY,

Rondout, N. Y.

—The following notice is posted conspicuously in an office out west: "Shut the door; and as soon as you have done talking business, serve your mouth the same way."

Rectify Torpidity of the Liver,

Remove biliousness, dyspepsia and irregularity, and impart new tone and vigor to the system by Liebig Co's Coca Beef Tonic. Sold by all druggists.

Yellow, Dyspeptic, Nervous Invalids grow strong, ruddy, and healthy by the use of the Liebig Co's Coca Beef Tonic.

—The portrait of a pretty young lady by a celebrated painter was recently exhibited by her parents in their library, to a number of friends to whom they gave a nice little entertainment. When the portrait was unveiled a rival of the young lady said to the artist, "Did you say the plaint will last for generations?" "Yes, miss." "Then, sir, will you tell me how you mix your rouge and powder?"

D. R. V. G. cured me of dyspepsia and urinal difficulty. No one should be without it. Truly, A. A. HOWLETT, President Salt Springs National Bank, Syracuse, N. Y.
Guaranteed by all Druggists.

—A marked old tramp was arrested in Buffalo. When taken to the police station, and subjected to the customary search, he resisted furiously. His reason was apparent when $33,212 in bonds and money was found sewed up in his clothes.

Mat Bitters regulate, purify, strengthen and tonify the material functions.

—A man is frequently broke because he does not know how mend his fortunes.

A Mountain of Silver.

The San Francisco Chronicle relates the following rather doubtful story:

The captain of a whaling vessel just returned from the Arctic ocean says that while he vessel was lying in a small bay at the mouth of one of the rivers which empty into the ocean on the coast of Alaska, he, one of the mates and four men went up the river to catch salmon. At the foot of the hill, bordering on the river, they commenced fishing. While the sailors were engaged in this work, the captain and mate ascended the mountain, which appeared to be about 400 or 500 feet high.

Arriving at the top, they found what seemed to be the crater of an extinct volcano; and around were evidences that at one time there had been a terrible eruption. In the crater itself the captain noticed that the rocks resembled congealed iron after it had been melted, and undertook to knock off a piece, but could not do it, as it bended, and did not break with his repeated blows with the head of a boat-axe. He then struck it with the blade of the axe, and actually chopped it off. He saw that the substance was as soft as lead, but did not shine. He determined to bring it to San Francisco and have it assayed. One of the natives also brought with him a piece of rock about twelve inches long by six inches thick, which weighed forty-eight pounds, and sparkled with gold, stating that he had found it near another hill further up the river, and that such rock was plenty there.

When the vessel arrived in port, the captain told his story to a gentleman living in Oakland, and the specimens were handed over to him for the purpose of having proper assays made. This was done, and the piece which the captain chopped off the top of the hill with the axe went $6000 per ton in silver, and the loose rocks picked up on the side of the hill went as high as $275, silver, per ton.

It seems, then, that this hill is a mountain of silver, and that it is only the beginning of vast discoveries which will soon be made in Alaska, which may yet become the El Dorado to which thousands will rush.

White Horse Shares.

A New Yorker was seated in an office in Gunnison City one day not long ago, when a grizzly-looking old chap entered and asked if that was the place where they sold shares of the White Horse Silver mine. Being assured he was in the office of the company, he observed:

"I have heard the White Horse spoken of as being a likely mine."

"It certainly is. We took $10,000 worth of ore out in one day."

"Phew! She must be just old richness! How many men have ye got to work?"

"Oh, about three hundred."

"Have ye, though? Are the sheers going off purty lively?"

"Shares are selling like hot cakes, and we have only a few left. Everybody says the White Horse is a big investment."

"What are sheers worth to-day?"

"I will sell you at ninety-five, though I know they will be worth face value to-morrow."

"No! You don't really mean ninety-five?"

"I do."

"Well, that's better; there's a hundred sheers which you sold my pard yesterday for twenty dollars. I went over to the mine, found nothing but a hole and a dead mule, and I told him I'd come up and get his money back or do some shooting! I'm tarnal glad to find them sheers has riz from twenty to ninety-five. That will give my pard his money back, and buy me a winter outfit besides. Here's the sheers, and now let me see the color of your money!"

"But sir, we—"

"Pass out the cash!" said the old man, as he rested the end of his shooter on the edge of the counter.

The company had left his revolver in his overcoat outside, and he didn't believe the New Yorker would shoot for him. After a look around he began counting out the money with a bland smile, and as he made the exchange he said:

"Certainly, sir—greatest of pleasure, sir. Sorry you didn't hold them one day more, and get the full face value!"

—There will always be hairs where there are bounds.

FELLOWS' Compound SYRUP OF HYPO-PHOS-PHITES

WASTING DISEASES

Are positively cured by FELLOWS' COMPOUND SYRUP OF HYPOPHOSPHITES.

As phosphorus enters so largely into the animal economy, it becomes par excellence the best vehicle with which to administer the other vitalizing ingredients of healthy Blood, Nerve and Muscle. In Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites are combined all the substances found necessary to insure robust health, and who can say it was invented with a view to supply every deficiency, it certainly has performed some wonderful cures.

MANCHESTER, N. H., June 1st, 1880.

MR. JAMES I. FELLOWS,

Dear Sir:—I wish to acknowledge the great benefit I have received from the use of Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites. I have been an invalid for nearly two years, with a bronchial affection that had become chronic. In the fall of 1878 I had a physician eighty days in succession, besides the counsel of several others. They gave me but little encouragement, some of them none. Last July I was advised to give your remedy a trial. I did so, and in less than one week there was a marked improvement for the better. I have continued its use from that time until the present, improving all the time, and I can truthfully say am more than hundred per cent. better than when I commenced its use. I have increased in weight about fifteen pounds, and my cough, which was fearful, has nearly disappeared. I believe had it not been for your Syrup, I should ere this have been beyond the cares of life. Very truly yours,

ALBERT STORY.

ILLUSTRATION.—At age 25 an annual premium of $16.91 will secure a policy for $1000, payable at death. By the same annual outlay and the ordinary methods of investment it would take 26 years, at six per cent compound interest, to save $1000.

Can any man afford to risk the chances of living twenty-six years to make a thousand dollars for his family, when he can secure the same benefit at once by taking a life insurance for this amount?

If he feels that he cannot afford to be without insurance on his house, which may never burn, can he afford to be without insurance on his life, which is sure to end sooner or later?

Amputation of the Leg.

The Old Family Physician at Fault—Dr. David Kennedy the Successful Surgeon.

Money is the universal necessity, and none but a cynic or a fool will affect to despise it. Mr. Abram Elsworth, of Port Ewen, Ulster county, N. Y., had realized this truth. His disease involved the whole of his thigh-bone, and the suffering man looked forward, not without apparent reason, to death as his only deliverer. His family physician refused to amputate the limb—saying that the operation would kill the patient on the spot. Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y., who was consulted, held a different opinion and amputated the limb. The Doctor then administered freely his great Blood-Specific "Favorite Remedy" to adjust tone and strength to the system, prevent the return of the disease, and Mr. Elsworth remains to this day in the bloom of health. This gentleman's disease was the offspring of foul blood, and Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" purified the blood and restored to him the power once mere to enjoy his life. Are you suffering from any disease traceable to the same cause? Try "Favorite Remedy." Your druggist has it. One dollar a bottle. Bear in mind the proprietor's name and address: Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y.

Daily Chronicle.

CALLED FOR.

Bessie Lynn sat alone in the wide, shady kitchen, busily engaged in picking over whortleberries. Without, the sunshine of an August afternoon bathed the green fields and dusty road that wound to the village, and touched with richer hue the nasturtiums and geraniums in the tiny garden, and the Virginia creeper that climbed and blossomed above the door. Bessie made a pretty picture as she sat on a low cricket with a big calico apron spread over her blue-sprig muslin dress to defend it from the stains that had soiled her little brown hands. She was a petite, and daintily rounded maiden of about eighteen, with great dark eyes and glossy curls, shading a fair brow and cheeks that had a touch of wild rose bloom upon them.

The kitchen, too, was such a pretty picture with its well-scoured floor and dresers, its asparagus-topped clock, its shining stove with bunches of herbs hung behind, and great bouquet of vivid cardinal flowers sat on the snowy table. The kitchen was perfectly still, save the buzz of the flies and the ticking of the clock; and outside the cricket and the insects alone disturbed the peace. Bessie believed that every one in the house was asleep but herself, and yawned somewhat wearily as she tossed over the berries, finishing the yawn with a bit of soliloquy uttered about half aloud. "Oh, dear, this having summer boarders isn't very pleasant!"

"Miss Bessie," said a voice in the doorway so suddenly that Bessie nearly upset her berries in her great surprise.

"Oh! Mr. Vane, is it you?" she said, bashfully, bending down to pick up a few berries that had rolled from her apron.

"I'll pick 'em up!" exclaimed the new comer, a tall and handsome-looking youth of about twenty-one, with merry blue eyes, short auburn hair curled closely under a straw hat, diving for the missing berries with ungraceful dexterity. "Yes, it is I, of course. Have you forgotten your promise to go for lilies with me this afternoon?"

"Oh, but I didn't say this afternoon, you know; only some afternoon this week," responded Bessie, demurely.

"Well, we'll call it this afternoon, won't we?" was the persuasive rejoinder, as the straw hat was tossed on the chair. "I'll help you. Lend me half that apron and we will have them picked over in a trice."

"But I shall have supper to get. Mother is away, and there will be biscuit to make," insisted Bessie, turning her face away to hide a smile that would curve her lips.

"Never mind that," responded Maurice Vane, [illegible] chair to her side. "Tea is at half past six, isn't it? [illegible] only half-past two. We'll be back at five, without fail, and have time to get half the lilies in the river," and he began to assort a handful of berries with much earnestness.

"W-e-l-l," assented Bessie, after a pause for consideration and a glance at the clock. "I can go for a little while, perhaps. Oh! don't stain your coat, Mr. Vane." But Mr. Vane was sublimely indifferent to his coat and worked with such good will that the berries were soon picked over, and Bessie and himself on their way to the river.

Five minutes later, Bessie with her draperies daintily bestowed around her, was seated in the stern of the boat, which, propelled by Maurice Vane's practical hand, shot swiftly down the stream. Although Mr. Vane said to Bessie five times within an hour, that it was a lovely day, and although Bessie assented every time, I hardly think they appreciated the beauty around them, for Bessie was quite absorbed in the lilies and their reflection in water, and Mr. Vane looked more at his companion than at the aspect of nature. They had enough lilies to satisfy them, and Bessie was leaning backward and idly trailing one hand in the water, when she suddenly uttered a little scream and sat erect with white cheeks, from which the color had been frightened.

"Oh! I almost lost it. How careless I am!" she exclaimed, replacing an old-fashioned ring, set with a tiny circle of rubies, on her finger.

"Did the water sweep it off your hand?"

"I suppose so. It's too large for me. I'm always losing it and finding it again. I wouldn't lose it entirely for the world, because it used to be grandmother's. She gave it to me."

"What a curious old ring it is!" said Mr. Vane, without interest. "May I look at it?" Don't trouble yourself to take it off, he said, drawing in his oars and leaning toward his companion.

Bessie allowed her tiny brown hand to lie in his aristocratic white one a moment, then coquettishly withdrew it. "Isn't it pretty?" she enquired, archly.

"Very pretty. Shall I tell you how to guard against losing it in the future?"

"Oh, yes, if you please."

"Well, wear this little ring of mine to guard it, or better yet, exchange with me. Give me yours and take this instead," said the young man, daringly.

Bessie looked at the heavy chased gold ring he held out to her, then looked back at the water with an innocent "Oh, I don't think it would fit!"

"Try it," suggested her companion, softly.

Bessie shook her head, but finally agreed, blushingly, that it would be no harm to try, and slipped the ring on her forefinger.

"It's a perfect fit," cried Mr. Vane, delightedly; "nothing can be better. Why, Miss Bessie, you surely don't mean to give it back?"

"Of course I do," was the saucy rejoinder. "Why not?"

"Because," said Mr. Vane, speaking earnestly and disregarding his fears altogether, while he tried to get a glimpse of the face hidden by the flat hat, "because I meant to ask you to wear it for my sake. I meant to ask you—"

"Oh, Mr. Vane," cried his listener, "do you see that lily on your left? Won't you get it for me?"

"I'll get that and twenty others if you will listen to me first. Do you care for me? Will you marry me?"

Bessie's head was turned away, and her head bent lower. A crimson flush stole over her ears, neck and chin. "Bessie;" no answer. Her companion leaned over and took her hand, venturously.

"Bessie, will you wear the ring?" he questioned, softly. But the hand was hastily drawn away; a pair of saucy black eyes flashed into his own, and Bessie's merry laughter rang over the water.

"I'd rather have grandma's, please. I ought to go home, Mr. Vane, for I know it's almost tea time."

A despatch from London says that Mrs. J. W. Cross, better known as George Eliot, the novelist, died at ten o'clock on the night of the 22d inst.

The legislature of Vermont has passed a bill exempting from taxation buildings in that state erected and occupied by the Grand Army of the Republic.

The Bates college sophomores have put West Point to the blush by choosing as class orator a colored student, son of a former slave.

All the barracks in Ireland are being made ready for English troops, which it is thought will be required to prevent general murder.

While walking to her home on Madison street in the Brighton district, Boston, on the afternoon of the 22d inst., Joanna Welch, seventeen years of age burst a [illegible] and died soon after.

George M. Lord, a grocer in the Dorchester district, Boston, shot himself through the head on the 22d inst.

James W. English, the newly-elected mayor of Atlanta, Ga., was a rebel soldier, who gave up at Appomattox, and went into the city in May, 1865, with fifty cents in his pocket. He began work there carrying bricks at fifty cents a day, but is now one of the city's heavy men.

At Elizabethtown, Ky., on the 21st inst., David J. Carter and Bud Harrington, both farmers in good circumstances and highly respected, had a case in court, after which they had a quarrel, when Harrington fatally shot Carter. The latter's son ran home, got a double-barrelled shot-gun, and shot Harrington dead.

Newport, R. I., voted on Wednesday, the 22d inst., by a large majority to cede Coaster's Harbor island for a site for a United States naval training school.

A large number of cases of diphtheria exists in Buffalo, N. Y., and in one section the public schools have been closed.

The boiler of the steamtug Martha, lying in Christiana river, Delaware, exploded Wednesday morning, Dec. 22d, almost destroying the boat and instantly killing the engineer.

A train on the Carolina Central railroad fell through a trestle near Lincolnville, N. C., Dec. 22d, into a gorge fifty feet deep. The wreck took fire and was consumed, with a mail agent and one passenger. It is not known that any other lives were lost.

Hayden, who murdered his wife at Derby Line, Vt., several years ago, has been reprieved until the last Friday in February. He was sentenced to be hanged Jan. 7th.

Mrs. Susan Jackson, the widow of the man who shot Col. Ellsworth at the Marshal house, Alexandria, Va., at the beginning of the war, died a few days since, after a brief illness, in Fairfax county.

The iron pier at Long Branch, N. J., was damaged to the amount of $30,000 by the recent storm. Over thirty of the iron columns were carried away. The snow was so heavy and badly drifted that the roads in the vicinity were rendered almost impassable.

Neil McGrew, a worthless fellow recently discharged from prison, on the night of the 21st inst. went to the house of his respectable married sister in New York, and was so abusive that her husband ordered him off the premises. McGrew picked up a lighted kerosene lamp and struck his sister, setting her on fire and fatally burning her. The ruffian escaped.

Cazrad, a noted runner of Montana, was recently killed at Denver, Col. It seems he had entered into a match race of eighty yards with a man whom he knew he could defeat, and on the strength of this knowledge he induced a friend to back him to the extent of $1,800. At the same time he entered into a counter-plot to lose the race to his opponent by affecting to be taken ill at the forty yard post. His backer then shot him.

Complete census returns from Utah show the population of that territory to be 142,907. Of this number 74,671 are males and 69,436 females; 99,794 are natives of the United States, and 43,933 are of foreign birth.

It is expected that the Louisana sugar crop will reach 225,000 hogsheads, which is the largest for twenty years.

A band of Spiritualists digging for gold two miles south of Albion, N. Y., under the direction of a Rochester medium, claim to have found many curious articles, including Masonic emblems and a bird engraved on finely cut stone.

Charles Jones was arrested, a few days ago, for shooting a young woman of Charlottesville, Va., and was committed to jail to await the action of the grand jury. After his examination, Jones remarked that he would rather die than to go before the grand jury, and on Saturday evening committed suicide. The woman he shot has so far recovered as to walk about.

The ice harvest is in progress at all points on the Hudson river north of Catskill, and ice is being harvested ten inches thick and of excellent quality. The houses are about one-third full.

The school board of Indianapolis, after experimenting for years with various heating apparatus, are now in favor of heating all school buildings with stoves in stead of steam, believing them superior in respect of ventilation and distribution of heat.

The company which has been founded for taking preliminary steps to ascertain whether a submarine tunnel can be made under the channel between England and France, from Calais to Dover, has at last succeeded in driving a shaft down to the depth at which the tunnel, if practicable, would have to be made. Although in the upper strata there was a good deal of water, there is no infiltration of it in the gallery which is in the solid rock. A second shaft is about to be driven, and the directors say that if no unforseen obstacle arises the tunnel might be completed in four years.

Portsmouth was represented at the State Teachers' Institute held in Manchester on Wednesday and Thursday of this week by twenty out of the thirty-six public school teachers, and by one member of the Board of Instruction, the entire party giving the two days to the cause.

The schooners John Bracewell and C. H. Trickey, of Dover, from their earnings for the year just closing have declared a semi-annual dividend of ten per cent, payable at the Dover National bank any time before January 1st. If all floating property was as profitable as the two vessels named, American shipbuilding would need no legislation to revive it.

Hon. Amos T. Akerman, formerly attorney-general of the United States, died at his home in Cartersville, Ga., on Tuesday, Dec. 21st. He was born in this city in 1823, but went to Georgia a number of years ago, entering upon the practice of the law. During the war he sided with the confederates, but when the struggle was over he advocated full submission to the reconstruction of Congress. He was a member of the state convention of 1867-'68, and took a prominent part in shaping the new constitution formed by that body. He was attorney-general in Gen. Grant's cabinet during the latter's first term, and was a leader of the republican party in Georgia.

A week or two ago certain persons calling themselves "F. W. Raymond & Co." rented premises on Penhallow street, and got out handbills setting forth that they were ready for business as upholsterers and furniture renovaters, and would call at houses for articles of furniture which needed repairing, and return them in good condition for reasonable compensation. A gentleman informs us that they called at his house and took away a large easy chair to upholster, and after it had been gone a week he went to look for it, and found it, minus one caster and looking a little more dilapidated than when it went away, at the shop of F. W. Raymond & Co.; but the firm he could not find at all. He also says the firm forgot to pay their board bill ere they departed, and that they victimized a number of other people in the same way.

RAILROAD SUIT ENDED.

In the suit of the Nashua & Lowell railroad company against the Peterboro' railroad, pending in the circuit court of the United States, a stipulation has been filed in the clerk's office in this city dismissing the bill of complaint.

The suit was brought to relieve the Nashua & Lowell company from obligation to pay the rental provided in the lease of the Peterboro' railroad to the Nashua & Lowell company, which lease the latter corporation maintained was not properly authorized to be executed in their behalf.

The recent lease of the Nashua & Lowell road to the Boston & Lowell, corporations whose interests are identical, disposes of the question, and for the interests of the respective stockholders buries the hatchet which had of late been sharply brandished between the two corporations. Testimony had been taken in the case by one side, but the prospect of negotiations had caused the suit for some time past to be not in a state of forwardness. The public, with the exception perhaps of the lawyers, will be benefitted by this disposal of the litigation.

NETTING COD-FISH.

For many years, in the early days of the cod fishery, the only method of taking the fish was by the use of what are now termed hand-lines, to distinguish them from set-lines or trawls. At length trawl-fishing was introduced, to the intense disgust of the hand-liners, who declared that the trawlers would kill off all the fish, or at least thin them out to such an extent as to destroy the fishing business; but the use of trawls became more and more common, until now the hand-line fishing done is but trifling.

Recently we were informed that a new method of capturing the coveted cod-fish had been introduced, to wit, the employment of a gill-net, with which the trawlers were as much displeased as the hand-liners were with the trawls on their first appearance. This statement we were at first inclined to regard as a "fish story," but we are assured that it is true, and that cod-nets are in use by several vessels, one of them being the Northern Eagle, of Gloucester, Mass., with satisfactory results to the parties using them. The cod-net is described as by no means a costly affair. The cod keeps near the bottom of the sea, and in consequence the net is only made about three fathoms wide; the ordinary seine-twine is used, and the meshes spread ten inches, so that only the large fish are taken. One edge of the net is weighted, to keep it on the bottom, the other edge being buoyed up by hollow balls of glass; the net is set with anchors at each end, left out over night, the same as a trawl, and then hauled out at the first opportunity. We can see no reason why this plan should not work well, and no valid objections to its use. The mesh used being so large, the small and unmarketable fish (of which thousands upon thousands are killed and thrown away by the trawlers) will not be taken at all; and the expense of procuring bait, and the disagreeable and tedious job of baiting trawls, are avoided.

It is said that this plan is due to a suggestion by Professor Baird, of the United States fish commission.

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, regular meeting, Thursday, Dec. 23d:

Petitioner for the removal of obstruction on Macdonough street was granted leave to withdraw.

Matter of putting in a new furnace in the high school building was referred to the committee on school houses, with power to act.

Notice was given the board of the receipt of a summons from the supreme court in regard to the extension of Vaughan street. The city solicitor was instructed to defend the city in this matter, and the employment of additional counsel was authorized.

Adjourned for two weeks.

YORK COUNTY AFFAIRS.

George H. Adams of Biddeford and Hugh Wallace of Saco, leading and wealthy citizens of their respective places, and each about seventy-five years of age, died very suddenly on the night of the 22d inst. They were both directors in the Biddeford savings bank.

Work on the U. S. S. Lancaster, which is now undergoing repairs at this navy yard, is drawing toward completion, and she will probably be floated some time during February. The work done on this vessel is first-class in every respect, and she will be, when finished, one of the best vessels in the navy; and if we are rightly informed, the cost of the work on this vessel will be considerably less than the cost of similar work at other navy yards. It is intended, when this ship is completed, that she shall relieve the U. S. S. Trenton of the European squadron, now the flagship of Rear Admiral Howell.—Times.

The people of Eliot are much excited over an alleged case of improper punishment in one of the public schools, resulting in the death of a boy named George Knight, aged fourteen years, son of Thaddeus Knight of South Eliot. It is stated that Mr. Patten, teacher of the grammar school at Eliot Neck, on the 13th inst. struck the boy on the head with a book; that shortly afterward the lad was taken sick, and constantly grew worse until the 22d inst., when he died, as is supposed from some injury to his head caused by the blow from the book.

Books, Magazines, Etc.

"Motherhood." Boston; Lee & Shepard. New York; Charles T. Dillingham. This volume of poetry from the press of Lee & Shepard does great credit to the publishers in taste and typographical execution. It is neatly bound, and admirably printed on very nice paper, with wide, red-lined margin, attractive to the eye, and useful to those who like, as Coleridge did, to enrich their books by pencillings by the way. Fortunately it is not illustrated or deformed, as are many recent issues, by muddy looking pictures, that remind one of Hood's protest against being thus "cut up" and "engraved." Motherhood is a poem in parts, hymning the promise, advent, and blessing of child life to the mother. It comes from the pen of a lady who has contributed beautiful occasional poems to literature; and who is herself a noble specimen of womanhood and motherhood, and well known in some circles for high aspirations, culture and talent, and as an advanced educator both theoretically and practically. It commends itself to the noble army of mothers, and hence to every household, as showing the beauty and sacredness of human life. It is just in season for the Holy Birthday, so generally celebrated by friendly memories and generous gifts.

We have received the December number of "Hall's Journal of Health," one of the oldest and most popular health periodicals published. A new volume commences with this number, which has been enlarged by the addition of sixteen pages to make room for the "Miscellaneous Department," which will consist of carefully selected reading matter. Some of the best articles from the pen of the late Dr. Hall, founder of the Journal of Health, will also appear each month. Subscription price, $2.00 a year; $1.00 for six months. A sample copy sent by mail on receipt of twenty cents. Address E. H. Gibbs & Co., Proprietors of Hall's Journal of Health, No. 141 Eighth street, New York city.

Naval Affairs.

The following nominations for promotion in the navy have been confirmed by the Senate; Commodore Donald McN. Fairfax to be a rear admiral; Capt. John H. Upshur to be a commodore; Commander Edward E. Potter to be a captain; Lieut. Commander Augustus G. Kellogg to be a commander; Lieut. Albert S. Snow to be a lieutenant commander; Master Henry M. Jacoby to be a lieutenant; Lieut. Commander James A. Sands to be a commander; Lieutenant George A. Reiter to be a lieutenant commander.

Gath's Tribute to Gen. Grant.

"The suggestion of President Hayes, giving Grant a military rank and pay," writes Gath, "is in deference to that all but universal sentiment prevailing among the American people to give Gen. Grant no excuse for seeking any more offices, and recognize him as the principal citizen of the country. He does not belong to that rank, the other members of which are all dead—to the rank of Lincoln, John Brown, Gliddings, Garrison—those children of nature, whose part in public life came to them so quietly that something pathetic attaches to it. Grant has not every element of an ideal hero, but where he is wanting he is sometimes more interesting than where he is complete. His crudeness, even his hardness, belongs to him so naturally that his greater qualities would not look so well if he were not both plain and practical. We get in his life a glimpse of his hard old father, of his keen-eyed, matter-of-fact mother, of the penury and misfortune that haunted his marriage, when these sons, now well-to-do, had hard work to get shoes to their feet. He had lost everything but his courage when the war broke out, and that grizzled, bony quality and hard texture of brain carried him past every son of fortune to be the supreme military spirit of the age in which he lived. Grant has confounded his enemies by growing a little better all the time. The bright and joyous part of most men's lives is their youth; but Grant has come into blossom late, like the stump of an old tree, on which the suckers grow and lift their shafts almost to the height of the perished trunk. Hayes could not have gone out of office properly without making this concession to Gen. Grant, and did it well and timely, and I believe that these two men have always respected each other, though Hayes on some occasions commented on Grant's errors of temperament. Grant gave over three years of his administration to the civil service reform, but he found that the self-constituted managers of that thing were always desiring to comment against himself rather than to strengthen the reform. Mr. Hayes has not spent so much time and pains to make civil service reform a success as Grant did."

FELLOWS' Compound SYRUP OF HYPO-PHOS-PHITES

WASTING DISEASES

Are positively cured by FELLOWS' COMPOUND SYRUP OF HYPOPHOSPHITES.

As phosphorus enters so largely into the animal economy, it becomes par excellence the best vehicle with which to associate the other vitalizing ingredients of healthy Blood, Nerve and Muscle. In Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites are combined all the substances found necessary to insure robust health, and whereas it was invented with a view to supply every deficiency, it certainly has performed some wonderful cures.

MANCHESTER, N. H., June 18, 1880.

MR. JAMES I. FELLOWS,

Dear Sir: I wish to acknowledge the great benefit I have received from the use of "Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites." I have been an invalid for nearly two years, with a bronchial affection that had become chronic. In the fall of 1879 I had a physician eighty days in succession, besides the council of several others. They gave me but little encouragement, some of them none. Last July I was advised to give your remedy a trial. I did so, and in less than one week there was a marked improvement for the better. I have continued its use from that time until the present, improving all the time, and I can truthfully say am more than a hundred per cent. better than when I commenced its use. I have increased in weight about fifteen pounds, and my cough, which was fearful, has nearly disappeared. I believe had it not been for your Syrup, I should ere this have been beyond the cares of life. Very truly yours,
ALBERT STORY.

☞ Do not be deceived by remedies bearing a similar name; no other preparation is a substitute for this, under any circumstances.

Life on the Ocean.

A portion of the crew of the barque Bristolian, wrecked at Anticosti on the 22d of November, arrived at Quebec on the 22d inst., and tell a fearful tale of hardship. The vessel left port on the 9th of November, and everything went well until the next day. Shortly after the pilot left the vessel, at Bic, nasty weather set in with rain, snow and sleet, accompanied by terrific gales. This lasted until the 22d, by which time the vessel became a complete iceberg. The ropes were frozen in the blocks, and the sails would not bend, so that the ship became unmanageable. During a fearful gale from the northwest, at about nine o'clock that night, the vessel struck ground. Prior to this, seaman Thomas Smith, aged nineteen, had been washed overboard and lost. As soon as the vessel struck, the rest of the crew made themselves fast to the rigging aft, expecting every moment would be their last. They were wet through, and benumbed with cold. There was no fire on board, nor any means of making one, the vessel having previously had her decks swept, and the galley and cook house shifted out of position. About eleven o'clock the vessel's stern commenced to break up, and the men with difficulty managed to take a position in the forward part of the ship, where they stowed themselves in their wet clothes. John Evans, Thomas Anderson, and D. McQuilken, a lad of fifteen, were frozen to death. Nearly all the remainder of the crew were more or less frost-bitten, but managed to weather the night. When day broke they found the vessel two miles from land, half way between Bisaie river and English bay. The weather was still rough, and intensely cold. At eleven o'clock they set about launching the only boat they had, the others having been carried away by the heavy sea. They were successful, but unfortunately the boat filled with water. They however managed to get in and baled out the boat, and rowed ashore. On landing, they were terribly exhausted. Noticing a man's footsteps on the ground, they followed the tracks for about six miles. Evans, the cook, showed signs of exhaustion, and died at the foot of an old tree. The remainder resumed their journey, and shortly afterward sighted the dwelling of a Mr. Gamache, where they were hospitably received and their needs attended to. They remained here ten days and speak in loud praise of their host for kindness. At the end of that time, having gained considerable strength, they started to walk to Ellis bay, eighteen miles distant. Capt. Clements, however, was too ill to walk, and was hauled on a hand-sleigh. His feet and hands were badly frozen. At Ellis bay they embarked in schooner Wasp, for Gaspe. Three of the crew, H. Cogley, Wm. Dunn and Wm. Calcott, being too badly frozen, were left on land. Capt. Clement remains at Gaspe until he has fully recovered.

The report of the New Hampshire tax commission, to whom was referred the matter of the abatement of taxes, upon the petitions of the Boston, Concord & Montreal, the Mt. Washington, the Manchester & Lawrence, and the Atlantic & St. Lawrence roads, has been prepared, and shows a considerable reduction in every instance from the original assessment of the state board of equalization.

Isaac Felker has now on hand in his orchard at Madbury, 1000 barrels of apples, covered with pine boughs to protect them from the season's inclemencies.

ILLUSTRATION.—At age 25 an annual premium of $16.91 will secure a policy for $1000, payable at death. By the same annual outlay and the ordinary methods of investment it would take 26 years, at six per cent compound interest, to save $1000.

TESTIMONIALS.

I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office." EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

BOSTON, October 19, 1870.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1840, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you. Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

Amputation of the Leg.

The Old Family Physician at Fault—Dr. David Kennedy the Successful Surgeon.

Money is the universal necessity, and none but a cynic or a fool will affect to despise it. Mr. Abram Elsworth, of Port Ewen, Ulster county, N. Y., had realized this truth. His disease involved the whole of his thigh-bone, and the suffering man looked forward, not without apparent reason, to death as his only deliverer. His family physician refused to amputate the limb—saying that the operation would kill the patient on the spot. Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y., who was consulted, held a different opinion and amputated the limb. The Doctor then administered freely his great Blood-Specific "Favorite Remedy" to afford tone and strength to the system, prevent the spread of the disease, and Mr. Elsworth remains to this day in the bloom of health. This gentleman's disease was the offspring of foul blood, and Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" purified the blood and restored to him the power once more to enjoy his life. Are you suffering from any disease traceable to the same cause? Try Favorite Remedy. Your druggist has it. One dollar a bottle. Bear in mind the proprietor's name and address: Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y.

DAY'S Kidney PAD

TRADE MARK

A discovery which cures by the natural process.

ABSORPTION.

all diseases of the Kidneys, Bladder, Urinary Organs and Nervous System, when nothing else can. It is comfortable to the patient, positive in its effects, and the first cure for those painful and much troubled affections.

Diabetes and Bright's Disease, while its cures of Gravel, Dropsy, Catarrh of the Bladder, Brickdust Deposit, Painful Urinating, High-Colored Urine, Nervous Weakness and Pain in the Back seem more like miracles than cases of natural healing.

DELICATE FEMALES

or victims of wasted or prostrated energies, caused by irregularities, or the abuse of nature and mental or physical over-exertion, find the greatest relief in the use of DAY'S KIDNEY PAD, which strengthens and invigorates the invalid and restores the vigor of health.

PAIN IN THE BACK.

We say positively and without fear of contradiction, that DAY'S KIDNEY PAD is the only curing and permanent cure for every form of this prevalent and distressing complaint.

YOUNG MEN

suffering from nervous and physical debility, loss of memory, or vitality impaired by the errors of youth or to close application to business or study, may be restored and manhood regained.

Avoid all kidney medicines which are taken into the system by way of the stomach; it is an old treatment well tried and proven inefficient, though sometimes effecting apparent cures of one complaint, they sow the seeds of more troublesome and permanent disorders. The price of our Kidney Pad brings it within the reach of all, and it will annually save many times its cost in doctors' bills, medicines and plasters, which at best give but temporary relief. It can be used without fear or hinderance, and with certainty of a permanent cure. For sale by druggists generally, or sent by mail free of postage, on receipt of the price. Regular Pad, $2.00; Child's Pad (for incontinence of urine in children), $1.50; Special (extra size), $3.00. Our Book, "How Life was Saved," giving a history of this new discovery and a large record of most remarkable cures sent free. Write for it. Address DAY KIDNEY PAD CO., Toledo, O.

CAUTION. Owing to the many worthless Kidney Pads now offered for sale on our reputation, we deem it due our office to warn the public that DAY'S KIDNEY PAD, and take no other.

KELLOWS' Compound SYRUP OF HYPO-PHOS-PHITES

WASTING DISEASES

Are positively cured by FELLOWS' COMPOUND SYRUP OF HYPO PHOSPHITES.

As phosphorus enters so largely into the animal economy, it becomes a sine qua non in the blood, without which there is no vitalizing element. The other vitalizing ingredients of healthy Blood, Nerve and Muscle, in Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites are combined all the substances found necessary to insure robust health, and when cured it was invented with a view to supply every deficiency, it certainly has performed some wonderful cures.

MANCHESTER, N. H., June 18, 1880.

MR. JAMES I. FELLOWS,

Dear Sir: I wish to acknowledge the great benefit I have received from the use of your Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites." I have been an invalid for nearly two years, with a bronchial affection that had become chronic. In the fall of 1878 I had a physician eighty days in succession, besides the counsel of several others. They gave me but little encouragement, some of them none. Last July I was advised to give your remedy a trial. I did so, and in less than one week there was a marked improvement for the better. I have continued its use from that time until the present, improving all the time, and I can truthfully say I am more than a hundred per cent. better than when I commenced its use. I have increased in weight about fifteen pounds, and my cough, which was fearful, has nearly disappeared. I believe had it not been for your Syrup, I should ere this have passed beyond the cares of life. Very truly yours,

ALBERT STORY.

Daily Chronicle.

CALLED FOR.

Mr. Vane put the ring in his pocket and took up the oars again energetically, without a word. He was fresh from college and held the stroke oar in many a race, but never made better time than he made that afternoon in rowing up the river. The light boat shot along with the rower's brow knitted and his teeth set. Not once did he look at Bessie, who sat in half-puzzled, half-alarmed silence, now and then stealing sidewise glances at the offended young Hercules from under her hat, Mr. Vane drew a breath of relief when the boat at last grated on the sand, and having assisted Bessie to land and courtly offered to carry her lilies, he shouldered the oars and marched firmly toward home by her side. Bessie, somewhat bewildered and more angry, made no effort to break the silence and studiously endeavored to keep from crying. When at last he left her at the door with a cold "Thank you, Miss Bessie," and departed to carry the oars to the barn, it was well he did not look back, for Miss Bessie tossed the lilies aside with a petulant gesture and had a fit of crying with her head on the kitchen table.

When Mr. Vane returned from the barn half an hour later, he did see a picture which comforted him a little through the hop-wreathed pantry window, at was Bessie with her sleeves pinned up, molding biscuits in desperate haste, while the tears fell thickly on the high calico apron. This picture so amazed Mr. Vane that he retreated hastily behind a lilac bush to observe it; and lingered so long that he was late at tea. This was a model supper. There was the great dish of berries with snowy cream beside, flanked by cheese and raspberry jam. There were two mountious or plates of snowy biscuits contrasting with sponge cake and the richer gold of the butter. Mr Vane, who had supposed he should never have an appetite again, felt quite revived by the sight of this table and the memory of the picture.

The rest of the boarders seemed to share the sensation, for the group was very hilarious and the catables disappeared rapidly. Bessie, presiding between the pots, seemed rather out of spirits, but Farmer Lynn atoned for her silence by unusual jollity. When the biscuits passed a second time to Mr. Vane he saw that only one was left, and would have decorously refused, but the hospitable farmer pressed it upon him, "Don't be afraid of it, there's plenty more in the kitchen, ain't there Bessie?"

Thus pressed, Mr. Vane accepted the biscuit and Bessie disappeared to replenish the plate. Mr. Vane divided the biscuit, then dropped it suddenly with an exclamation that brought every eye upon him. There imbedded in the light, white bread, lay Bessie's ruby ring. Shouts of laughter arose that brought Bessie back from the kitchen in haste, just in time to see Mr. Vane coolly remove the ring from the biscuit, amidst the merry chorus, and drop it into his waistcoat pocket to "be kept till called for," he said, with a significant look at her scarlet face. Poor Bessie! There was no peace for her after that. An army of jokes quite overwhelmed her protestations and disclaimings, and she was thankful to beat a hasty retreat to the kitchen when the meal was over. But there even she was pursued by a laughing trio of ladies who harassed her with questions and wonderment, and merriment, until the last dish was set away, and she started to the village for letters. Instead of going to the village, she stole along the hedge, climbed the wall, and ran to the other end of the orchard, where she flung herself on the ground and cried as if her heart would break. She perhaps had cried half an hour when a step crushing the dry grass at her side roused her, and the very voice she most dreaded to hear, said:

"I've come to return your ring, Miss Bessie."

Poor little Bessie sat up hastily, and took the unfortunate ring with a faltering "Thank you," then hastily hid her face again.

"You needn't thank me; I should have brought it before, but I couldn't find you. I hope you're not troubled about those ridiculous jokes?" he added.

"N-o," responded Bessie, miserably, between her sobs. "I—I thought you'd think I did it on purpose."

"How could I have thought so? It was a mere accident my getting that particular biscuit. I'm very sorry you've been so annoyed in this way, I'm going away to-morrow, Miss Bessie."

The sobs partially ceased, and Miss Bessie said, surprisedly, "Are you?"

"Won't you bid me good-by?"

"Yes," Bessie said unsteadily, but did not raise her head.

"You'll shake hands, won't you, Miss Bessie?" No answer. "I can't go away while you are offended with me. Won't you at least tell me why you are crying?"

"Because I—I lost my grandma's ring," sobbed Bessie, making a great effort for composure. Mr. Vane laughed in spite of himself. "Why, it's safe on your finger, and not a whit the worse for its baking. Is there really no other reason?"

"No—o."

"But there is. I shall never have another happy hour if I've offended you," said Mr. Vane, tragically. "I was a brute to treat you as I did this afternoon; but I'm going away and she's not annoy you again. Won't you forgive me now and shake hands?" Another long silence. Mr. Vane turned away in despair, but was detained by a faltering voice.

"I—I'll forgive you if—"

"Well?" was the breathless interposition.

"You—won't—go—away?"

The more observant boarders noticed at breakfast the next morning that Maurice wore the ring he found in the biscuit on the little finger of his left hand, and Besshe wore a heavily chased gold circle in the place of her lost ornament.

News and Notes.

Edward Brouilliard, eleven years old, was drowned at Nashua on the 23d inst., by breaking through the ice on the canal.

The Boston & Albany railroad pays a quarterly dividend of two dollars a share on the 31st inst.

At Brockton, Mass., a young man named J. W. Baxendale, who had the financial management of his father's boot and shoe business for some time, has robbed his father of eight or ten thousand dollars, and absconded. It will probably be the means of compelling his father to close his factory.

An engine on the Reading railroad exploded at Belmont, Pa., on the 23d inst., killing four men.

Five persons were killed, and several badly injured, by the recent accident on the Carolina Central railroad.

Hon. Eugene Hale's father has just died at his home in Maine from the effects of an injury received while hauling logs. Mr. Hale was a farmer, and far from wealthy. He was always careful that his children should go to school, and in bad storms would take little Eugene and his brothers and sisters to the school-house with oxen and sled.

The acreage of winter wheat in central Illinois is the largest in its history, and the prospect is all that could be desired.

The recent earthquake at Agram, Austria, was almost as terrible as similar convulsions in South America. The damage to private buildings in that city alone amounts, according to the best estimate, to upward of 4,000,000 of florins. Among the minor inconveniences consequent upon the disaster, the total suspension of lighting by gas was severely felt. But the inhabitants were not simply deprived of light by night, but even of fire by day. The chimneys of most dwelling-houses fell down, and though the cold was very severe the citizens did not venture to light their fires as usual. The loss and damage in works of art and antiquities in the city is very great. A most extraordinary natural phenomenon was observed at a spot nine kilometers from Agram. There a number of fountains of hot water burst out from the earth. These geysers, which resembled the well-known hot springs in Iceland, were, however, only temporary. It was also noticed that all the rivers and streams within a certain radius of Agram suddenly rose more than a yard above their previous and usual level.

According to the latest returns the total number of cotton spindles on the globe is 71,250,000, of which 39,500,000 are in use in England and 10,050,000 in the United States, the balance, 21,700,000 being at work in all other countries. France having the largest number, which amounts to 5,000,000. The country having the least number is Greece, which has 36,000 only. The greatest cotton spinning centre of the United States is Fall River, Mass., which has 1,364,191 spindles and 32,621 looms, and consumes 162,475 bales of cotton annually. It manufactures 400,000,000 yards of cloth every year.

YORK COUNTY AFFAIRS.

The members of the Kittery high school, both past and present, are to have a reunion on New Year's eve in Trefethen's hall at the navy yard village. The whole number to which invitations will be sent is over three hundred.

The Biddeford police on the 21st inst. raided a suspected liquor saloon kept by a man named Rennix, and after a long hunt discovered and seized three five-gallon kegs and three jugs of whiskey and rum, and a half-barrel of porter.

The Biddeford Times says: "Mr. C. H. Dennett, druggist, of Saco, has engaged as clerk Mr. J. H. Mason of Portsmouth, N. H. Mr. Mason was formerly with Meaher & Co., of Portland, and last season was manager of Meaher's Old Orchard drug store. He is a first-class druggist, having had many years experience in the business, and Mr. Dennett is fortunate in securing his services. Mr. Mason is a genial, whole souled young man, and we are glad to have him locate in Saco."

AROUND HOME.

Wish you a merry Christmas.

To-day being Christmas, no paper will be issued from this office on Monday.

Stavers, Marston & Co., at No. 53 Congress street, (Franklin buildings,) have a large stock of articles suitable for holiday presents. Look in there and see.

On Thursday, the 23d inst., Deacon Leavitt of North Hampton made his third annual visit to Faith Home with a load of vegetables, pastry, etc., the gifts of himself and neighbors.

While Mr. Ruel G. Shapleigh of Rye was at church with his family on Sunday, Dec. 19th., his house was entered by some person, and $70 in money and an overcoat were stolen.

Mr. John Green, an employe in the shoe factory, had one of his fingers so badly crushed in a moulding machine, Friday forenoon, that Dr. Potter found amputation necessary.

Eastern railroad bonds have at last reached a trifle above par. One share of Eastern railroad in New Hampshire stock, dividend off, was sold on Thursday last at eighty-five. Portsmouth, Great Falls & Conway bonds, for which the brokers report that frequent inquiries are made, seem to be out of the market.

The committee entrusted by the city government with the duty of purchasing 3000 feet of new hose, have bought 1500 feet of jacket hose from the American Fire Hose Manufacturing Co., at ninety-one cents per foot, and 1500 feet of leather hose from Samuel Eastman & Co., of East Concord, at $1.22 per foot.

The production of Hon. Frank Jones' brewery in this city for the year 1880 will amount to 107,000 barrels of ale. In 1879 this brewery made 92,000 barrels, and 81,000 barrels in 1878. Mr. Jones' Boston brewery has made during the present year 86,000 barrels of ale, nearly all of which has been consumed within the limits of that city.

The Journal of Dec. 25th says: "Mr. Luther Noyes, treasurer of the Granite State ice company, located at Milton Three Ponds, has been in this city the present week seeking to effect arrangements with the Eastern railroad, with the view of making this city a shipping point for the company. If successful in perfecting their plans the company will build large ice houses on Noble's island, and also construct a wharf where vessels may load."

At a meeting of the directors of the Portsmouth Shoe Factory Co., held on Thursday evening last, it was voted to postpone the taking account of the stock of the company until May next; so busily are the whole force engaged in the filling of orders that it is practically impossible to do sooner. The next annual meeting of the company will be held Jan. 7th, 1881. We learn that the management of Mr. Knights, the superintendent, gives general and entire satisfaction.

As Postmaster E. G. Peirce, Jr., of this city, was attempting to board a horse car in Boston on Thursday, he was struck by an express team which was being driven at a more rapid rate than the law allows, and on the wrong side of the street at that. Mr. Peirce was knocked down, and received some severe bruises and a very bad cut over the eye; he was insensible when taken up, and after being brought to, again relapsed into unconsciousness. He was brought home at nine o'clock Thursday evening, and on Friday was very much prostrated, not being able to leave the house. The driver of the team which struck him is known.

Mr. Robertson, the gentlemanly and popular clerk of the Gibson house, has gone on a two weeks' visit to friends in Lewiston, Me.

Services will be held at the Episcopal church to-day, at the usual hour; the choir will be largely increased for the Christmas season.

Portsmouth was represented at the Teachers' Institute this week at Manchester by Miss Emma F. Johnson, late of the Haven school.—Journal.

Yes; and by nineteen other teachers, and one member of the board of instruction.

Several vessels of the fishing fleet arrived in port on Friday, generally with light fares; they report very rough weather outside. The fishermen who use trawls decidedly object to the new method of fishing for cod by nets; the crew of one of the vessels say they lost over three thousand pounds of fish by their lines becoming entangled in the nets set across them.

An item has been going the rounds of the press, purporting to be an extract "relative to the Kittery navy yard," from the annual report of the secretary of the navy. In this item it is said that the amount of $26,883.75 is included in the estimates for repairs of ropewalk, new turning-gate for dry dock, etc., and that "the appropriation for repairs of the ropewalk is necessary by the occurrence of a fire several months ago, which is believed to have been the work of an incendiary." This item having at length been reproduced in one of our local contemporaries, leads us to say that there is no ropewalk on the Kittery navy yard, and that there has been no incendiary fire there, the item plainly referring to the Boston navy yard, where there is a ropewalk which some months ago was partially destroyed by fire.

The "New England Pictorial," the first number of which has just been published in Boston by the Photo-Electrotype company, is a paper of sixteen pages, seven and a half of which will be illustrated and the remainder made up of valuable and entertaining reading matter. It will aim to fill the place which has long been open to a distinctively New England pictoral. The illustrations are by the well known Mumler process of photo-engraving, and will be largely confined to New England affairs; but the spirit of the illustrated European press will also be represented. In politics it is independent. Starting as a monthly, it hopes soon to make itself so welcome a guest at every New England fireside that it will find it necessary to make its visits weekly. Mr. Michael J. Leary has been appointed agent for Portsmouth. Should there be a good number of subscribers here, there will be illustrations prepared of Portsmouth locations.

Harry W. French and his Hindoo companions took rooms at the United States hotel in Boston, and the Hindoos proved so sensitive to cold that additional heating arrangements had to be put into their rooms, although the temperature was already at eighty degrees. On the journey from New York by rail they refused to drink water out of the cup used by Christians, although they were very thirsty; and at the hotel they declined pears because they were offered the wrong way. They wear their native dress, with ulsters over all. Mr. Hiptolla, who accompanies the party, is said to be very wealthy, and visits this country only for pleasure; he will be on the stage at Music hall Tuesday evening, in the Star lyceum course—tickets for which course, including this entertainment, an opera, an impersonation and a lecture, can be had for one dollar at Preston's. Evening tickets are not to be on sale until the day of the entertainment, which will enable those who wish to have good seats to make selections.

AN OLD STAND.

Henry F. Wendell, Esq., a gentleman longer in the auction and commission business than any competitor in this city, announces a contemplated new departure—from the place of business he has occupied for so many years in Treadwell buildings on State street, to the spot on Congress street, formerly the Rogers mansion, now owned by Ezra H. Winchester, Esq. Mr. Wendell makes this move from the old stand in order to keep in the circle of business, which of late years has tended in a westerly direction, as the city has extended and stores have been in demand upon Congress street.

The place soon to be vacated by the veteran auctioneer has been the scene of many an exciting sale, under the late Major Samuel Larkin and his successor, Mr. Wendell, who were the only two tenants of the store since its erection in 1828, by the late Daniel H. Treadwell. The store on the corner of State and Pleasant streets was built about two years earlier, and was occupied by Benjamin Carter, Jr., as a grocery, for many years, until Mr. Carter removed to the building now the Rockingham National bank. The third story was not in demand by tenants, and Mr. Treadwell built the two adjoining stores two stories in height. The brick used in the construction of these buildings was made on John Magoun's farm, on the Lafayette road; the mortar was prepared six months before it was used, and the result shew the wisdom of this in the hardness which the mortar attained. Nathaniel Dennett was the master mason of the work.

Major Larkin previously had kept in Exchange building in the store now occupied by Charles E. Laighton & Son, and in 1828 removed to the new location. When Lafayette visited Portsmouth, in September, 1824, this was a vacant lot; and the Strafford Guards, of Dover, who were in Portsmouth to do escort duty, encamped here. In the chambers of Treadwell's buildings were the town offices for many years.

Major Larkin was a thorough gentleman, and known far and wide for his services in selling prizes captured at sea in the war of 1812, and brought to this port. He built the house on Middle street now occupied by Henry H. Ladd, Esq., and used the hammer on a long series of years. In front of the store on Saturdays would be a large display, with a goodly crowd in attendance, and truckmen to team away the purchases. He had large consignments of fruits, nuts, groceries, etc., and did a large business. The major was always affable but dignified, and with the aid of his efficient clerk, Thomas L. Tullock, now assistant postmaster at Washington, D. C., his sales were made with punctuality, and satisfactory results alike to buyers and consigners. Prominent among the former was the late Leonard Cotton, who while in active business after his return from the West Indies attended all his public sales and was a bold buyer, never waiting for his price to be reached by slow advances, but indicating by his bid whether he intended to buy or let some competing attendant secure the offered article.

Mr. Wendell began mercantile life with Andrew W. Bell, Jr., afterwards Bell & McClintock, and subsequently went as clerk with his father, the late Abraham Wendell, who kept a hardware and ship chandlery store at the corner of State and Water streets forty years ago, when Water street was a busy spot. The marine railway was then in condition to take up vessels; the Boston packets came in at Long wharf; Portsmouth pier, Commercial, Union, Sheafe's and other wharves were active places, and trade on Water street was lively. Mr. Wendell subsequently started a grocery business for himself in the store corner Gates and Washington streets, and when the late Samuel Marshall of Derry was appointed sheriff of this county, in 1840, he was urged to take the appointment of deputy sheriff. This office had long been filled by Major Larkin. The major was a stanch whig, but he was always appointed by the democratic sheriff because the members of the bar in Portsmouth had confidence in his integrity and ability to do the business properly. But increasing years had warned the major to decline further service in this direction. Benjamin Jenness of Deerfield, who was appointed sheriff in Sept. 1830, first appointed Major Larkin as a deputy, and the major served writs for ten years, when the business was far more lucrative then it is to-day.

Mr. Wendell, at Sheriff Marshall's repeated request, accepted the office of deputy in 1841, and soon after sold out his business in Washington street, and took an office in Peirce's building, on Market square. Upon the death of Collector George Morrill he was appointed as deputy collector of taxes, and subsequently was collector, with his office in Treadwell's buildings.

Major Larkin being in poor health and of advanced years, by the advice of his physician, Dr. Cheever, gave up his business and sold out the goodwill to Mr. Wendell, who succeeded him as lessee of the store in December, 1848. Mr. Wendell has since continued in the same business, although he served as navy agent under Buchanan's administration.

Thus it will be seen that this store, since its completion over half a century ago, has had but two occupants, Major Larkin for twenty years, and Mr. Wendell for thirty-two years. This continuance of one kind of business in one locality is we think somewhat remarkable, and worth making a note of. Mr. Wendell, though serving as navy agent, deputy sheriff for several years, and frequently representing his ward in the legislature, has strictly attended to his auction business, and his always received the confidence of his fellow citizens as an upright and honorable merchant. He is an active, vigorous business man, and bids fair to be able to wield the hammer for many years to come.

NEW HAMPSHIRE'S BI-CENTENNIAL.

The two hundredth anniversary of the establishment of a provincial government over New Hampshire by the King of England, occurs this year. Although English settlements began here as early as 1623, under the auspices of Gorges and Mason, then joint proprietors of all the soil along the coast lying between the Merrimac and Kennebec rivers, no government was settled over the people in the limits of New Hampshire by royal authority before 1680. In 1640 Massachusetts Bay seized upon the soil of New Hampshire, then solely belonging to the heirs of Captain Mason, claiming it to be within her charter and jurisdiction, and annexed it, making it part of the old county of Norfolk, under her jurisdiction, where it remained till 1680, when it was detached and made a royal province. The people of the state have resolved to take proper notice of this bi-centennial anniversary, and the New Hampshire Historical Society have made arrangements for a commemorative service to take place on the 29th inst., in this city, the seat of the royal government which lasted about a hundred years.

wept because there were no more worlds to conquer, but the proprietors of Dr. Pierce's Family Medicines who have found it necessary to establish a branch of the World's Dispensary in London, England, in order to supply from that great commercial emporium these remedial blessings to foreign countries, where they are largely in demand, do not share the great conqueror's sentiments, as their conquests are of disease and have made happy not only the conqueror but the people who employ them. What Mr. Pitts Might have Saved Himself.

Mr. Henry Pitts, of Kingston, N. Y., suffered from the presence of stone in the bladder for several years Dr. Kennedy, of Rondout, N. Y., removed the foreign body by knife. Had Mr. Pitts and others similarly afflicted, used Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" in the earlier stages of the disease, the medicine would have prevented the formation of the calculus or stone, rendering a dangerous surgical operation unnecessary. Dr. Kennedy gave "Favorite Remedy" to prevent the return of the disease, and Mr. Pitts remains in perfect health to this day.

Chronicle Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 22d.

More and more feeling is shown here over the Conkling-Bayard dispute. I do not know that it will come before the Senate, but think it will. Senator Bayard declines to talk much of the affair, so does Senator Conkling. But the friends of these gentlemen will not let the matter rest. The most severe blow to Senator Bayard is in the affidavit of the stenographer Andem, who reported the speech and has sworn to the correctness of his report. Andem is expert in his profession, and thoroughly trustworthy. He has occupied positions here in which a violation of the confidence reposed in him would have brought great profit, and he did not violate it. What he reported was certainly what he understood Senator Bayard to say.

Speaker Randall made the speech of the day, yesterday, on the funding bill. He had the attention of the House, as he always has. His idea is that the amount of bonds redeemable next year can all be paid in ten years, and that the new bonds should run from one to ten years, and no longer. The bill, however, will undoubtedly pass substantially as reported.

The congressional-library-building question may be considered settled. The Capitol will not be enlarged, but a new and extensive building will be erected on Judiciary square, in the centre of the city. The estimated expense is about one million dollars, but additional expenditures will be necessary as the library increases in size; this, however, will be as nothing to the money which would have been spent on the Capitol, if once the profane hand of the architect had attempted to enlarge it for library purposes.

The committee on counting the mail are at work at the post-office department, tabulating the returns. There are over 45,000 offices, and a complete statement cannot be compiled before early in January. In towns where only two newspapers are published, the proprietors are very solicitous that the post-office department shall not give out the official figures. In cases where the postmaster of the town is also a publisher, the other proprietors made returns direct to the post-office department. KNOX.

An Astonished Pig.

A singular incident was recorded in northern Pennsylvania the other day. A pig belonging to a colored man was rooting in a swampy field, and came across a large snapping turtle, which was sleeping quietly on a log. Piggy didn't know a turtle from a tea-kettle, and promptly put his nose under one side of the turtle's shell and turned him over on his back. The turtle was naturally indignant, and as the pig's nose came near his head he fastened on it. The pig was nearly frightened to death, and tried to run away, but as the turtle was nearly as heavy as the pig, the running away was slow. The squealing of the pig finally brought help, and the turtle was captured and found to weigh twenty-eight pounds. The pig can not now be driven toward the spot where he first met the turtle.

BRIGHTON CATTLE MARKET.

For week ending Wednesday, Dec. 22.

[Reported for the Boston Journal.]

Amount of stock at market—Cattle 2805; sheep and lambs 26,0; swine 15,258. Veals 50; number western cattle 1100; eastern cattle 175; milch cows and northern cattle 28.

Prices—Beef cattle per 100 lbs, live weight—Extra quality $5 87½ @ 6 25; first quality $5 50 @ 5 75; second quality $4 75 @ 5 25; third quality $4 @ 4 25, poorest grades of oxen, bulls, etc., $3 50 @ 3 75.

Brighton hides 8c per lb.
Brighton tallow 7c per lb.
Country hides 7½ @ 8c per lb.
Country tallow 4½ @ 5c per lb.
Calf skins 10 @ 12c per lb.
Sheep and lambs skins $1 00 @ 1 75 each.

The trade for western cattle did not open very actively; no prices obtained nor best cattle were not much different from those obtained one week ago. There were several lots of very nice beef cattle brought in from the west for the English markets, some of which, it was said, cost from 6½ @ 7c per lb live weight. We did not hear of any sales made to butchers for more than our regular quotations. Price in most instances ruled at 5 @ 5½c per lb live weight for cattle suitable for the Boston markets. The cattle from Maine were mostly working oxen and milch cows; only a few beeves among them.

Working Oxen—The supply was lighter than it has been for some time past. We quote sales 1 pr girth 6 ft 6 in, live weight, 2300 lbs, 1 pr girth 6 ft 9 in, live weight, 2900 lbs, 1 pr $190 the two pairs; 1 pr girth 7 ft 2 in, live weight 2100 lbs, at $165; 1 pr girth 6 ft 10 in, live weight 2700 lbs, at $165; 1 pr girth 6 ft 4 in, live weight 2300 lbs, at $175; 2 pr girth 6 ft 4 in, live weight 2200 lbs, at $175 per pair.

Milch Cows. Most of those offered for sale were of an ordinary grade. We quote sales 1 cow and calf at $45; 2 springers at $52; 1 better and calf $50; 1 milch cow $25; 1 do $37; 1 do $40. Good cows will sell much at fair prices, but common and ordinary grades sell dull.

Store Cattle—Not much call for them and few offered in market for sale, most of the small cattle being bought up by butchers to slaughter.

Sheep and Lambs—Those from the west were over-weight, fat and very nearly all owned by butchers and ship direct to him each week coming from 5 @ 6c per lb, live weight.

Swine—The supply was nearly all owned by butchers and cost little at the slaughter houses from 5½ @ 5½c per lb, live weight. No store pigs offered in market for sale.

Amputation of the Leg.

The Old Family Physician at Fault—Dr. David Kennedy the Successful Surgeon.

Money is the universal necessity, and none but a fool or a fool will affect to despise it. Mr. Adam Elsworth, of Port Ewen, Ulster county, N. Y., has realized this truth. His disease involved the whole of his thigh-bone, and the suffering man took a forward, not without apparent reason, to death as his only deliverer. His family physician refused to amputate the limb—saying that the operation would kill the patient on the spot. Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y., who was consulted, held a different opinion and amputated the limb. The Doctor then administered freely his great Blood-Specific "Favorite Remedy" to afford tone and a length to the system, prevent the return of the disease, and Mr. Elsworth remains to this day in the bloom of health. This gentleman's disease was the offspring of foul blood, and Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" purified the blood and restored to him the power once more to enjoy his life. Are you suffering from any disease traceable to the same cause? Try "Favorite Remedy." Your druggist has it. One dollar a bottle. Bear in mind the proprietor's name and address: Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y.

ILLUSTRATION.—At age 25 an annual premium of $16.91 will secure a policy for $1000, payable at death. By the same annual outlay and the ordinary methods of investment it would take 26 years, at six per cent compound interest, to save $1000.

Can any man afford to risk the chances of living twenty-six years to make a thousand dollars for his family, when he can secure the same benefit at once by taking a life insurance for this amount?

If he feels that he cannot afford to be without insurance on his house, which may never burn, can he afford to be without insurance on his life, which is sure to end sooner or later?

CANTERBURY SHAKERS'

LIFE-INVIGORATING

SARSAPARILLA.

The Great Blood Purifier, Kidney Remedy and Mild Laxative.

WE, the undersigned, having used DR. CORBETT'S SHAKER SARSAPARILLA SYRUP in our practice, and having examined the formula by which it is prepared, would cheerfully recommend it to the community as the cheapest, safest, and most efficacious of all the preparations of Sarsaparilla in the market. Its highly concentrated state, (there being in a given amount of Syrup twice the amount of Vegetation Extract that any other contains), the care, skill, and cleanliness of its manufacture, are sure guarantees of its purity and effect. T. R. CROSBY, M. D., W. D. RICHARDS, M. D., S. BUXTON, M. D., J. S. ELLIOT, M. D., JAMES BARR, M. D., Z. COLBURN, M. D., M. G. J. TEWKSBURY, M. D., A. G. FRENCH, M. D., JOSIAH CROSBY, M. D., A. G. GALE, M. D., JAMES A. GREGG, M. D.

Those who have failed to be benefitted by other Sarsaparillas should not fail to make a single trial of the Blood Purifying and Life Invigorating Compound of Shaker Sarsaparilla, Dandelion, Yellow Dock, Mandrake, Black Cohosh, Garget, Indian Hemp, and the Berries of Juniper and Cubeb, combined with Iodide of Potassium made by the Society.

Prepared by the CANTERBURY SOCIETY OF SEVEROS, Shaker Village, N. H., and signed by Thos. Corbett, its inventor. Sold everywhere. Inquire for Corbett's Shakers' Sarsaparilla.

☞ Enclose Stamp for Shaker Manual.

Daily Chronicle.

An English Waiter.

In London there is a kind of a hotel of which we have no counterpart in the United States. This hotel is usually located in some semi-aristocratic side street, and wears no badge of its servitude beyond a large, well-kept brass door-plate, bearing the legend "Jones' Hotel" or "Brown's Hotel" as the case may be; but be it Brown or Jones, he has been dead at least fifty years, and the establishment is conducted by Robinson. There is no coffee-room or public dining-room, or even office, in this hotel; the commercial traveller is an unknown quantity there; your meals are served in your apartments; the furniture is solid and comfortable, the attendance admirable, the cuisine unexceptionable, and the bill abominable. But for ease, quietness, and a sort of 1812 odor of respectability, this hotel has nothing to compare with it in the wide world. It is here that the intermittent homesickness you contracted on the Continent will be lifted out of your bosom; it is here will be unfolded to you alluring vistas of the substantial comforts that surround the private lives of prosperous Britons; it is here, above all, that you will be brought in contact with Smith.

It was on our arrival in London, one April afternoon, that the door of what looked like a private mansion, in D——street, was thrown open to us by a boy broken out all over with buttons. Behind this boy stood Smith. I call him simply Smith for two reasons; in the first place because it is convenient to do so, and in the second place because that is what he called himself. I wish it were as facile a matter to explain how this seemingly unobtrusive person instantly took possession of us, bullied us with his usefulness, and knocked us down with his urbanity. From the moment he stepped forward to relieve us of our hand-luggage, we were his,—and remained his until that other moment, some weeks later, when he handed us our parcels again, and stood statuesque on the door-step, with one finger lifted to his forehead in decorous salute, as we drove away. Ah, what soft despotism was that which was exercised for no other end than to anticipate our requirements,—to invent new wants for us only to satisfy them! If I anywhere speak lightly of Smith, if I take exception to his preternatural gravity (of which I would not have him moult a feather,) if I allude invidiously to his life-long struggle with certain rebellious letters of the alphabet, it is out of sheer envy and regret that we have nothing like him in America. We have Niagara, and the Yosemite, and Edison's Electric Light (or we shall have it, when we get it,) but we have no well-trained serving-man like Smith. He is the result of older and vastly more complex social conditions than ours. His training began in the feudal ages. An atmosphere charged with machicolated battlements and cathedral spires was necessary to his perfect development,—that, and generation after generation of lords and princes and wealthy country-gentlemen for him to practice on. He is not possible in New England. The very cut of his features is unknown among us. It has been remarked that each trade and profession has its physiognomy, its own proper face. If you look closely you will detect a family likeness running through the portraits of Garrick and Kean and Booth and Irving. There's the self-same sabre-like flash in the eye of Marlborough and Bonaparte,—the same resolute labial expression. Every lackey in London might be the son or brother of any other lackey. Smith's father, and his father's father, and so on back to the gray dawn of England, were serving-men, and each in turn has been stamped with the immutable trade-mark of his class. Waiters (like poets) are born, not made; and they have not had time to be born in America.—T. B. ALDRICH, in January Atlantic.

What a Terrible Fellow.

The following, from the Memphis Solid South of Dec. 2d, shows that its editor is a terrible fellow indeed:

The Yankees have thrown down the dirtiest gauntlet yet by White-housing Garfield. So let the scalirats and scapegallows, whom they may send hither to lord over us look out for their keep civil tongues between their jaws; let them do as We, the People, demand, or, by the thunder of God! they shall rue the consequences, as Chisholm rued, and Dixon and all the leper dogs of loyalty who have crossed our path and sought to thwart our purposes in the past.

We see and feel and comprehend our position. We understand that we are the pet aversion, the particular antipathy of the Yankees. They have again advertised this ferocious fact to the countries of Christendom by wedding themselves together like glue from the melted bones of grisly murderers, for the purpose of oppressing us. But we tell them to their teeth—here—now—in the midst of their mad victorious shouts, in the midst of their formidable majority, the southerners shall rule the south, that notwithstanding the radical blacks may have the majority, they shall never have the might; that every county shall become a Yazoo, and every patriot a Barksdale, before we will again submit to African supremacy.

The Yankees may send their scabby soldiers hither; we may see the glitter of their guns at the polls, but they will do our bidding as they did it in 1875-76; they will cringe before our Confederate laddy-bucks or look their last upon the sun before they can bat their bleary eyes.

The democracy in the south will organize for the next campaign, as per before; they will trample the illegal United States election laws in the mire, as never before. Opposition to the democracy from this time on means treason and infidelity to the best interests of the south, and it shall pay its price. Mark that! It shall pay no penalty.

There is one God, who is Lord over this globe, and there is one party that is lord over the south, and all hell-fire, burn it ever so bravely, cannot unseat the One, nor subdue the other.

A CLERGYMAN'S OPINION.—Having had an opportunity to test the excellent qualities of Dr. Ball's Cough Syrup, I hesitate not to say, it is the best remedy I have ever used in my family.—Rev. Wm. Chapman, Pastor M. E. Church, Georgetown, D. C.

James Knowles and George Owen were drowned in the canal at Holyoke, Mass., Saturday, while drunk.

SAMUEL H. IRWIN, of Ute Creek, Colfax Co., New Mexico, says:—The "Only Lung Pad" has done more for my wife than all the gallons of cod liver oil French or American, she has taken, or all the doctor's medicine she has used.—See Adv.

The evening edition of the Newburyport Herald made its first appearance Saturday afternoon.

For those distressing diseases peculiar to women Day's Kidney Pad is invaluable.

A party of six persons in a sleigh were struck by a train at Lacan, Ontario, Christmas night; two men and two women were killed, and a child fatally injured. One woman escaped by jumping.

Dr. Kennedy
Would make it understood that, while he is engaged in the introduction of his medicine (Favorite Remedy), he still continues the practice of his profession, but confines himself exclusively to the Offic practice. He treats all diseases of a chronic character, and performs all the minor and capital operations of surgery. Parties living at a distance (except in surgical cases), by sending a statement of the case, can be treated at home. Address DR. D. KENNEDY, Loudout, N. Y.

News and Notes.

The boiler in Dodge's shoe factory in Newburyport exploded Monday afternoon, killing the engineer, Harrington, a man named Bridge, and John Daly. The factory building was badly smashed.

Chester Morse of Natick, Mass., John D. Shea of Framingham Centre, and Ambrose L. Hodgkins of Thomaston, Me., were killed by the cars of the Boston & Albany railroad at a crossing in Natick, Friday night.

Jacob Gogel and his wife were found dead in their bed near Bethlehem, Pa., on Monday, with their heads nearly severed by an axe. Joseph Snyder, who boarded with the Gogels, was believed to be the murderer, and was hung by a mob.

Rev. Edwin H. Chapin, D. D., one of the most eminent ministers of the Universalist denomination, died in New York on Sunday.

Twenty prisoners in the county jail at Columbus, O., mutinied Saturday, and a detachment of police from the town was called in to quell them. One shot was fired, but without fatal result. Cold water and chunks of coal thrown at the prisoners were found to be sufficient arguments to quell the trouble. Several convicts were seriously injured by being hit with pieces of coal.

Fred. Stevens, son of George Stevens, formerly of Nova Scotia, died at Plymouth, Mass., Saturday, of hydrophobia, after a sickness of several days, during which he showed all the symptoms of this dread malady. The disease was contracted in Nova Scotia from taking care of a rabid dog, and the poison was conveyed through some slight wound or scratch on his hand, from the saliva of the dog.

In a Steubenville, O., boarding-house, Thursday night, Dr. Henry, a young dentist, while intoxicated used profane language in the presence of ladies. Dr. Schooley, a young physician, rebuked him. Soon a fight began, when a farmer named Buckingham, who had a grudge against Schooley, interfered. Schooley drew a revolver and shot Buckingham in the right eye. Henry seized a shovel and crushed Schooley's skull.

Ex-Governor B. T. Scott, of South Carolina, on Friday last shot and killed a young man named Drury, at Napoleon, Ohio. Drury was a young man of good reputation, and was to have been married on the 28th inst. Scott was taken to jail in another town, to avoid lynching.

A hotel proprietor named Griffin, at Rockaway beach, had a row with a man named Mahon on Christmas day, shot him six times with a revolver, and then fired a double-barrelled gun loaded with buckshot at him, hitting him with both charges at short range. Mahon is dead.

Several years ago Mr. Ira A. Stevens, a younger brother of the victim of this accident, went to work in the yard of one of the railroads, and on the first day of his employment had one of his hands crushed while coupling cars, and lost one finger in consequence. Soon afterward he went to Texas, where we believe he now lives.

At a ball at Schwarzenberg, Saxony, a young man entered, having what appeared to be a cigar in his mouth. He went to the chandelier to light it and a terrible explosion ensued. The lights were extinguished, the walls partly gave way, some of the dancers were covered with blood, and the young man was blown to pieces. He had killed himself with a dynamite cartridge.

J. J. Pratt of Braintree, Vt., has been arrested at West Randolph, charged with attempting to poison a gang of French woodcutters employed by George Spear on land claimed by Pratt. Paris green was found sprinkled on the hay, also in the dinner of the men.

D. Hayes, chief of police of Ansonia, Conn., in attempting last Thursday night to arrest a noted bad character known as Chip Smith, was shot in the abdomen by Smith, and is not expected to recover.

The town of Houtzdale, Pa., is suffering from an epidemic of scarlet fever. Eighteen children died on the 23d inst., and new cases are reported daily. There have been thirty deaths within a few days.

The trial of Catharine Driscoll for the murder of little Mamie Credan at Malden, Mass., terminated at Cambridge last week with a verdict of guilty of manslaughter.

COUGHS.—"Brown's Bronchial Troches" are used with advantage to alleviate Coughs, Sore Throat, Hoarseness and Bronchial Affections. For thirty years these Troches have been in use, with annually increasing favor. They are not new and untried, but, having been tested by wide and constant use for nearly an entire generation, they have attained well-merited rank among the few staple remedies of the age.

THE THROAT.—"Brown's Bronchial Troches" act directly on the organs of the voice. They have an extraordinary effect in all disorders of the Throat and Larynx, restoring a healthy tone when relaxed, either from cold or over-exertion of the voice, and produce a clear and distinct enunciation. Speakers and Singers find the Troches useful.

A COUGH, COLD, CATARRH OR SORE THROAT requires immediate attention, as neglect often times results in some incurable Lung Disease. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" will almost invariably give relief. Imitations are offered for sale, many of which are injurious. The genuine "Brown's Bronchial Troches" are sold only in boxes. Tu,th&f,&o

AROUND HOME.

Coal charters were quoted in Baltimore last week at $2 per ton to Boston or Portland, $2.10 to Salem and $2.15 to this port.

The new depot at Magnolia, Mass., on the Gloucester line of the Eastern railroad, was burned Sunday morning; loss $1,500.

Three hundred and thirty shares of Eastern railroad stock changed hands on Monday at the brokers' board in Boston, at from $87 to $88.50 per share.

Rev. James DeNormandie was unable to officiate as minister of the South Parish on Sunday, by reason of indisposition, and Rev. Mr. Weeks supplied the desk.

Hon. Charles H. Bell, governor-elect, is to preside at the Historical association meeting on Wednesday evening, when Mr. Tuttle gives his address. It will be an occasion well worth enjoying.

The semi-annual dividend of the Concord & Portsmouth railroad will be paid on Thursday, the 30th inst., from 10:30 o'clock A. M. to four P. M., at the office of William H. Hackett, United States court house.

President Phillips of the Eastern railroad was in Dover on Thursday last, inspecting the freight depot and other buildings of the road at that place, and pronounced all satisfactory.

Rockingham Lodge, I. O. G. T., of this city, was visited on Wednesday night of last week by a party of Good Templars from Dover, who came down in an excursion barge, and left shortly after midnight on their return.

A young man went into Marden's dining saloon, opposite the post-office, a day or two ago, stepped up to the oyster counter, and ate one hundred and seven raw oysters without stopping to take breath, and without bursting.

A gas light has been placed at the city boat-landing, at the foot of Daniel street. This is a good thing, for on dark nights the entering of a boat at that landing has hitherto been accomplished at serious peril, and several persons have fallen overboard from lack of light.

The sea outside the harbor on Monday morning ran very high; the spray was thrown high over the top of the lighttower at Whalesback, and at some of the places along shore the display of the troubled waters was the most magnificent seen for many a year.

The Boston Advertiser says that "The owners of the schooner Mary S. Hontvet have entered an appeal against the decision of Judge Clark in the salvage case brought against the schooner by Murphy and White for salvage." This statement we are informed is premature, as no steps have yet been taken.

A carriage belonging to Stoddard Brothers was wrecked Christmas day on Market street, by two drunken men who were driving toward Kittery at a high rate of speed. At the crossing of the Dover railroad on Noble's island there was a division of the team, the horse and forward wheels going on, and the rest of the buggy and the two drunken men stopping in the road. The horse was caught at the toll-gate.

The schooner Maud B. Wetherell, of this port, Hontvet master, which went into Summerside, Prince Edward's Island, last fall, to procure a load of potatoes, and was frozen in there, sailed for Georgetown, P. E. I., on Sunday last, to complete her cargo, a long continuance of favorable winds having cleared Summerside harbor of ice sufficiently to enable the schooner to get to sea. This is a fortunate escape for the schooner, as it was feared she would not get away until May or June, which would not only cause the loss of her winter's work, but would also cut heavily into her next season's fishing.

THE ENTERTAINMENT TO-NIGHT.

The Hindoo combination which is to appear at Music hall this evening in the Star lyceum course appeared in Portland last week, and the Argus says "the illustrations of the scenery and people of India, displayed upon a canvas over twenty feet square, by a remarkably powerful double camera, in a series of magnificent dissolving views, is one of the finest things of the kind we ever witnessed. As a lecturer, Mr. French is charming; he has a full, clear voice, ready flow of picturesque language, and is at times truly eloquent. The Hindoo jugglers were remarkably proficient in their tricks, apparently so easily performed, yet displaying wonderful skill. One of them caused a large orange tree to grow from a pot containing a small amount of earth, while another manipulated the disappearance of a large boy in a small basket. All their tricks were splendidly performed."

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.

A shocking and it is feared fatal accident occurred at the Eastern railroad station at about half-past seven o'clock Saturday evening, to one of the men at work on the steam drill.

The drill is worked by means of a large wooden walking-beam, similar to the beam of a marine engine, a crank-shaft being attached to one end, and a stout rope to the other, the drill when in operation being fast to the lower end of the rope; a steam engine works the crank, drawing downward that end of the beam, rising the other end and with it the drill, and the drill then descends by its own ponderous weight, gradually boring its way downward through the solid rock.

An iron band on the crank-shaft end of the walking-beam had been taken off to have something done to it, and Mr. Charles F. Stevens was at work replacing it, being lighted by a lamp improvised of an old tea-kettle filled with kerosene, and having a wick in the spout, when from some cause (it is supposed he slipped on the ice-covered roof of the small building near the beam) he fell, carrying down with him the lamp; and on striking the ground he was instantly enveloped in flames about his head and shoulders, the lamp having either exploded or been bursted by the shock.

The unfortunate man rushed into the engine room, possibly hoping to reach the water tank, but fell just inside the door. Messrs. Stephen G. Raitt and George W. Dunbar were close at hand, and Mr. Dunbar with commendable presence of mind hurried off his overcoat and threw it over the sufferer, having his luxuriant beard burned off and one hand and wrist painfully scorched in so doing. Mr. Raitt and Mr. John W. Gerrish also assisted, and the flames were soon extinguished, and Mr. Stevens conveyed to his home on Dover street. His external injuries consist of severe burns upon and under the arms, and on the chest, back of the neck and head, all his hair being burned off; and his medical attendant we are informed fears he may have inhaled some of the fire, in which case death is only too probable.

Mr. Stevens is a young man between twenty-five and thirty years of age, the main support of a widowed mother, and is spoken of as a man of excellent habits, and thoroughly trusty and reliable. He has filled various positions in connection with the railroads, always giving full satisfaction; and when the drill-gang came here, one of the railroad officials (in view of a probable reduction of help on the road during the winter) interested himself to get Mr. Stevens a chance to work on the drill. Being a good engineer, and capable of turning his hand to almost any kind of a job, besides being a willing worker and pleasant companion, he was much liked by the drill-men, and it is said would probably have gone with them to their next job, after the completion of their contract here.

WELL DONE, BOYS.

Three months ago or more Mr. Charles Hanscom of South Berwick, Me., then boss of the night shifters in the yard of the Eastern railroad station in this city, was taken sick, and has since been confined to his home, entirely unable to work. Mr. Hanscom was a general favorite with his associates of every degree, and last week some of the railroad men, in cogitating how to make their Christmas season the happiest, thought it would be a good thing to raise a little purse for their afflicted fellow laborer, which should convey to him an earnest of their sympathy and at the same time be of material benefit. So Messrs. Thomas J. Goodwin, 2d, the Eastern railroad station agent, and Charles Knowles, night telegraph operator, went around among the railroad men, and in a very short time collected the generous sum of $50, and could without doubt have got more had they not been pressed for time; but they wished the purse to reach Mr. Hanscom on Christmas day. We venture the assertion that not one of the contributors to the purse enjoyed his Christmas dinner any the less for a consciousness of having assisted to cheer the heart and lighten the burden of a worthy but unfortunate friend. It gives us considerable pleasure merely to make a record of their excellent and reliable plan of securing a Happy Christmas for themselves.

Mr. Hanscom also received on Christmas day another substantial reminder that he was not forgotten by his old associates, in the shape of a liberal contribution raised by the operatives at Great Works, South Berwick.

BOW MISSION SERVICES.

There was a small attendance at the gospel temperance meeting, Saturday evening, and an hour was spent in social talk.

Mr. Janvrin presided at the bethel service Sunday afternoon; the attendance was good and the meeting interesting.

The reform club held a good service Sunday evening, remarks being made by Acting President Marden, Messrs. Clarke, Janvrin, Stuart, Lolley, Hidden and others. The club voted to loan their library of temperance publications, numbering about sixty volumes of carefully selected books, to the public library. L.

POLICE COURT.

MONDAY, Dec. 27; Bufford, J.

James Taylor was charged, on two complaints, with entering the Kearsarge house and stealing two coats, one belonging to Dr. Folsom and one belonging to Wm. H. Hanson; adjudged probably guilty, and held in $300 on each complaint to answer at the April term of the supreme court at Exeter. Jail in default of bail.

Three coats, the two above mentioned and a third belonging to Daniel Lanigan, were stolen from the hall of the Kearsarge house on Saturday evening, while the guests were at supper. The robbery being reported at the police station, Asst. Marshal Gray went to the Eastern depot, and found there one of three tramps who had been seen loitering about the front of the hotel during the day. The fellow was arrested and taken to the lockup, where he gave the name of James Taylor; and the coat he had on was recognized by Mr. Hanson as the one stolen from him. Taylor said the coat was given him by one of two men whom he never saw before; but on Sunday morning Dr. Folsom's coat was found under a car on the north side of the depot, close to where Taylor was arrested. Officers went to Dover and Great Falls for the other two thieves, but failed to find them.

Charles King and James Lynch were brought up under the tramp law, held in $200 each for trial at the April term of the supreme court, and sent to jail in default of sureties.

King, it seems, was around the city on Sunday, "cadging," and actually went to the jail to beg! He was warned that his class were getting too numerous to be pleasant, and that he ran some risk of being hauled up under the tramp law, to which he sneeringly replied, "Oh, h—l! the tramp law's all played out!" In the evening the fellow was in the police station, and the officer in charged directed him to be locked up, when he poured forth a mass of obscene and profane abuse against the officer. A year or so in the state prison may induce Mr. King to think better of the tramp law than he did last Sunday; anyway it is a move in the right direction to enforce it, and it should have been done in one or two cases six months ago,—then our jails and county houses would not now be swarming with these worthless bummers, scores of whom have gotten themselves where they will be comfortably housed and fed for the winter without having to work for it.

YORK COUNTY AFFAIRS.

Mr. Timothy Young, of Cider hill, York, a few days ago killed a hog eighteen months old which weighed 578 lbs. dressed.

The Journal announces that "Aunt Lord," who lives near York nubble, has not passed away, as was stated in several papers recently, but is still in the flesh.

Thirty shipwrights, twenty-one fasteners, and three spar-makers, were discharged from the department of construction and repair at the navy yard on Friday, on account of lack of funds. The laborers were placed on one-third time.

It is stated that the physician who attended the boy Knight, reported to have come to his death from improper punishment inflicted by Mr. Patten, a school teacher of Eliot, has issued a certificate asserting that the death did not result from injuries inflicted by the teacher.

The Biddeford Journal says "the ladies of the Congregational society at Eliot held a fair in their new house of worship on Wednesday evening, Dec. 23d. Tables were well filled with useful and ornamental articles for sale, partly the product of the industry of the sewing circle, partly the gift of friends. Oysters and other refreshments were served. A goodly company assembled to listen to music, and admire the fine proportions of the audience room, and the beautiful decorations upon the walls and ceiling, just completed by Jost & Morton of Portland. The ladies have paid for the furnace and decorations, and the proceeds of the fair will probably secure the pulpit furniture and the furnishings of the vestry under the church. The dedication is expected in February."

Naval Affairs.

Lieut. Herbert Winslow is ordered to duty at the Portsmouth navy yard, January 3d.

Carpenter George E. Anderson, attached to the receiving ship Portsmouth, has been granted leave of absence for one month from Dec. 22d.

Amos Frye of Hopkinton, a soldier of the war of 1812, died Friday, aged eighty-three years.

Rev. Henry Ferguson, rector of Trinity Episcopal church, Claremont, formerly of Exeter, has resigned the rectorship, in consequence of the continued ill health of his wife.

wept because there were no more worlds to conquer, but the proprietors of Dr. Pierce's Family Medicines who have found it necessary to establish a branch of the World's Dispensary in London, England, in order to supply from that great commercial emporium these remedial blessings to foreign countries, where they are largely in demand, do not share the great conqueror's sentiments, as their conquests are of disease and have made happy not only the conqueror but the people who employ them. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all blood and skin diseases, scrofulous affections, swellings and internal soreness. Dr. Pierce's Pellets are the little giant cathartic; Dr. Pierces Favorite Prescription—woman's tonic and nervine—Dr. Pierce's Extract of Smart Weed, the great remedy for colds and all bowel affections as diarrhœa, dysentery and flux. —The "Mother Hubbard" cloak is one of the greatest novelties of this season. It is certainly one of the ugliest, being an exact copy of the cloak worn (in picture) by that traditional and venerable old lady while in search of food for her pet dog. It has a wide yoke over the shoulders, upon which is gathered a strait ungored skirt, which is very long and very full. Worst of all, it is usually made of plaided woollen goods, lined with crimson surah, and trimmed around the bottom with a wide band of fur.

What Mr. Pitts Might have Saved Himself.

Mr. Henry Pitts, of Kingston, N. Y., suffered from the presence of stone in the bladder for several years Dr. Kennedy, of Rondout, N. Y., removed the foreign body by knife. Had Mr. Pitts and others similarly afflicted, used Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" in the earlier stages of the disease, the medicine would have prevented the formation of the calculus or stone, rendering a dangerous surgical operation unnecessary. Dr. Kennedy gave "Favorite Remedy" to prevent the return of the disease, and Mr. Pitts remains in perfect health to this day.

THE immediately beneficial effects following the use of Fellows Hypophosphites in those cases of emaciation and weakness produced by long illness, whether from pulmonary diseases or fever, prove its tonic virtues and its value in accelerating digestion and assimilation.

The soluble phosphites and the other life sustaining principles composing Fellows' Hypophosphites are so carefully proportioned, and so judiciously mingled that their action upon the nerves, muscles and membranes in imparting vitality, strength and healthy action, is generally apparent within twenty-four hours, and the good effects experienced are of a permanent character.—Exchange.

—Maud Granger, the actress, has give a stage secret to a St. Louis reporter: "Although dressing for the society drama is expensive," she said, "the cost has been greatly exaggerated. If an actress has good taste she can, by making new combinations of colors and style, make a few good dresses go a long way. Last season I wore in 'The Galley Slave' a dress much admired, though mainly composed of a garment which I wore in a long-forgotten play written by Mr. Sheridan Shook for my debut in New York some years ago. No one would imagine the vamping and re-vamping on that dress. It might tell an interesting story of ups and downs in the theatrical world."

"HOME, SWEET HOME" has been sung in every land, but no home is complete without a good supply of Adamson's Botanic Balsam, for the cure of coughs, colds and lung trouble. Price, 35 and 75 cents. New size, 10 cts.

—A Westfield, Mass., show-window presents a bright "take-off" on the way some shop-keepers are mixing up trade. Side by side are calico, flannels, vegetables, crockery, silver ware, iron cooking utensils, salt fish, fresh and canned meats, toys, confectionery, books, ready-made clothing, hosiery, hardware and patent medicines. Everything is appropriately labelled, mostly in the way of puns, as, for instance, the extremity of a dried herring is marked "a tail of the sea," and a wooden faucet "game wood-cock."

—Rome has not been for ten years so gay and brilliant with foreign visitors as at present.

—The following story is causing painful feelings in Rome. A young man named Moretti, a tailor, was condemned to a short term of imprisonment for some alleged fraud in his dealings. A girl to whom he was betrothed went to the police magistrate to ask about his fate and prospects. The magistrate told her he would assuredly remain many years in prison. The girl, in despair, poisoned herself forthwith. Soon afterward Moretti was found to be innocent, and was at once discharged. On learning the end of his betrothed, he too poisoned himself. The magistrate had sentenced him at the instigation of the girl's mother, who wished to break up the match.

PARK TRUSTEES' MEETING.

At a recent meeting of the board of trustees of Langdon Park, the following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That by the death of our late chairman, the Hon. Frank W. Miller, this city has sustained a loss not easily repaired, of a citizen active and patriotic, who was ever zealous in the advancement of its prosperity and the promotion of its interests, material, social and moral.

Resolved, That his early, earnest and untiring efforts to secure the donation of Langdon Park from Hon. John Elwyn, and its adornment by the public, were deserving and worthy of greater success than has yet been attained; but that when, hereafter, this park shall become the public ornament and resort it is surely destined to be, his name and memory will be indissolubly connected with it.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to his family and to the Portsmouth Weekly.

Subsequently Mr. Henry M. Clark was elected chairman, and T. Salter Tredick secretary and treasurer, of the board of trustees.

A Legend.

There is a charming tradition connected with the site on which Solomon's temple was erected. It is said to have been occupied in common by two brothers, one of whom had a family, the other had none. On the spot was a field of wheat. On the evening succeeding the harvest, the wheat having been gathered in shocks, the elder brother said to his wife: "My younger brother is unable to bear the heat of the day. I will arise, take of my shocks and put them with his, without his knowledge." The brother, being actuated by the same benevolent motive, said within himself: "My elder brother has a family, and I have none. I will contribute to their support. I will arise, take of my shocks and place them with his, without his knowledge." Judge of their mutual astonishment when on the following morning they found their respective shocks undiminished. This course of events transpired for several nights, when each resolved in his own mind to stand guard and solve the mystery. They did so, when, on the following night, they met each other half way between their shocks, with their arms full.

—A shocking spectacle was presented to the immense audience at the Royal opera house, Vienna, on the 2d of December. A woman in the character of a flying fairy enwrapped in fleecy clouds, was being swung at the end of a set of long wires, across the spacious stage. Near the middle of her flight, and while about thirty feet from the stage, the wires got disarranged and her progress was hindered. To assist in untangling some of the wires, a scene-shifter carelessly brought a burning candle into the flies, and a workman tugging suddenly at one of the guys, the candle was jerked from his hand down into the white muslin clouds. Instantly the "fairy" was enwrapped in a sheet of flame. The wires resisted the frantic efforts of the shifters, and she was inaccessible to any help. The throng of muslin-clad fairies on the stage below rushed back from the blazing shreds of cloth which were falling about, and in less time than it takes to tell the horrible particulars, nothing but a blackened, writhing body swung moaning in the sight of the horror-stricken audience. The burned actress died in agony before she could be extricated from her death flight.

FELLOWS' Compound Syrup of HYPO-PHOS-PHITES

WASTING DISEASES

Such as Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma, General Debility, with Exhaustion, Chronic Constipation, Chronic Diarrhœa, Dyspepsia, or

Are positively cured by FELLOWS' COMPOUND SYRUP OF HYPOPHOSPHITES.

As phosphorus enters so largely into the animal economy it becomes a necessity that the lost vitality should be restored by the Blood, Nerve and Muscle. In Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites are combined all the substances found necessary to impart robust health, and when was it was invented with a view to supply every deficiency, it certainly has performed some wonderful cures.

MANCHESTER, N. H., June 14, 1886.

MR. JAMES I FELLOWS,

Dear Sir:—I wish to acknowledge the great benefit I have derived from the use of "Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites." I have been an invalid for nearly two years, with a bronchial affection that had become chronic. In the fall of 1885 I had a physician eighty days in succession, but he could do me no good. I commenced using your Syrup, and in less than one week there was a marked improvement for the better. I have continued its use from that time until the present, improving all the time, and I can truthfully say, am more than a hundred per cent. better than when I commenced its use. I have recommended it to many about fifteen months, and my cough, which was fearful, has nearly disappeared. I believe had it not been for your Syrup, I should ere this have been beyond the cares of life. Very truly yours,

ALBERT STORY.

LIEBIG CO'S COCA BEEF TONIC.

Highest Medals. Indorsed and Prescribed by Medical Men of all Schools.

Professor Duncan Campbell, M.D., LL.D., President Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons, etc., etc., says: "It has more than realized my expectations."

Professor J. M. Carnochan, M.D., Professor of Surgery New York Medical College, says: "My patients derive marked and decided benefit from it."

Professor H. Goullon, M.D., Physician to the Grand Duke of Saxony; Knight of the Holy Cross, etc., says: "It gives more tone than anything I have ever prescribed."

Sir Robert Christison, M.D., LL.D., F.R.S., Physician to her Majesty the Queen; President Royal British Association, etc., etc., says: "The properties of the Coca are the most remarkable of any known to the medical world. From repeated personal trials I am convinced that its use is highly beneficial and tonic."

Valuable in malaria; ague; malarial debility; dumbagoe; low fever; marasmus; paralytic; spinal and nervous affections; female weaknesses; bilious and liver affections; weak throats; palpitation and other affections of the heart; epilepsy or falling sickness; weakness of the voice of actors, singers, public speakers and clergymen; colic; flatulency; seasickness; falling out of the hair; asthma; shortness of breath; wasting diseases; etc., etc. It is gratefully refreshing and restorative after prolonged mental and physical strain. It is pleasant and agreeable; and is readily retained by the most delicate stomach. Dr. McBean (British Medical Journal) found it of great service in consumption. Baron von Humboldt says he has noticed a case of consumption or asthma among those accustomed to its use, and that they live to a great age, retaining their mental and physical faculties to the last (Cosmos).

ILLUSTRATION.—At age 25 an annual premium of $16.91 will secure a policy for $1000, payable at death. By the same annual outlay and the ordinary methods of investment it would take 26 years, at six per cent compound interest, to save $1000.

Can any man afford to risk the chances of living twenty-six years to make a thousand dollars for his family, when he can secure the same benefit at once by taking a life insurance for this amount?

If he feels that he cannot afford to be without insurance on his house, which may never burn, can he afford to be without insurance on his life, which is sure to end sooner or later?

DAY'S Kidney PAD

TRADE MARK

A discovery which cures by the natural process.

ABSORPTION.

all diseases of the Kidneys, Bladder, Urinary Organs and Nervous System, when nothing else can. It is comfortable to the patient, positive in its effects, and the first cure for those painful and much dreaded affections,

Diabetes and Bright's Disease, while its cures of Gravel, Dropsy, Catarrh of the Bladder, Brickdust Deposit, Painful Urinations, High-Colored Urine, Nervous Weakness and Pain in the Back seem more like miracles than cases of mere healing.

DELICATE FEMALES

or victims of wasted or prostrated energies, caused by irregular habits, the abuse of nature and mental or physical overexertion, find speedy relief in the use of DAY'S KIDNEY PAD, which strengthens and invigorates the invalid and restores the vigor of health.

PAIN IN THE BACK.

We say positively, and without fear of contradiction, that DAY'S KIDNEY PAD is the only certain and permanent cure for every form of this prevalent and distressing complaint.

YOUNG MEN

suffering from nervous and physical debility, loss of memory, or vitality impaired by the errors of youth or to close application to business or work, may be restored and manhood regained.

Avoid all kidney medicines which are taken into the stomach by way of the mouth, for it is an old treatment well tried and proven inefficient, though sometime effecting apparent cures of one complaint, they sow the seeds of more troublesome and permanent disorders. The price of our Pad brings it within the reach of all, and it will annually save many times its cost in doctors bills, medicines and plasters, which at best give but temporary relief. It can be used without fear or harm, and with certainty of a permanent cure. For sale by druggists everywhere or sent by mail (free of postage) on receipt of the price. Regular Pad, $2.50; Child's Pad (for incontinence of urine in children), $1.50; Special extra size, $3.00. Our book, "How a Life was Saved," giving a history of this new discovery and a large record of most remarkable cures sent free to all who ask for it. Address

DAY KIDNEY PAD CO., Toledo, O.

CAUTION. Owing to the many worthless Kidney Pads now seeking a sale on our reputation, we deem it due the afflicted to warn them. Ask for DAY'S KIDNEY PAD, and take no other.

Men Who Whistle.

Of all men who whistle, few proceed to extremities of tune. It can hardly be said that they whistle for want of thought, because no habitual whistler wants to think. Whistling, with the plurality of whistlers, merely serves as a signal which calls attention to their existence, a fact otherwise at some risk of being overlooked. It is an effect of automatic instinct rather than conscious intention, and its motive might be shared by the lower animals, it the lower animals ever suffered from uneasy self-esteem complicated with a sort of defiant mauvaise honte. There are whistlers who not only do not whistle "at their own sweet will," but who evidently do whistle against it. If a sheep could refrain from baaing in circumstances which render it undesirable, in his own interests, that he should baa, he would not baa. If a whistler could refrain from whistling, when by whistling he makes himself feel as painfully foolish as a man in the act of whistling always looks, he would not whistle.

Whistling is intensely and peculiarly English, and it has flourished very much of late years; which fact looks a little awkward for the intellectual character of the nation. Let any elderly person of good observation and memory try to think what would have been the effect upon a roomful of people in his salad days, had a steady, continuous whistle been set up by any one in company. There were no railway carriages for people to whistle in; but fancy if any passenger in a stage coach had ventured to whistle! We all know that a habit spreads very quickly, and the habits of individuals become the habits of nations. There is just the connection between an individual and his country, through the classes with which he is most familiar, that there is between the sentiment of egotism and the sentiment of patriotism through the middle sentiment of parochiality. This peculiar habit of whistling, therefore, may have spread from a potboy to a people, passing through many steps of class contagion by the way.

Few Frenchmen whistle, and Italians never. The French, indeed, have a proverb on the subject, which is not complimentary to their lively neighbors, ourselves. When Germans whistle, and it is not often they do, it is with melody prepense. They cultivate odd gifts of amusement, those convivial Teutons, and whistling is sometimes practiced among them as an accomplishment. But it is precisely because a German whistles with skill that he keeps his endowment for service, and seldom whistles in public or without being asked. The Englishman, who cannot whistle, does. Do we not all know the stolid fat man of few words, but of one unceasing sound, who is so entirely the creature of habit that he takes up the same position at regular periods, and if he cannot get his accustomed chair pines nervously in another? But in his place or out of it he whistles softly and cheerfully, as if he would never grow thin. His whistle is not the shrill piping of the plebeian youth, who suffers not the drowsy air to slumber, nor the sharp winter wind to thrill him into silence. It is a fat, round, soft, hard-breathing whistle, as of an elderly grampus overcome by heat. Then there is the restless man who whistles, and who, so far from gravitating to one loved spot, never sits five minutes in any. His whistle is the most irritating of all; for he seems to be perpetually suffering from a bad tune in the head, which he is vainly trying to whistle away. The restless whistler is great at the devil's tattoo. He beats that infernal rappel with his finger-nails on the table, on the crown of his hat, on anything responsive to the diabolical drumming. A knife or poker will serve him in keeping up a steady tap-tap-tap for as bad a quarter of an hour as ever was chimed on a cracked bell. If chance should move him to put his hands in his pockets it is a dead certainty that he will whistle. For he is the bird of ill note; the prophet of disturbance in the moral atmosphere; the Mother Carey's chick of the vexed life-sea.—London World.

Always keep the bottle handy,
Do not place it out of sight,
For it cured our little Andy,
Who was coughing day and night,
Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

—The Chicago fireman who poisoned some cold meat to fix a dog, and then ate it with his luncheon, has got a new improved memory since the doctors pumped him out.

The Height of Happiness

Is the restoration of a woman after years of sickness to perfect health. Imagine then the joy of the family of Mrs.—— of Kingston, who had suffered untold misery for over five years, consequent upon the Diseases and Weaknesses peculiar to Females. She was induced to try Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy." After using only two bottles all her ailments disappeared and she says that she feels and considers herself in perfect health.

—Simple pity ain't much better to a person than an insult; but to pity him with a $5 bill is bizness.—Josh Billings.

I have been a confirmed dyspeptic for years. $5000 would not tempt me to be back where I was before taking two bottles of D. R. V. G. I am well now.

Real Estate, Syracuse, N. Y.
Guaranteed by all Druggists.

—Parisian actresses wear paper lace a great deal. It is tough, soft, and so effective on the stage it can not be distinguished from real lace. By these intelligent women it is considered the height of folly to wear a lot of costly lace, which may be ruined in a night, when $5 worth of paper looks just as well.

The aged and infirm are strengthened and faculties brightened by Malt Bitters.

Hon. Ossian Ray Elected

The election in the [illegible] district of New Hampshire [illegible] vacancies in the present and next Congresses occasioned by the death of Hon. Jacob W. Farr, was held on Tuesday [illegible] resulted in the triumph of the republican candidate [illegible] Ray, by a largely increased majority over [illegible] O'clock Tuesday [illegible] received a despatch from [illegible] headquarters in [illegible] returns from ten towns show a net republican gain of six hundred and twenty-three. Ray is elected by a vote larger plurality than we had at the last election.

The treatment of the Jews in Germany was a theme of discourse in several of the New York churches on Sunday. From the reports of these discourses some of their authors seem to have but vague notions of the actual state of affairs in that country. First of all, there is no persecution of the Jews in Germany. All that has been done has been the presentation of a petition asking that the Jews be subjected to certain civil disabilities; and this petition the government has refused to grant. Even had it been granted, we doubt whether the consequent action could have been called persecution. The Jews of America are very well contented with their position. They expressed this by the erection of a monument to Religious Liberty in Fairmount park. And yet they lie under disabilities as great as those asked by the German petition. It is true that those disabilities are not matters of public enactment, but they are matters of public opinion. When was a Jew seen at the head of an American college, or even of a public school? How many Jews hold high offices under the government or seats in Congress? What American party would take the risk of nominating a Jew for mayor, or governor, or president? But in Germany, through the routine promotions of its bureaucratic system of civil service, Jews are found filling high offices of a governmental or educational sort; and the petitioners asked little more than that they be excluded from these, as thoroughly as they are in America by a different method. On the other hand, no German inkeeper would dare to attempt their exclusion from his establishment, as has been done by a leading democrat controlling the extensive hotel established by a deceased Irishman in one of our famous watering places, and in several summer resorts in America. Let us clear our own skirts in this matter, before we preach toleration to the Germans.

"High Lines."

The schooner Edward L. Webster, Capt. Solomon Jacobs, of Gloucester, Mass., is "high line" of the New England mackerel fleet of 1880, her gross stock being $19,745.76, on a catch of 2600 barrels pickled and 1400 barrels fresh mackerel. Schooner Alice, of Swan's Island, Me., comes next, with a catch of 2800 barrels salt and 900 barrels fresh mackerel, stocking $19,568.75.

The schooner Willie M. Stevens, Capt. John McInnis, is high line of the halibut fleet for 1880. The Stevens sailed from Gloucester for Grand bank, fresh fishing, Dec. 14th, 1879, and arrived home on her last trip Dec. 15th, 1880, having made eleven trips. Her gross stock amounted to $22,108.35, and her net stock to $20,-407.35. The crew shared $706.06 per man. This is the second best stock ever made in this fishery, Capt. Edward Morris having exceeded it in schooner Gertie E. Foster in 1876, stocking $26,071.56 gross in eleven months.

Wellfleet, Cape Cod, has had thirty-one vessels and 450 men engaged in the mackerel fishery this year, whose catch was 32,250 barrels. The schooner Abbie Frankfort was high line, with a catch of 1700 barrels, stocking $8800. Six vessels went to the bay of St. Lawrence, and returned with thirty barrels.

News and Notes.

The best thing which Mark Twain has written lately is a check for ten dollars, a prose poem dedicated to a firm in Buffalo, N. Y. If Clemens continues to improve in this way in his writings it will be a gain to literature, as well as to the persons who receive and can appreciate his financial effusions better than his strained attempts at being funny, often at the expense of propriety and good manners.

The wife and only son of Edwin F. Baker, who with his family have resided at Cottage City, Martha's Vineyard, since last June, were drowned on Thursday last in a pond about a mile and a half from Oak Bluffs. The lad, ten years of age, was coasting near the pond. The sled with the lad upon it ran out upon the thin ice, and broke through. His mother, seeing the accident, hastened to [illegible] in the attempt to do so lost her own life.

A mausoleum is now building in the churchyard at the little hamlet of Cutsingville, Vt., a few miles below Rutland, on the Central Vermont railway. The total cost of the structure will exceed $[illegible],000, erected at the order of a Mr. [illegible]mann, a wealthy resident of Chester, New York, a native of Clarendon, Vermont, in memory of his wife and daughter, and latest granddaughter, of whom he has lately been bereaved.

In Providence, R. I., Saturday, Mary Doherty, about twenty-five years old, attempted suicide by eating the illuminating ends of a quantity of matches. It appears the would-be suicide wasted about three dozen matches before she became unconscious, her companions not noticing her action until too late to prevent it. A doctor was summoned, and he gave her an emetic, which had the desired effect.

A collision between two freight trains on Monday, near Charlotte, North Carolina, resulted in the death of three men and the wounding of several others.

An explosion of fire damp occurred in a coal mine at St. Etienne, France, Dec. 29th, and eleven dead bodies have been recovered.

A frame dwelling in Trenton, N. J., was burned Saturday, and Mrs. Henry Johnson was burned to death. Her husband was drunk, and it is thought he kicked the kerosene lamp over.

The president of the New Orleans city railway is accused of bribing members of the city council to secure the right of way through certain streets for twenty-five years. He refused to answer certain questions before the criminal court, and has been sent to prison.

Frederick Parker, known as the hermit of Quidnit, has died at the asylum in Nantucket, aged seventy-nine years. He was a carpenter and constable. His shop was destroyed in the great fire of 1846, and shortly after he renounced society and entered upon the life of a recluse.

A collision occurred Sunday morning between a passenger and a freight train, at State Line, on the Mobile & Ohio railroad. The two engineers and two firemen were killed, and several others were fatally wounded.

Messrs. Lagru and Levalle have arrived at Montreal from France, and intend erecting five beet-root sugar factories in the province, the first of which will be at Berthier and will turn out two and a quarter million pounds of sugar annually.

During an altercation last Friday in Halifax county, Va., between Marion Wimbish, a white boy aged seventeen, and a negro boy, about the possession of an axe, the negro attempted to assault Wimbish with a hoe, when the latter dealt him a blow on the neck with the axe, almost severing his head from his body.

Christian K. Ross, the father of Charlie Ross, says he spent $60,000 in searching for his boy, and has not given up the hunt yet.

The Chilians have pillaged Icar, Peru, and the principal families of Lima are leaving that city in anticipation of an early attack from the Chilians.

The President has approved the bill permitting the New York chamber of commerce to erect a statue of George Washington on the sub-treasury building in that city.

The epizootic still lingers in Belfast, Me. A disease somewhat resembling it is also attacking dogs, and a number have died, while cats are taking diphtheria.

Frank Michael, who murdered Alice Beker at Navasata, Tex., has been sentenced to ninety-nine years in the penitentiary.

The owners of the fishing schooner Nathaniel Webster, of Gloucester, which left that port Nov. 8th for a trip to the banks, have given up all hope of ever seeing her again. Her crew numbered fourteen men.

The New York Tribune compresses a great deal of fact into a few words when, in stating the real issue between the republican and democratic parties, it says: "The republican party means to have enforcement of the laws and loyalty to the Constitution; equal rights, a free ballot, and a fair count for all. The democratic party resists, refuses to obey the laws, is disloyal to the Constitution, and wants the government so 'decentralized' that any rascally judge of elections in Alabama, or any brutal mob in Louisiana, can set it at defiance with impunity."

Reform in Morrocco.

Sidi Muley Hassan, the sultan of Morocco, has set a touching example of retrenchment to his subjects. Having completely drained the imperial treasury during his efforts to suppress the rebellion that raged throughout his dominions last summer, he has just cut down the state expenses by some sweeping measures, the first of which was the reduction of his own domestic establishment to about one-half of its normal strength. He dismissed at a blow two hundred of his wives, bestowing their hands upon distinguished officers of his army, whose pay, in consideration of the high favor thus conferred, he docked some five-and-twenty per cent. A pleasing feature of this arrangement is the fact that his majesty has made his matrimonial dispositions in such sort that all his older moieties have got new husbands, while he has reserved the younger ones to gladden his own hearth. Muley Hassan's popularity has been increased to such an extent by this act that, a few days ago, as he rode from the palace to the chief mosque, he was greeted with enthusiastic acclamations by the whole male population of Fez, his capital.

A Story by Whittier.

One day the poet Whittier was exchanging reminiscences with Abigail Dodge (Gail Hamilton) when he told the following story of an old Friend, who was very much annoyed one afternoon by some boys following him and jeering and swearing at him, especially when his hat blew off, calling out to him:

"Go it, Broadbrim! Limber up and you'll catch it yet!"

The Friend noticed another boy coming down the street, and said:

"Boy, is thee profane?"

"You bet."

"Then (handing him a quarter) cuss those boys two shillings' worth."

—If you are troubled with sleeplessness imagine you have got to get up, and off you go.

—An invalid in New Orleans bought six bottles of a patent medicine, warranted to cure the disease from which she was suffering. A notice was printed on the wrappers that the medicine would be refunded if, after following the directions implicitly, a complete cure was not wrought. The stuff did her no good. She demanded from the druggist, who was also the manufacturer, the $9 which she had paid him. He refused it. She has begun a suit, and her lawyer assures her that, as she obeyed the directions in every particular, she has a clear case.

The dinner for poor children will be given on New Year's day, at Bow Mission hall, at one o'clock. Contributions for the table are requested, and may be sent to the hall early on Saturday morning. D. H. Montgomery will receive any donations of money that friends may desire to make.

One of the handsomest and neatest bills of fare we ever saw was that for the Christmas dinner at the Rockingham house, and the list of viands thereon inscribed was almost enough to tempt a man from his home-dinner on that festive occasion. The picture on the first page is a gem.

The trustees of the Phillips academy at Exeter, at their meeting on Tuesday of last week, elected Charles Burley, Esq., treasurer, to succeed S. Clark Buzell, Esq., resigned. Mr. Buzell was elected March, 1862, and with one exception held the office a longer period by years than any former treasurer.

In reply to a query in this paper as to what "the oldest inhabitant" could tell regarding Sylvester Buck, concerning whom a western correspondent enquired, Samuel Spinney, Esq., informs us that Sylvester Buck and his brother came to this city about the year 1830, from western New York he thinks, and went into business, conducting an iron foundry across the street from where the Court house now is, in an old building previously occupied by Mr. Timothy Tucker as a wheel-wright shop. Afterward the Bucks ran an iron foundry on Church hill, near where the gas works now are. Of what finally became of either of them Mr. Spinney has no recollection.

THE HISTORICAL SOCIETY'S LECTURE.

We hope our citizens will take pains to attend the lecture to be given by Mr. Tuttle of Boston before the Historical society this evening. The lecture is free, and will be delivered in the Unitarian Chapel on Court street at half-past seven o'clock. Mr. Tuttle is a native of Dover, and has given much study to the history of his native state; and all, whether fond of historic matters or otherwise, will enjoy being present on that occasion. The president of the society, Hon. Charles H. Bell of Exeter, and several members from different parts of the state, including a delegation from Dover, the birth place of the orator, will be present. As the address is given in Portsmouth in recognition of the fact that here began the history of the state, it seems eminently fit and proper that our people should signify their appreciation of the honor by a liberal attendance.

LEGION OF HONOR.

St. George Council, No. 21, Legion of Honor, on Tuesday evening elected the following officers for the ensuing year:

A. C. Hoyt, Past Commander;
F. E. Dearborn, Commander;
S. R. Marston, Vice Commander;
J. H. Stover, Orator;
Samuel Dodge, Secretary;
Joseph R. Curtis, Collector;
S. C. Whittier, Treasurer;
G. E. Burtt, Guide;
James Sanborn, Warden;
Oliver M. Knight, Sentry;
Stephen W. Clarke, A. C. Hoyt, James Sanborn, Trustees;

Medical examiners, Dr. S. C. Whittier and Dr. B. Dearborn.

THE FREE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

The gratifying announcement has been made that a free public library will be opened for the use of the people of Portsmouth on New Year's day. We may be excused for repeating that the nucleus for the proposed collection is the library of the Young People's Union, with additions contributed by persons who sympathize with the movement. The collection is said to be of very considerable value. We understand that it is to be managed at present by the directors of the Union.

At the same time we call the attention of the people of Portsmouth to the Jones fund, formed several years ago by contributions of several citizens of Portsmouth, which is now held by trustees, of whom Mr. John Sise is treasurer. This fund now amounts to nearly thirty-four hundred dollars. In addition there is something over six hundred dollars in the hands of ladies who raised it for the library fund; and one thousand dollars was bequeathed to the trustees by Miss H. L. Penhallow, which it is hoped may be paid to them within a reasonable time. These sums will increase the fund to about $5000. By the terms of the Jones trust, the fund may be used when it reaches this sum. It is plain, however, that the income of $5000 is quite insufficient for the support of a library such as is needed for this city. The trustees, therefore, again call upon all public-spirited citizens to make it so large that a public library may become an assured success.

In the meantime we hope the city government will contribute annually a sum sufficient for the rent of a suitable room for the library about to be established by the Young People's Christian Union. D.

CIRCUIT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES.

Lowell, J.

In case of Wilbur vs. Abbot, which has been long pending in this court without reaching an issue, Judge Lowell has handed down an opinion upon the question raised by the plaintiff's motion to amend.

Wilbur was a resident of New Orleans. The defendant, Abbot, is of Concord, and is the surviving partner of the firm of J. S. & E. A. Abbot. The firm was sued by the firm of which Wilbur was partner, in the fifth district court of New Orleans. Service was returned as made by an officer upon J. S. Abbot, but it appears that it was not the J. S. Abbot who was the person intended, or a member of J. S. & E. A. Abbot's firm.

About the same time, Abbot's firm sued Wilbur's firm in the third district court in New Orleans, when Wilbur appeared, and set up by way of set-off the same debt for which the action was pending in the fifth district court. This was then objected to by Abbot's attorney, as it was a debt for which judgment had been obtained in the other court; and the objection was sustained by the court, and the set-off disallowed.

Subsequently the Abbots brought a suit of nullity to set aside the judgment against them, on the ground that no service had been made on either of them. Wilbur then objected that they were estopped from setting up that the judgment was unauthorized, because they had treated it and relied upon it in the other suit as a valid judgment, and had thereupon a certain advantage in that suit. The estoppel was recognized by the court, and the suit for nullity was dismissed, and the dismissed case affirmed in an appeal. The suit now pending here is upon this judgment; and while it has been pending, a case in the supreme court of New Hampshire by Wilbur against Abbot as administrator of his father, has been going on, and the full bench have once decided that the estoppel does not exist, and that the judgment is void. There has been a rehearing of the case, and whether this opinion is to be changed is yet to be learned.

Special demurers having been filed to the writ, the plaintiff moved for leave to amend in this court.

This is a case where it seems the courts of different states have held opposite opinions. The court here seem to be of opinion that the plaintiff ought to be allowed the opportunity to state his case in his own way and in different ways. This of course, to be on terms, not only of costs, but the plaintiff should stipulate, if the defendant desires, that service has not been made on either of the partners, a fact understood to be conceded but not proved.

There being doubts how the first count stands, after two demurrers, the plaintiff is allowed to file such count on the original judgment as he may be advised, provided that before these amendments are allowed he pays the defendant's costs, and files the stipulation above indicated if the defendant requests it.

G. Y. Sawyer and Sawyer, Jr., and Charles R. Morrison for plff.; S. C. Eastman for deft.

The judgment in this case was for $23,383.64, and interest since Nov. 1st, 1862.

YORK COUNTY AFFAIRS.

The Kennebunk Star of Dec. 24th says: "Within two weeks seven children have been born in this town, all of whom are second children. It also so happens that where the first child is a boy the second is a girl, and vice ve s."

A resident of South Berwick became disgusted the other night at the slow rate of speed at which he was transported homeward by a tired horse. He therefore stopped at a friend's house, borrowed an axe, killed the horse, left him in the road, and pulled the wagon home himself.

Quite an excitement was caused in Eliot on Wednesday of last week, by the finding of a lot of hay, shavings and kindlings, saturated with kerosene, under the school house in Dist. No. 6. Some of the shavings were partially burned, showing that they had been lighted. So says the Biddeford Times.

New Hampshire Items.

Deerfield's town library has been opened, with Rev. H. O. Walker as librarian.

Rev. Jacob Leroy of the Church of the Good Shepherd, Nashua, has been called to Trinity church at Claremont.

The people of Rochester are greatly alarmed over the appearance of small pox among them. Miss Ida Nute, a school teacher of that town, went on a brief visit to Boston a week ago, returning Thursday last feeling very sick. She took to her bed, and a medical attendant declared it a case of small pox, and isolated his patient from the rest of the inmates of the house. It is not regarded as a virulent case, and it is hoped that the contagion will not spread.

Ex-Senator James W. Patterson, state superintendent of public instruction, has been appointed state commissioner to arrange for the Yorktown, Va., centennial celebration.

The Week of Prayer.

The week of prayer in 1881 begins on the 2d of January, and ends the following Sunday. In accordance with the custom which has been followed during several years past, the Evangelical Alliance has suggested a programme for the week, and the same, with some slight modifications, has been adopted by the Branch Alliance of the United States. The following is the modified programme:

January 2d—Theme: "Christ the only hope of a lost world."

Monday, 3d—Thanksgiving for the blessings, temporal and spiritual, of the past year, and praying for their continuance.

Tuesday, 4th—Humiliation and confession on account of individual, social and national sins.

Wednesday, 5th—Prayer for the church of Christ, its unity and purity, its ministry, and for revivals of religion.

Thursday, 6th—Christian education, prayer for the family, Sunday schools and all educational institutions, for young men's Christian associations, and for the press.

Friday, 7th—Prayer for the prevalence of justice, humanity and peace among nations, for the suppression of intemperance and Sabbath desecration.

Saturday, 8th—Prayer for Christian missions, and the conversion of the world to Christ.

Sunday, 9th—Theme: On the ministrations of the Holy Spirit.

—Here is a thoroughly authenticated instance of practical joking fitly reciprocated: A friend of mine has a rough-haired collie, wise and exquisitely modelled. One evening a lady of the household, with whom he was a special favorite, stooped quietly, as he lay half asleep on the rug, and placing her face close to his head, blew sharply with a slight shout in one of his ears. Tickled and startled, he jumped up and moved off, seemingly somewhat offended. In the course of the evening the lady happened to be conning in an easy chair, when the collie was observed by some one of the inmates to rise, and making a circuit, to move stealthily toward the chair, put his forepaws on one of the arms, and placing his nose close to the lady's ear, to give a sharp bark and instantly bound off!—London Spectator.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup.

REV. SYLVANUS COBB, JR. writes in the Boston Christian Freeman: "We would by no means recommend any kind of medicine which we did not know to be good—particularly for infants. But of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup we can speak from knowledge; in our own family it has proved a blessing indeed, by giving an infant troubled with colic pains, quiet sleep, and keeping it unbroken rest at night. Most parents can appreciate these blessings. Here is an article which works to perfection, and which is harmless; for the sleep which it affords the infant is perfectly natural and the little cherub awakes as 'bright as a button.' And during the process of teething, its value is incalculable. We have frequently heard mothers say that they would not be without it from the birth of the child till it had finished with the teething siege on any considerations whatever. Sold by all druggists. 25 cents a bottle. 5

Life in the Crescent City.

Amid the turmoil of business in New Orleans pleasure is not neglected, and a grand promenade concert in connection with the 24th Grand Extraordinary Semi-Annual Drawing of the Louisiana State Lottery was superintended by Gen. P. G. T. Beauregard, of Louisiana Julian A. Early, of Va., at which prizes amounting to over $22,000 were paid out in the whole and fairly distributed. The next drawing takes place January 11th and any one sending $2 to M. A. Dauphin, New Orleans, La., or some person at No. 319 Broadway, New York City, may get $30,000. Why may it not be the order?

Books, Magazines, Etc.

"Littell's Living Age" enters upon its one hundred and forty-eighth volume in January. Foreign periodical literature embraces more thoroughly every year the work of the foremost writers in all departments of literature, science, politics and art; the Living Age, which gives in convenient form the best of this literature, can therefore hardly fail to become one of more and more value every year to its readers. The first weekly number of the new year and new volume—a good one with which to begin a subscription—has the following table of contents: Village Life in New England, by a non-resident American, Contemporary Review; The Marshal Duke of Saldanha, Quarterly Review; Lyme Regis—A Splinter of Petrified History, Cornhill; My Holiday in Jamaica, Chambers' Journal; The photophone, Spectator; Girl and Grandfather, Temple Bar; Sir Alexander Cockburn, Spectator; Jewish Success and Failure, Spectator; and a variety of select poetry. For fifty-two numbers of sixty-four large pages each (or more than 3,300 pages a year,) the subscription price ($8) is low; while for $10.50 the publishers offer to send any one of the American $4 monthlies or weeklies with the Living Age for a year, both postpaid. Littell & Co., Boston, are the publishers.

"Modern Society," by Julia Ward Howe. Boston; Roberts Brothers; price fifty cents. For sale by Mercer Goodrich, No. 1 Market street. There are two lectures by Mrs. Howe, one entitled "Modern Society," the other "Changes in American Society." Mrs. Howe is regarded as an authority in all matters pertaining to society's rules. In these familiar talks Mrs. Howe shows the evils of society in the inroads made upon the standard of good manners by the uninformed conduct of the shoddy element in our country, and she utters a healthful, though perhaps, to many, an unpalatable series of truths. The wisdom, experience and observation of Mrs. Howe enable her to give us many valuable suggestions, and coming as they do from such a source we may profit by remembering the lessons of her criticisms, some of which are bestowed upon journalism—as if there were any features in the conduct of newspapers which deserved rebuke:

"Wide Awake" for January, '81. Santa Claus himself could ask for no better gift-book for his pack than the Christmas Wide Awake in its handsome new cover and new type. It is full from beginning to end with live stories about live boys and girls, and contains dozens of exquisite pictures. But perhaps the most striking feature is the illustrated poems which appear in duos and trios all through the number, from such authors as J. T. Trowbridge, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, Mrs. S. M. B. Piatt, Mr. J. J. Piatt, Nora Perry, Col. Paul H. Hayne, etc., making the magazine a treasure long to be preserved. Only $2.00 a year, twenty cents a number. Elia Farman, editor; D. Lothrop & Co., Boston, Mass., publishers.

A Libel on the Cats.

A little old colored man who lives on the upper end of Antoine street was down at the city hall the other day to see the superintendent of the police regarding a disturbance which had taken place around his house the night before. He described the noises as consisting of shouts and groans, and yells and howls, and the superintendent observed:

"I presume it was a congregation of cats. Get five or six cats together on one of these cold nights, and they will almost raise the dead."

"Dat's jes' what happened the 43 cats, 'Doan' you 'spose I know cats when I hears 'em? Cats! Do cats frow brown cabbages agin my front doah? Do cats call on me to come out and get my ole head knocked off? Do cats call my old woman de wust liar an' gossip in de stait of Michigan?"

"I presume not."

"An' I presume not, too! I'm fond of cats, an' I'll bet on how smart dey am, but when it comes down to a cat heavin' a frozen 'tater frew my kitchen winder, an' callin' out dat I'm fo'teen y'ars behind on my pew rent, it's car'yin' de feline bizness a leetle too fur!"—Detroit Free Press.

Amputation of the Leg.

The Old Family Physician at Fault—Dr. David Kennedy the Successful Surgeon.

Money is the universal necessity, and none but a knave or a fool will offer to despise it. Mr. Aaron Elsworth, of Port Ewen, Ulster county, N. Y., has realized this truth. His disease involved the whole of his thigh-bone, and the suffering man looked forward, not without apparent reason, to death as his only deliverer. His family physician refused to amputate the limb—saying that the operation would kill the patient on the spot. Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y., who was consulted, held a different opinion and amputated the limb. The Doctor then administered freely his great Blood-Specific "Favorite Remedy," to afford tone and strength to the system, prevent the return of the disease, and Mr. Elsworth remains to this day in the bloom of health. This gentleman's disease was the offspring of foul blood, and Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" purified the blood and restored to him he power once more to enjoy his life. Are you suffering from any disease traceable to the same cause? Try "Favorite Remedy." Your druggist has it. One dollar a bottle. Bear in mind he proprietor's name and address: Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y.

ILLUSTRATION.—At age 25 an annual premium of $16.91 will secure a policy for $1000, payable at death. By the same annual outlay and the ordinary methods of investment it would take 26 years, at six per cent compound interest, to save $1000.

Can any man afford to risk the chances of living twenty-six years to make a thousand dollars for his family, when he can secure the same benefit at once by taking a life insurance for this amount?

If he feels that he cannot afford to be without insurance on his house, which may never burn, can he afford to be without insurance on his life, which is sure to end sooner or later?

"It is not generally observed; but you—"

"Well, my dear?"

"You have grown ridiculously stout, and you are bald-headed."

"You are not stout, my dear; but your hair is not quite what it was."

"People say they see no change in me—that I preserve my childish appearance wonderfully."

"Humph!"

Our interview was not altogether agreeable. When we parted we contented ourselves with shaking hands.

That afternoon I wrote to her, suggesting that we did not renew our old engagement.

That afternoon she wrote a note, suggesting the very same idea to me. Our cross letters crossed.

We were to be friends, nothing more.

But that could not last. I was the first to give in. I called upon her, and said a good deal, and she cried, and then we said why not? and then she put her head upon my breast and spoiled my shirt front as she had done before.

"You are not so very fat," she said, laughing.

"You are not so very lean," I said, laughing also.

"You can wear a scalp," said she.

"You can dye," I responded.

So we both laughed again, and it was all settled. We were married, and here we are out of the fog, and very much at your service—the happiest couple in our town.

The Third District Election.

Returns from the third district show that Hon. Ossian Ray is elected to Congress by nearly 4000 plurality. Farr's plurality in November was 901. The democratic vote was very light. Lancaster, Mr. Ray's home, made a net republican gain of 163.

Almost a War.

A despatch from Las Vegas, New Mexico, dated Dec. 28th, says the notorious gang of outlaws, composed of about twenty-five men, who under the leadership of "Billy the Kid" have for the past six months overrun eastern New Mexico, murdering and committing other deeds of outlawry, was broken up on Saturday morning, by the killing of two and the capturing of four others, including the leader. The prisoners were lodged in Las Vegas jail, and calls of lynching were provoked, but the vigilance of the captors, Deputy Sheriff Garrett and others, prevented. On Monday forenoon Garrett and the other captors boarded a train with the prisoners, for the purpose of taking them to Santa Fe. Sheriff Rowans remonstrated against taking Rudabaugh, one of the prisoners, who killed a Las Vegas deputy sheriff, to Santa Fe, but to no effect. He then went to the depot with a posse of 300 men, and made a formal demand for the prisoners, but was told if he wanted the prisoners to take them.

Deputy Sheriff Garrett then stationed men at the engine to cover the engineer, and the balance of the posse crowded about the train, the platforms of which were crowded with additional guards, pressed into service by Mr. Garrett, and nearly every window of the cars served as a porthole for rifles. Somebody suggested to take the prisoners now, when a man named Stewart, of Garrett's party, said the instant the first shot was fired he would unloose every man and arm him. For a while a fight seemed imminent. Chief Engineer Robinson appeared and demanded that the train be allowed to proceed, and the master of transporation said that if the train was not allowed to proceed he would arm all the railroad men and take it out. Detective J. F. Morley, of the post-office department, jumped into the cab with a pair of six shooters, and told the engineer to pull out. A compromise was concluded, by which it was agreed that the sheriff and two men should go to Santa Fe with the party, and if the governor agreed, would bring Rudabaugh back to Las Vegas. The train then proceeded.

Santa Fe advices of the same date reported a very serious state of affairs at Socorro, N. M., which threatened to end in a bloody conflict between the American and Mexican residents. A prominent Mexican a few days ago without provocation shot and killed Mr. Conklin, the editor of the Socorro Sun. The authorities, being all of Mexican descent, refused to arrest the murderer; and the citizens, finding no recourse at law, arrested and were then holding by force the sheriff and four others, including the murderer of Conklin. A rescue of the prisoners was threatened, and bloodshed seemed imminent. A request was made on the military commander of the district for troops, and although the troops cannot be used as a posse comitatus, yet a company was ordered from Colorado, N. M., as a means of protection for public property and the property of the railroad company. Bodies of men were being armed at Albuquerque and other points in the vicinity, and grave results were feared. All the women and children had been moved out of the town.

News and Notes.

At Smithville, Va., Dec. 24th, a white man named Dunn shot two negroes dead, fatally cut another, and less severely injured several more. The murderer was lodged in jail.

A passenger and freight train came in collision at Tiffin, Ohio, Dec. 28th. Wm. Woodberry, fireman of the passenger train, was killed, and three other train men were seriously hurt. Woodberry was recently married, and his wife was on the train. The engineer of the freight train, who was drunk and running against orders, has disappeared.

A member of the board of managers of the National Soldiers' Home says there is nothing in the story about Gen. Butler, as treasurer of the old board, replacing over $120,000 worth of bonds lost by the failure of a Boston bank in which he had deposited them. No such loss ever occurred

Warrants have been issued for the arrest of the persons who lynched Joseph Snyder for the murder of the Gogels in Pennsylvania, but the district attorney says he does not expect any jury will convict them.

It is estimated that the recent storm did damage to the amount of $125,000 along the shores of New Jersey.

It is asserted in Washington that President Hayes will nominate Gen. Wickham of Virginia as the successor of Secretary Thompson, he having ascertained from Mr. Garfield that Wickham will be his appointment for secretary of the navy.

Sarah Bernhardt threatens to sue the American Queen for libel, in and response that paper congratulates the ladies of New York that even a written appeal from the future king of England did not win for her an invitation to any respectable home, with possibly one or two exceptions.

New Hampshire Items.

The mills in Harrisville have been obliged to stop work on account of scarcity of water.

Walter Aiken of Franklin has just put in a Brush dynamo-electric machine of 35,000-candle power, said to be the largest and most powerful machine of the kind ever manufactured. There are twelve lamps now running at his hosiery mill and in the screw shop, which displace 200 gas-burners, and afford an intensely brilliant light, superior to the illuminating power used hitherto.

Rev. A. W. Jackson of Peterborough has resigned the pastorate of the Unitarian society in that town, on account of ill-health, and will remove to Los Angeles, Cal., in the spring. He has been in Peterborough for seven years.

David Evans, of Wakefield, is 101 years of age, and is still hale and hearty. He has living with him his son, grandson and great grandson, four generations in one house.

Amherst, a town of only 1226 inhabitants, gives one hundred subscribers for the New Hampshire Journal, the new organ of the Congregationalists of this state.

Messrs. Blair, Rollins, Briggs and Hall have addressed a letter to President Hayes, recommending the appointment of Judge Doe, of this state, to the United States supreme court, should a vacancy occur. Prominent men in all parts of the state are sending letters of similar purport, and strongly urging his appointment.

Books, Magazines, Etc.

The London correspondent of the New York Times writes as follows to that paper, under date of December 2d: "As an example of English good feeling toward American work, 'Scribner's Magazine' for November reached a sale of over 15,000 copies, a circulation larger than Cornhill, Macmillan, Belgravia, Frazer, Blackwood, or the Contemporary. * * * The portrait of Gladstone in 'Scribner' has given great satisfaction to the premier's family and friends."

The January issue of St. Nicholas, "the New Year's number," was published on Tuesday, December 28th, giving the young people time to forget a little the glories of "the wonderful Christmas number." Among the contents are several capital things which were crowded out of December. "Bright Eyes," the young Indian girl, makes her first contribution to literature in a charming story of Indian child-life. There is an account of "The Children's Fan Brigade," another of the novel entertainments for children's festivals which have been suggested in the pages of St. Nicholas; "Every Boy His Own Ice-Boat," describing a new sport for skaters; the first of Mrs. Clara Erskine Clement's "Stories of Art and Artists," which are to be one of the special features of St Nicholas during the coming year; one of Frank R. Stockton's funniest fairy stories, a poem by H. H. Boyesen, pictures, grave and gay, continuations of the serials, etc. The issue rivals the Christmas number in good things.

Probabilities for New England:—

Generally colder cloudy weather, with high snow clearing in the northern portion, falling followed by rising barometer, and northerly to westerly winds.

The Thermometer at the CHRONICLE Office, at 4:00 o'clock this morning, registerd 10 degrees above zero.

Sky clear.

AROUND HOME.

Major George M. Wentworth of this city has been elected a director of the Rochester & State Line railroad, of New York state.

The seventh annual ball of Kearsarge fire engine company will be held in Franklin hall on Friday evening next—New Year's eve.

The fishing vessels nearly all went out on Wednesday, the 29th inst., after having spent about a week in idleness at the wharves, owing to the rough weather.

Mr. George A. Perkins on Wednesday of this week commenced cutting ice on the pond at the foot of Peverley hill, on the Bamfield road. The ice is very clear, and about a foot in thickness.

The semi-annual dividend of the Concord & Portsmouth railroad will be paid on Thursday, the 30th inst., from 10:30 o'clock A. M. to four P. M., at the office of William H. Hackett, United States court house.

Sheriff Kent has an official notice upon the door of a store on Market street, kept by one Goodwin as a millinery; cause, assets less than liabilities. Moral: people who do not advertise are apt to find in the long run in business a larger liability than the assets will meet.

Daniel J. Lamprey of North Hampton is harvesting ice on a large scale, having it is said contracted to supply Gorham Hall at Exeter, the Farragut house at Rye beach, the Appledore and Oceanic hotel at the Isles of Shoals, most if not all the hotels at Hampton beach, the North Hampton & Boston and the Lynn & Hampton milk companies, and many smaller concerns. He will store several thousand tons of ice.

An attache of one of our leading newspapers, while on the search for an item on Wednesday of this week, met with an accident, falling into the basement of a building where an aperture had been made to receive some new machinery. The gentleman soon discovered that this was not such an opening for a young man as he desired, and was extricated with a wounded hand, caused by coming in contact with a protruding nail.

The Star course entertainment at Music hall on Tuesday evening, by Harry W. French and the Hindoo jugglers, was well attended and gave marked satisfaction. The views shown by the stereopticon were remarkably fine, and finely displayed; Mr. French is an excellent lecturer and delineator; and the Hindoo jugglers are good in their line. The expected snake-charming exhibition was not given, the East Indian serpents brought over by the Hindoos having become disgusted with our New England climate, and died. A mongoose, a species of weasel common in India, and which is "death on snakes," was exhibited and attracted considerable attention.

Our neighbor Hanscom, of the Daily Times, who was shrewd enough to avail himself of the columns of the CHRONICLE as a means of advertising, has found a tenant for his building No. 72 State street. Messrs. Dearborn & Wentworth have leased the store, and are fitting it for a steam laundry. On the 29th inst. a new steam engine of six-horse power, built by H. L. Currier of Biddeford, arrived, and foundations for the same are being put in. It is the intention with the boiler, which is of ten horse-power, to supply steam for the engine which carries the laundry machinery, and do also the drying, as well as the heating of the Times offices. Feather renovating and carpet cleaning will also engage the attention of the Biddeford men, who as the spring approaches anticipate a large business. The location is certainly a good one, and we hope the enterprise will meet a suitable encouragement.

Persons having accommodations for boarders, and desiring to secure them, are invited to apply to Mr. Wm. H. Preston at the office of the Portsmouth Shoe Factory.

Rev. D. H. Adams, pastor of the Free-will Baptist church at Newmarket, has resigned to accept a call to the church in Farmington, where he formerly preached for five years.

The Dover Democrat says in that city on Christmas evening "a sad sight was witnessed on Charles street. Five young lads, none of them over fourteen years of age, were beastly drunk, and falling about at every step."

The schooner Tillie E., which struck the Western Sisters on the 27th inst., and after getting clear was taken to the wharf at Kittery point, had her forefoot and a piece of her keel knocked off. She will effect temporary repairs here.

At the regular meeting of Strawberry Bank Encampment, No. 5, I. O. O. F., holden Dec. 24th, the following officers were elected: Orwin Griffin, C. P.; D. Edwin Junkins, H. P.; Daniel Pendexter, S. W.; Stacy Hall, J. W.; Alvah Rugg, scribe; John M. Clark, treasurer.

The semi-annual communication of the Masonic Grand Lodge of New Hampshire was held at Manchester, Dec. 28th. The attendance was large from all parts of the state, except the third congressional district, where a special election was held that day. In the evening a banquet was provided by Washington and Lafayette lodges of Manchester.

Mr. J. S. Montgomery, teacher of penmanship in our public schools received a very handsome Christmas present from the teachers and scholars in the shape of a beautiful silver service, purchased at the store of Mr. J. H. Hutchinson on Market square, where it was for a short time on exhibition. This shows that Mr. Montgomery's valuable services are appreciated by those best qualified to judge of their value.

The Norfolk Jubilee Singers will give a sacred concert at Music hall next Sunday evening. They gave a concert at Gonic on the evening of the 1st inst., and Hon. Charles S. Whitehouse, who is well known as being himself a musician of no mean qualifications, says they "were very much liked. The voices are clear, and they harmonize very finely. I consider the bass singer first class; and the soprano sang Milliard's 'Waiting' very beautifully, with excellent taste and effect. She showed admirable training. In their peculiar kind of music they are equal to any troupe I have ever heard, and cannot fail to please any audience." See their advertisement.

Advices have been received by the owners of the schooner Ida R. Freeman, of Wellfleet, Mass., which with a part cargo of fish was stolen from Gloucester harbor last summer by three Norwegians, and taken to Bergen, Norway, where she was seized and two of the thieves arrested, that the criminals will not be sent to the United States, but will be held until the question is settled as to their liability under the Norwegian laws. The schooner was recently sold at auction for $2220, with extras for outfittings and seine. The buyers are Danes, who intend to use her for fishing at Iceland and the Hebrides islands. A considerable portion of the schooner was owned in Dover, and she was named in honor of a young lady of that city.

A GOOD RE ORT.

A gentleman a day or two since show us a certificate signed by Mr. Charles E. Buzzell, principal of the Walker school, to the effect that for the month ending November 30th the average of Miss E. M. Green in anithmetic, history, grammar, geogeaphy and physiology, was over one hundred per cent, and her average under the head of "deportment" the same; she had not been absent, tardy, nor dismissed during the session, for the month, and ranked No. 1 in a class of fifteen. The The young lady is a daughter of Mr. George W. Green, and is eleven years of age.

How many of the pupils win such certificates, and how often, we have no means of knowing; but we regarded the one shown us as something worth noting, more particularly as it varied so widely from the ones we used to get at the time we were a good little boy, and occasionally went to school.

THE HISTORICAL SOCIETY'S LECTURE.

Despite the decidedly unfavorable weather, a good audience of the most intelligent and refined of our citizens assembled in the South Parish chapel on Court street, Wednesday evening, to listen to the address of Charles W. Tuttle, Esq., of Boston, before the Historical Society, commemorative of the establishment of the separate provincial government for New Hampshire. Hon. Charles H. Bell of Exeter, governor-elect of the state and president of the society, presided.

The lecture epitomized the early history of New Hampshire, and gave a succinct and very interesting account of the events which preceded and led to the establishment of a royal government over the province two hundred years ago. At its close it was voted by the audience that the speaker be requested to publish the lecture, which was closely attended to throughout its delivery.

After the lecture a number of members of the society called upon the president at the residence of M. H. Wentworth, Esq.

POLICE COURT.

WEDNESDAY, Dec. 29; Batchelder, J.

John Berry, for drunkenness, was sent to the county farm for ninety days, cost being taxed at $6.90. Another "simple drunk" was assessed $9.90, and in default of payment went to the county farm.

THE FREE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

The article under this heading, in the CHRONICLE of Dec. 29th, contains one error, which it may be worth while to correct. This library is not "managed by the directors of the *Young People's Union." The Young People's Union ceased to exist some three years ago, since which time the library has been closed. The directors have now handed it over to a board of trustees, with the understanding that it shall be, at once, opened to the public. The names of the gentlemen and ladies who have already accepted this trust, are as follows:

Rev. James DeNormandie, Rev. John A. Goss, Hon. William H. Sise, Hon. T. E. O. Marvin, Joseph H. Foster, Joseph H. Thacher, Mrs. A. B. Wilson, Mrs. H. C. Knight, Mrs. J. P. Morse, Miss F. A. Mathes, Miss E. Prescott, Miss M. A. Foster.

Others may be added hereafter. It will be seen by those who remember the Union, that less than half of these were ever connected with it. Messrs. Frank Jones, E. H. Winchester and A. R. Hatch, have expressed much interest in the movement, and have promised to aid it, but are unable to become trustees, owing to the pressure of other engagements.

The appeal made to the public for books has been liberally responded to in many quarters; the books have been labelled "Portsmouth Public Library," and will be opened to the public on New Year's day. The room is certainly less convenient than could be wished, but under the circumstances is the best at present procurable.

Under the most favorable circumstances it must be some time before the fund which has been for several years accumulating for the establishment of a public library, can be made available for that purpose. In the meantime this library is offered for the public use. Half a loaf is said to be better than no bread. The trustees will gladly receive further contributions of books, or of money, which they will at once apply to making their half-loaf larger and more palatable. Y.

*The writer of the article referred to used the expression "late Young People's Union," but the "late" was inadvertently omitted by the compositor.—Ed. Chronicle.

MADAME RENTZ'S MINSTRELS.

The above-named company will appear at Music hall on Thursday evening, Jan. 6th. We are assured by the advance agent that this is not a "blonde" entertainment at all, merit and not immodesty being relied upon to draw a house, and the comments of the press strongly corroborate his statement. The Albany Evening Journal says of one of their concerts:

It was a superb performance of the higher type, possessed of no features that could shock the most sensitive in their notions of propriety and decorum. While the entire programme was good, some parts were of especial excellence. The Love sisters made a pretty appearance and sang very nicely. Mr. Keen displayed rare and versatile talent as an eccentric comedian. Miss Louise Linden played wonderfully on the saxophone. Lewis Parker was excellent in his aged negro and other specialties. Ella and Kittie Love as dancers won hearty applause. The entertainment concluded with a picturesque and laughable burlesque. As a whole it was a performance of far more than ordinary merit, and those who saw it were highly amused and delighted.

The Journal of Dayton, Ohio, a paper of high standing, says:

There was no immodest dressing nor immodest acting. The music was excellent, the fun sparkling, and the burlesque superlatively good. The singing was better than we expected, and the instrumental solos phenomenal, considering that they were performed by ladies on instruments not usual to the fair sex. Candor, therefore, compels us to say that the entertainment given by Mme. Rentz's min-strels was one of the best, most refined and amusing ever given in this city.

Burnett's Cocoaine.

The Best Hair Dressing in the World.

BURNETT'S COCOAINE allays irritation, removes all tendency to dandruff, invigorates the action of the capillaries in the highest degree, and has earned a deserved reputation for promoting the growth and preserving the beauty of the human hair. Ladies dressing their hair elaborately for the evening will find that it imparts a healthy natural gloss to the hair, and will cause it to retain its shape for hours.

BURNETT'S FLAVORING EXTRACTS are used and endorsed by the best Hotels, Confectioners, and Grocers throughout the country. They are perfectly pure.

COUGHS.—"Brown's Bronchial Troches" are used with advantage to alleviate Coughs, Sore Throat, Hoarseness and Bronchial Affections. For thirty years these Troches have been in use, with annually increasing favor. They are now new and untried, but, having been tested by wide and constant use for nearly an entire generation, they have attained well-merited rank among the few staple remedies of the age.

THE THROAT.—"Brown's Bronchial Troches" act directly on the organs of the voice. They have an extraordinary effect in all disorders of the Throat and Larynx, restoring a healthy tone when relaxed, either from cold or over-exertion of the voice, and produce a clear and distinct enunciation. Speakers and Singers find the Troches useful.

A COUGH, COLD, CATARRH OR SORE THROAT requires immediate attention, as neglect often times results in some incurable Lung Disease. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" will almost invariably give relief. Imitations are offered for sale, many of which are injurious. The genuine "Brown's Bronchial Troches" are sold only in boxes Tu,Th&F,&w Rational Treatment, Positive Cures.

Dr. R. V. Pierce, President of the World's Dispensary Medical Association, is in earnest in selling his medicines under positive guarantees, and if anybody who purchases and uses any these widely celebrated remedies, does not derive benefit therefrom, the Association would like to hear from that person with description of symptoms and history of case. Organized and incorporated, as the Association is, to teach medicine and surgery and for the successful treatment of all chronic diseases, and managing annually thousands of cases through our original method of diagonis without ever seeing the patients, and having also the largest sanitarium in the world for the accommodation of the more complicated cases, and also for surgical cases, the Faculty feel themselves prepared to undertake even the most discouraging cases. They resort to all the best remedial means known to modern medical science—neglecting nothing. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. CHRISTMAS SHIP.

We have become so accustomed to say "Christmas tree" that it really appears novel to say "Christmas ship." At the festival arranged at the county farm for the old people and children, Thursday evening, Dec. 23d, a Christmas ship was the object of attraction; it was eight feet from stem to stern, full rigged and a perfect beauty, and covered over with little presents, the gifts of friends. The ship was planned and built by Superintendent Scott and Mr. Holt, with some advice from one of the prisoners, an old sailor.

The chapel was filled to its utmost capacity with the inmates, and nearly one hundred friends. The choir from "The Corner" very kindly offered their services; also Dr. Spaulding from Epping, and Mrs. Sleeper from Brentwood as organist.

At a little past seven o'clock Mr. Scott called the people to order. The ship was first represented as the "Ship of Zion," carrying refreshments to the fort of the Lord, and was introduced by the children singing "Hold the fort," two little girls standing on her deck. The ship was next represented as a "Life-boat," and the choir sang "Pull for the shore." Reading of scripture, and prayer, were next in order, Mr. Wm. A. Loyne officiating. Interesting and appropriate remarks were made by Mr. Scott, Mr. Johnston and Dr. Spaulding.

Santa Claus (Mr. Newton Johnston) now made his appearance, and the scene took the form of a "Christmas ship," with Santa Claus as captain, this part being the last.

During the evening the choir sang several very appropriate pieces, and at nine o'clock one of the most interesting festivals that it was ever our privilege to attend, either in this country or Europe, where Christmas is the great "fete" of the year, was brought to a close. It should be a source of gratification to the people of Rockingham county that the officers throughout are of a class that take such interest in the comfort and welfare of the poor.

—A circular saw must find it disagreeable to have its teeth on edge all the time.

—A Vernon (Vt.,) man has a pet owl which was hatched out and tenderly cared for by a neighbor's hen.

—"Two men got into a fight in front of the bank to-day," said a stock-broker at the family supper table, "and it looked pretty hard for one of them. The biggest one grabbed a cart-stake and drew it back. I felt that he was going to knock the other's brains out, and I jumped between them." The family had listened with rapt attention, and, as the head paused in his narrative, the young heir, whose respect for his father's bravery was immeasurable, proudly remarked, "He couldn't knock any brains out of you, could he, father?"

—A Connecticut clergyman, being asked to officiate at the funeral of a poor man's wife, inquired of the widower what carriages had been hired, and when told requested that a particular team and vehicle be obtained in addition, because they were the ones he and his wife habitually used, and he might wish to take a pleasure ride after the services. This disgusted the widower, and he secured the services of another minister. On the following day the first clergyman sent for him, and inflicted a severe reprimand for disrespectful treatment of his late wife's pastor. "I want you to understand," said he, "that when I marry or bury any one, I am paid for my services. As for that other fellow, he's always ready to do any dirty work." His name is not given, but the New Haven Palladium says: "All this happened in the year of our Lord 1880, in an old and populous town. To the credit of our state be it said that this clergyman was born and reared elsewhere."

ILLUSTRATION.—At age 25 an annual premium of $16.91 will secure a policy for $1000, payable at death. By the same annual outlay and the ordinary methods of investment it would take 26 years, at six per cent compound interest, to save $1000.

Can any man afford to risk the chances of living twenty-six years to make a thousand dollars for his family, when he can secure the same benefit at once by taking a life insurance for this amount?

If he feels that he cannot afford to be without insurance on his house, which may never burn, can he afford to be without insurance on his life, which is sure to end sooner or later?

Amputation of the Leg.

The Old Family Physician at Fault—Dr. David Kennedy the Successful Surgeon.

Money is the universal necessity, and none but a panic or a fool will affect to despise it. Mr. Auram Elsworth, of Port Ewen, Ulster county, N. Y., had realized this truth. His disease involved the whole of his thigh-bone, and the suffering man looked forward, not without apparent reason, to death as his only deliverer. His family physician refused to amputate the limb—saying that the operation would kill the pall at on the spot. Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y., who was consulted, held a different opinion and amputated the limb. The Doctor then administered freely his great Blood-Specific "Favorite Remedy" to afford tone and a length to the system, prevent the return of the disease, and Mr. Elsworth commenced to slide day by day on to health. This gentleman's disease was the offspring of foul blood, and Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" purified the blood and restored to him the power once more to enjoy his life. Are you suffering from any disease traceable to the same cause? Try "Favorite Remedy." Your druggist has it. One dollar a bottle. Bear in mind he prepaid tests name and address: Dr. David Kennedy Rondout, N. Y.

Civil Service Reform.

Commissioner Raum, in his report for the bureau of internal revenue, makes a very just complaint against the secretary of the treasury, which furnishes an unhappy comment upon the civil service reform of this administration. This bureau was manned and constituted in the usual objectionable way, by which, according to our civil service reformers, we never will get honest and efficient public servants. Its officers were appointed on recommendation of members of Congress. And yet, by some strange accident, the bureau has been the best administrated part of the national government. Mr. Sherman has made his periodical boast of its efficiency and its honesty, showing that, in the discharge of its dangerous and responsible task, it has lost a dollar to the treasury in three years. This mystery is explained by the fact that through some oversight the commissions of the officials run indefinitely. There is no date for their expiry. The men consequently feel an interest rather in doing their work well than in rendering political fealty to their superiors. But this state of things does not please Mr. Sherman. He wants another sort of service from these subordinates. About a year ago, or less, we had rumors of a change in their commissions, so as to make them run for four years. That plan failed; but the secretary, it seems, effected removals without it. He turned adrift competent and responsible men, who filled important offices. He thrust into their places political protégés, who knew nothing of the duties required. He did all this against the protests of the commissioner, who has the courage to lay the matter before the country, and to show us how little we owe the efficiency of his bureau to Secretary Sherman. We do owe to the bureau and to Commissioner Raum the suggestion of the right direction for a civil service reform.—The American.

Love at the Dinner Table.

A London newspaper tells a curious story about a gentleman who proposed at a dinner party to the lady who is now his wife. He had been a lover for some time, but never quite persuaded himself up to the point of popping the question. During the eventful dinner he learned from the person sitting next him that a rival intended that evening to make an attack upon his Dulcinea's heart. She was sitting at some distance from him at the table, and the rival was at her side. He was equal to the emergency, however, for tearing a half leaf from his note-book, he wrote upon it:

"Will you be my wife? Write your answer, yes or no, upon this paper, and return it to me."

Calling a waiter, the ingenious lover sent the missive to "the lady in blue at the end of the table—be very careful." The servant did as directed, but the lover in his anxiety forgot to send his pencil. The lady had presence of mind, however, and tucking the note in her bosom, said to the waiter:

"Tell the gentleman 'yes.'"

—Back-yards—The trains on ladies' dresses.

—Said he: "Let us be one." And she was won.

—A study in oil—The attempt to get a sardine out whole.

—A correspondent wants to know if we think the custom of treating is a good thing for candidates to adopt just before election time. Well, we only know by experience. The republicans and democrats used a good deal of liquor in the late campaign, and both parties had plenty of votes. On the other hand Neal Dow and his party ran the campaign on water, and they didn't have votes enough for a quorum. You can draw your own inferences.—Peck's Sun.

The Height of Happiness

Is the restoration of a woman after years of sickness to perfect health. Imagine then the joy of the family of Mrs.—— of Kingston, who had suffered untold misery for over five years, consequent upon the Diseases and Weaknesses peculiar to Females. She was induced to try Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy." After using only two bottles all her ailments disappeared and she says that she feels and considers herself in perfect health.

—The London journals account for what they call "the Sarah Bernhardt craze" by saying that the Americans are more than half Parisian. They like England's old-world relics and antiquities, cathedrals, rivers, and Stratford-on-Avon, but Paris has their heart. They visit the tomb of Shakespeare and wander about the haunts of Dickens and Thackeray, but it is from Paris the American lady gets her dresses, and the millionaire his furniture, decorations and pictures.

I have been a confirmed dyspeptic for years. $5000 would not tempt me to be back where I was before taking two bottles of D. R. V. G. I am well now.

—It is understood that a stock company is to be formed of prominent business men of Boston for the purpose of building a tower or observatory 325 feet in height, or eighty feet higher than Bunker Hill monument, near the Boston & Providence railroad station, to be used by visitors and tourists as a lookout on the surrounding country. The tower will be built of boiler iron, and will be of cruciform shape. The observatory at the top will accommodate about 150 people, and will be reached by four elevators, with safety attachments.

Railroad Fight.

The latest railroad embroglio in New England shows the Vermont Central line determined to pay the Northern (N. H.) railroad for selling the Sullivan railroad to the Connecticut River road, by diverting its business and by compelling the Boston & Lowell road to step in and cut off the Concord railroad from leasing the Nashua & Lowell road, and taking it themselves. The scare has sent down the price of Northern with a run, as the road depends upon through, instead of local traffic. The Boston & Lowell find that they must get their lease by leave of the lobby next June, and the Vermont Central will find that something has to be done outside of Vermont, a state where the railways have pretty much the run of the legislature and the courts. There will be cutting of rates, through business done at a loss, and yet struggled for, rival roads promised, suits threatened, a keen appetite raised in expectancy of results by the lobby of the legislature, and then probably a simmering down of all parties into a lion-and-lamb-like unity. The railroad managers are not tools, how ever their actions might occasionally seem like it.

An Abuse Exposed.

A special dispatch from Washington to the New York World, under date of Dec. 25th, is as follows:

A memorial embodying the views of the line officers on the active list of the navy with reference to restorations of officers degraded by the action of naval courts has just been prepared, and will be sent to Congress immediately after the recess. It sets forth that during the war many officers of different grades who had resigned or retired years before were recommissioned or reappointed to the active list of the navy, to grades and positions they would have held if they had remained in the service. This was excused on the ground that the exigencies of the times required their services; but it was nevertheless prejudicial to the advancement of those officers who had performed long and faithful duty to the service. The practice thus inaugurated of restoring officers to advaced rank has obtained with increasing frequency since the war, and has opened the way to abuses on the part of such dropped, retired or condemned officers as could command personal and political influence, and has operated unjustly against those continuously in service by setting back such as were ranked by the restorations. There are good officers whose deserved promotion has thus been retarded. The memorialists avow that while they would not oppose the correction of a possibly wrong decision they believe that wrong decisions are of rare occurrence, and pray that no more confirmations may be made of advanced rank and position on mere personal influence in cases upon which courts, boards and examinations have already passed.

The immediate occasion of the memorial is the nomination to the rank of commodore, of Captain R. L. Law, chief of the bureau of yards and docks. As lieutenant-commander he was in command of the steamer Clifton in Galveston bay in December, 1863. On the night of December 31, during a naval engagement there, it was said he failed in his duty, and he was tried by court-martial upon two charges, first for not doing his utmost to capture or destroy the confederate steamer Harriet Lane, and second for leaving his station before he was regularly relieved. He was found guilty upon both charges. The sentence was dismissal from the service. The offence was punishable either by death or dismissal. But Admiral Farragut had testified to Captain Law's high character, and on this account and because of his gallantry at Fort Point and elsewhere the court recommended him to the clemency of the revising power. President Lincoln thereupon mitigated the sentence to suspension from rank and duty for three years; the first six months without pay. Within two months, however, he was relieved of his suspension and ordered to a command suitable to his rank. Under an act of April 21, 1864, a naval board was convened to recommend promotions. He was not named as an officer fit for promotion, and was thereby retired. The act of June, 1866, however, restored him to the active list as lieutenant-commander. Another board passed him over which met under the act of July, 1866, to increase the number in each of the two grades of line officers, with the proviso that such increase should be made by selection from the grade next below of officers who had rendered the most efficient and faithful war service, and who had the best professional qualifications. Subsequently he was promoted commander to fill a vacancy. In 1870 a board was convened to examine into the cases of such officers as had deemed themselves unjustly passed over in 1866, and he appeared before it, but it did not recommend his promotion. He petitioned the Forty-fourth Congress for relief, but that too was refused. When Secretary Thompson came into office he appointed Captain Law to his present bureau position, which gives him the rank and pay of commodore. Twice the President sent his name to the Senate for confirmation with the full rank of commodore, and each time it was rejected upon representations to the naval committee that his confirmation would pass him unjustly over thirty-six captains who are ahead of him on the list for promotion. Last week it was sent in a third time, and the naval committee having forgotten about the case, and no naval officers having heard of the nomination when made, the committee reported it favorably. The Senate, however, did not reach it, and the nomination is still pending. It will now be opposed.

As Secretary Thompson is no longer at the head of the navy department, it is very probable that Capt. Law's nomination to be a commodore will fail of confirmation.

The Big Snow Storm.

The snow storm of Dec. 28th and 29th was one of the most far reaching ones on record, and in many places the heaviest ever known. At Montgomery, Alabama, five inches of snow fell; at Columbus, Ga., four and a half inches; at Gainsboro', N. C., sixteen inches; at Danville, Va., all the roads were blocked; at New Orleans, Shreveport and throughout Louisiana, and all over Texas, snowflakes were seen. In Indiana and the neighboring states the cold was intense, and many animals perished. The cold and snowfall appear to have been greater in the west and south than in New England.

News and Notes.

John Phair, a respected barber at Glen's Falls, N. Y., was killed Monday evening, Dec. 27th, by a pistol ball, while seated in his shop. An unknown assassin fired from the outside, through a window. The motive is unknown.

Gall, one of the hostile chiefs under Sitting Bull, has surrendered himself and twenty-six lodges to the United States authorities, and the surrender of Sitting Bull himself is expected soon to follow.

A Washington, Ind., letter reports the murder on Monday night, Dec. 27th, of Marcus Bratton, by John Woodsmall, during a quarrel which occurred between them while returning from a singing school. The murder took place twenty miles north of Washington Woodsmall is eighteen years old, and Bratton twenty-one.

Books, Magazines, &c.

"Home, Sweet Home." Messrs Lee & Shepard, of Boston, have issued a beautiful edition of John Howard Payne's familiar song. Payne was a native of New York city, and died in Tunis in 1852. Among his compositions, was an opera called "Clari, the maid of Milan," which has frequently been rendered upon the stage. The music was composed by Sir Henry Bishop, and includes many fine melodies. In this opera, the principal song of the heroine is the subject of the little volume just produced by the Boston publishers, with so much taste and so many attractive features. The author, it seems, first heard the air in the sunny regions of Italy, sung by a peasant woman. It so impressed him with its touching beauty and sweet melody that he induced the singer to repeat it, until he could write out the notes. With the melody and measure in his mind he wrote the song, which received touches from the hand of the composer, and hence we have this beautiful song, with its appropriate and touching air. It soon was wafted throughout the world of music, and at once became dear to hearts far from home,—wanderers all over the globe cherished it, and it became a household word. It is too well known to be more than referred to in this connection.

But the book with its title so rich in memories imprinted on the cover, with the "cot of our fathers," the designs by Miss L. B. Humphrey, so suggestive and true to nature, engraved in an artistic manner by Andrew, give us one of the most attractive and beautiful books of the period. One which can be taken up at any moment in our own homes or in the home of a friend, and new beauties enjoyed and sweet recollections suggested in its inspection every day in the year. For sale at all the leading book stores.

BRIGHTON CATTLE MARKET.

For week ending Wednesday, Dec. 29.

[Reported for the Boston Journal.]

Amount of stock at market—Cattle 3843; sheep and lambs 4809; swine 1428. Veal calves 160; number western cattle 21 8; eastern cattle 208; milch cows and northern cattle 255.

Prices on hoof cattle per lb. lbs. live weight—Extra quality $5 75; 6 $6 25; first quality $5 00 @ 5 75; second quality $4 75 @ 4 87½; third quality $4 @ 4 25, poorest grades of oxen, bulls, etc., $2 00 @ 3 25.

Hide prices 8c per lb.

Brighton tallow 5c per lb.

Country hides 7½ c per lb.

Country tallow 4½ @ 5c per lb.

Calf skins 10 @ 13c per lb.

Sheep and Lambs skins $1 60 @ 1 75 each.

Texas fat beef cattle has not improved any over that of one week ago. Calf cows have gone at the west, and the quality of the offerings was not so good as the week previous ago. The demand for shipping cattle suitable for the English markets has no been so active as it has been for the past two weeks. Prices obtained for butchers' cattle have ruled from 5 @ 5½c per lb live weight, in most instances. Calves sold lower than the week previous, ranging from 6 @ 8c per lb live weight. There were a few very nice beef cattle brought in from Maine, which were sold at 5 @ 5½c per lb live weight.

Working Oxen—There was not a large supply in market and a limited demand for them. We quote sales of 1 for girth 6 ft 8 in, live weight 2500 lbs, for $185; 1 pr girth 7 ft, live weight 3000 lbs, at $215; 1 pr girth 6 ft 7 in, live weight 2500 lbs, at $225; 2prs, girth 6 ft 9 in, live weight, 2800 lbs, at $265; 1 pr girth 6 ft 11 in, live weight, 2700 lbs, for $210.

Milch Cows—Extra $45 @ 55; ordinary $30 @ 40; springers $25 @ 30 per head. We quote sales of 12 springers at $27 each; 4 do do $24 each; 1 cow and calf $44; 1 milch cow at $35; 1 springer for $34; 3 Jersey springers at $35; 4 nice cows for $130 the lot. Good cows command fair prices and ready sale.

Store Cattle—But a few in market. Nearly all the small lots that are in a fair condition are bought up by butchers to slaughter. Very little call for stores.

Sheep and Lambs—Those from the west were mostly owned by G W Hoi is and taken direct to the Abattoir to be slaughtered, selling, landed at the yards, from 5½ @ 6½c per lb, live weight.

Swine—Prices for fat hogs remain unchanged, at 6½ @ 6½c per lb, live weight, all owned by butchers and taken direct to the slaughter house from the cars.

There is talk in western Missouri of making a new state, to be called West Missouri, out of the sixth, seventh, eighth, ninth and tenth congressional districts—fifty-one counties in all.

A statement appeared in a Boston newspaper recently giving the financial condition of a western railroad. It appeared that the surplus on the 30th of November was quite large. It omitted to state that the day following about eighty per cent of this surplus was due on coupons. The half truth served its purpose. The "lambs" jumped in on the common stock, but it is doubtful if they will be able to jump out.

Muir was on duty at the navy yard, re he is a watchman, and his wife ar- ed the stove, as she supposed all it, before retiring; but she was awak- d in the night by the gas, and though very weak managed to open a window, thereby saving her own and her children's lives. A physician was called to attend the family.

The committee having in charge the dinner for poor children, desires a liberal donation of money, and contributions of cooked food for the table. The city has been canvassed, and at this date one hundred and twenty tickets have been given out; quite a number of children are sick in different parts of the city, and whatever may be left from the tables, will be carried to the homes of these children. Mr. D. H. Montgomery will receive cash donations. Articles for the table may be left at the mission hall Saturday morning after eight o'clock.

On Thursday last Dr. F. E. Potter, assisted by Dr. Johnson of Kittery, Dr. French of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York, and Dr. Stone of Harvard University, successfully performed the operation of laryngtomy, or opening of the windpipe, on Mrs. Clough of Pickering street, who has for some time past been suffering from an obstruction to the breathing caused by a tumor of the vocal cords, producing all the symptoms of diphtheria. An opening was made into the windpipe, and a silver tube inserted, through which Mrs. Clough breathed with perfect ease. At the time of the operation the obstruction was so great that a few hours more would have closed the scene, but relief was instantaneous. The patient had been unable to swallow anything for two days, and had not slept for forty-eight hours; after the operation she drank a goblet of milk, and expressed herself as being perfectly comfortably.

MR. TUTTLE'S LECTURE.

The good attendance, on a stormy winter's evening, of so many of our residents at the New Hampshire Historical Society meeting on Wednesday, the 29th inst., shew a goodly interest in historical matters on the spot where the earlier history of New Hampshire—the only state, as Mr Tuttle remarked, which retained an English name—began.

In addition to such gentlemen as Ex-Gov. Goodwin, Ex-Judge Odell, Mark H. Wentworth, Esq., and others who came from quite a distant part of the city through a driving snow storm, were present Hon. Charles Levi Woodbury of Boston, a gentleman known far and wide for his historic researches, Hon. John J. Bell and Hon. Jno. D. Lyman from Exeter, Senator Rollins from Concord, Col. A. H. Young from Dover, and others from out of town.

Mr. Tuttle's lecture was listened to with the closest attention, and the only regret seemed to be that expressed after the applause given at its termination had subsided, that it had not been extended an additional half-hour.

We hope the interest shown on Wednesday evening will result in the increase of the number of resident members of the society from this city, and such an interest in its meetings that hereafter they will be more frequently held in this city.

EMMA DONALDI'S CONCERT.

The announcement of the Emma Donaldi concert company in our columns should be hailed with pleasure by our citizens, as the names of the company are nearly all celebrated as among the best in their profession, and in one instance the very best in the world, as Mr. Levy has long been acknowledged the master cornetist of the world, which is a statement that can be said of no other instrumentalist, either violinist or pianist; his playing is wonderful, and should alone suffice to fill the hall to its utmost capicity. Mr. Lichtenberg, the violinist, has few if any superiors, and it is enough to state that he was Theodore Thomas' soloist, which is a sufficient guarantee of his ability. Madame Emma Donaldi, the vocalist of the company, is highly spoken of by the New York papers as a prima donna soprano of great power and execution. M'lle. Lucia Violante is claimed to be the best lady pianist in America. The company is certainly a great one, and without doubt will give a grand concert, such a one as the citizens of Portsmouth will feel disposed to welcome.

The sale of seats will commence at Stavers, Marston & Co.'s on Wednesday, Jan. 5th.

CONCORD RAILROAD.

A slight change of time on the morning down train on the Concord railroad has been made. The train for this city leaves at 7:20 A. M. instead of 7:30 as formerly. This is done to connect at Nashua with the train to Boston, and does not allow the train to reach Portsmouth any earlier. The train leaves Manchester for this city at 8:10 A. M. The reason for the change is that the Boston, Lowell & Nashua railroad put the time for leaving Nashua at an earlier hour, and every one on the line coming over the Concord & Portsmouth railroad loses ten minutes time, and gains nothing by the operation.

AN OLD HOSTELRY.

About one hundred and twenty years ago, Nathaniel Freeman, then a boy, when riding on horseback to his home at Cape Neddick, York, where the Cape Neddick house now is, plucked up an elm sprig, which he used as a switch. After arriving at his farm home he set out the little sapling opposite the barn where he put up his horse, on what is now the premises of Joseph Weare, Esq. That switch has now become a big elm tree, overshadowing Mr. Weare's house, and bids fair to offer homes for the birds one hundred and twenty years longer, if undisturbed by the ruthless hand of man.

This Nathaniel Freeman, afterwards known as Deacon Freeman, died at the age of ninety years, leaving the place to his son Stephen Freeman. The latter, with his wife, who was familiarly known to Portsmouth tourists as Ma'am Freeman, was the projector of the present hotel. Stephen died at the age of sixty years; and Betsey, his widow, died in 1873, aged seventy-five years. The original farm house, now forming the rear of the hotel, was the home of Nathaniel. After the Eastern Stage company commenced running its stages between Boston and Portland, the house was gradually enlarged, as the company entertained increased, and as the financial ability of the proprietor allowed. The stable seems to have built at three different periods. Upon the premises are stored two old-fashioned swinging signs, such as used to adorn the posts in front of inns One of them bears the date of 1824, with a painting of a spread eagle. The date on the other is illegible, but upon it is painted a representation of a stage coach and six horses, very good specimens of sign painting as formerly executed in Portsmouth. Until lately there was another sign, dated 1807 The hotel has left in it a few of the Freeman relics, but generally it has been refitted and refurnished." The house was for a considerable time in charge of Melville W. Freeman, a son of Ma'am Freeman's, who died a few years since at the age of fifty-seven years. Melville and his brother Stephen married sisters, daughters of Josiah Chase, Esq., of York. Stephen removed to Vassalboro', Maine, where he still resides.

After passing out of the name of Freeman, the Cape Neddick house was for a short time in possession of Joseph Young, who some years since disposed of it to Stephen Grant, the present proprietor, who has successfully managed it, his clerk now being Stephen A. D. Grant, his son. But no house in the land, to which the public have access either limited or unlimited, from the White House down to the humblest hostelry, can be well conducted without the supervision of a suitable lady, and Mrs. Grant occupies favorably the position of landlady of the "Cape Neddick." Yet from the degeneracy or improvement of the times, as one may estimate, the old-fashioned New England dinners, consisting of baked beans, brown bread, pumpkin pies, Indian pudding, etc., of Ma'am Freeman, then so appreciated, have necessarily given place to modern viands as prepared by the present landlady.

Twenty-eight years ago, Stephen Grant, sometimes employed in Portsmouth, drove a stage from Portsmouth to Kennebunk via Cape Neddick, which latter point being easily accessible to many localities of interest, such as Mount Agamenticus, the Cliff, the beaches and coast of York, has been always more or less frequented. Like many other old drivers he naturally settled down to his present avocation.

A propos of this, the Grants of York are quite numerous, and said to have descended from a common ancestry. The frequent report in York is, that a progenitor of Ex-President Grant emigrated westward from Cider hill—a not unlikely circumstance, for York county has contributed a great many men of note, in business and politics, not only to the south eastern portion of Rockingham county, N. H., but also to many other parts of the United States. VIATOR.

It is with sorrow and deep sympathy for the afflicted parents that we record the death of the little son of Mr. Joseph R. Curtis of this city. Charlie was an unusually bright and intelligent child, and his pleasant face and winning manners won him the friendship of many who ordinarily care little for children. With the frequenters of Pocahontas point, Gerrish's island, for the past two seasons, he was a general favorite—fearlessly confiding and social, yet respectful and unobtrusive, with his elders—at one moment racing along the beach or gathering pebbly treasures, and at the next on some headland exchanging salutation with passing boatmen, or gleefully welcoming ashore parties as they landed on the point. No place seemed to have greater attractions for Charlie than Pocahontas point, and save in his own home-circle he will nowhere be more missed. He will be remembered by many who watched the political processions during the late campaign, as the little fellow who in several occasions proudly marched at the head of the "Boys in Blue," dressed in the uniform of that organization. COUGHS.—"Brown's Bronchial Troches" are used with advantage to alleviate Coughs, Sore Throat, Hoarseness and Bronchial Affections. For thirty years these Troches have been in use, with annually increasing favor. They are now and untried, but, having been tested by old and constant use for nearly an entire generation, they have attained well-merited rank among the few staple remedies of the age.

THE THROAT.—"Brown's Bronchial Troches" act directly on the organs of the voice. They have an extraordinary effect in all disorders of the Throat and Larynx, restoring a healthy tone when relaxed, either from cold or over-exertion of the voice, and produce a clear and distinct enunciation. Speakers and Singers find the Troches useful.

A COUGH, COLD, CATARRH OR SORE THROAT requires immediate attention, as neglect often times results in some incurable Lung Disease. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" will almost invariably give relief. Imitations are offered for sale, many of which are injurious. The genuine "Brown's Bronchial Troches" are sold only in boxes

SAFEST AND BEST!

FOR SALE ONLY BY

J. P. SWEETSER,

46 MARKET STREET.

Life is full of sorrows and disappointments, but the most sanguine hopes of all those who try Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, are always realized. It never disappoints. Price 25 cents.

—A physician has just discovered that drinking cider causes rheumatism. Glorious! When cider makes a fellow have trouble in walking, of course it's rheumatism. Oh, what should we do without the good physician?—All Sorts.

Remember Me.

Dr. Kennedy, of Rondout, N. Y., would have you remember that you will avoid mistakes by bearing in mind the name of his new medicine is "Favorite Remedy," the price one dollar. For the cure of urinary difficulties, kidney complaints, constipation of the bowels, and all those diseases and weaknesses peculiar to females, there is positively no medicine offered to the public at all equal to it. For sale by all druggists. The doctor's address is Rondout, N. Y.

—"You look pale, Gus," said one fashionable to another. "Yes, I am as nervous as a cat." "What's the matter?" "Well, you see, I dreamt last night I paid off all my debts, and I'm worried to death to know where I got the money from."

Your D. R. V. G. has cured me of chronic dyspepsia and other ills caused by indigestion of long standing.
Ross R. Spalding,
Wholesale Hardware, Syracuse, N. Y.
Guaranteed by all Druggists.

—A child of five was being taken to a party in a close carriage, and, while passing through a forest, he suddenly exclaimed, with great satisfaction: "Look! look! I'm going out to tea, but all the trees are going home!"

The time has been when diseases of the kidneys were considered serious affections, but fortunately all fear of any fatal results from these troubles are now dispelled by the certainty with which Day's Kidney Pad always acts.

—A little boy whose father was a rather immoderate drinker of the moderate kind, one day sprained his wrist, and his mother utilized the whiskey in her husband's bottle to bathe the little fellow's wrist with. After a while the pain began to abate, and the child surprised his mother by exclaiming, "Ma, has pa got a sprained throat?"

Chronicle Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 28th.

Not only Christmas day and New Year's day are celebrated at the Capital of the Nation, but government employes are permitted a half-holiday from the day before Christmas to the second of January. As our population is quite largely made up of officials, the season is here one of greater leisure than almost anywhere else. But little public business is transacted between the 23d of December and the 3d of January.

The two political subjects most talked of here since adjournment are these: The freshly reported tender of the state department to Senator Blaine, by President-elect Garfield, and a rumor as to the "policy" of the latter. As to this matter of "policy," the Baltimore Sun's correspondent in this city telegraphed as follows under date of the 26th:

But there are rumors as to General Garfield's intentions, both in regard to policy and patronage, which would seem to indicate a possibility that after all his administration may not be in more favor with the stalwarts, or a large portion of the stalwarts, than has been the administration of Mr. Hayes.

So far as the now general talk of Senator Blaine going into the state department is concerned, it is impossible to say anything except that all his friends in this city are positive that a choice of cabinet places has been offered him. They state their belief so positively that I am forced to believe the story has the sanction of the senator's own word.

As to the new reports concerning the course the President-elect will pursue, it is probable they are merely repetitions of what was said while Gen. Garfield was here in November. As a ball of snow acquires body by being rolled from point to point, so a suggestion, made here a month ago, has become almost a positive statement. No well informed republican in this city believes the next administration will be other than a republican administration.

The agent sent here by the Oklohama colonists will remain, he now thinks, until the re-assembling of Congress, and as long thereafter as he sees a prospect of accomplishing anything. He gets no assurances from the President or the secretary of the interior.

Secretary Ramsey is one of the few men of long experience here who have made many friends and no enemies. The reported probability of his coming again as senator gives lively satisfaction in this city. Recent reports from Maine also are to the effect that Senator Hamlin's friends will not permit him to retire in favor of Hale, Frye, or any one else. The senator refuses to talk on the subject, further than to say that he has done nothing and will do nothing to secure a re-election. In this case, too, a very large number of Washingtonians would be sorry to miss a familiar figure on their streets and in public places.

A great number of prominent democrats insist that the vote of Georgia cannot be counted. While it is true that the state law prescribes that the electors shall meet on the Wednesday following the first Monday in December, the national constitution provides that the Congress may determine the time of choosing the electors and the day on which they shall give their votes, which shall be the same throughout the United States. It is held under this clause that it is clearly unconstitutional to count the vote of Georgia. The democrats can afford to yield gracefully to the law, inasmuch as Georgia cannot effect the result. KNOX.

ILLUSTRATION.—At age 25 an annual premium of $16.91 will secure a policy for $1000, payable at death. By the same annual outlay and the ordinary methods of investment it would take 26 years, at six per cent compound interest, to save $1000.

Can any man afford to risk the chances of living twenty-six years to make a thousand dollars for his family, when he can secure the same benefit at once by taking a life insurance for this amount?

If he feels that he cannot afford to be without insurance on his house, which may never burn, can he afford to be without insurance on his life, which is sure to end sooner or later?
